LINDBERGH ON SECRET TRIP

ECONOMY PLEA FAILS TO SCATHE BUREAU FORCES

Any Material Cuts Appear Unlikely.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—Bureaucracy is still unscathed by any of the attempts so far made to bring about a radical curtailment of the expenditures, activities, and personnel of the federal government.

Whether there will be any material scaling down of the cost of the government now exceeding four billions a year is problematical. The Democratic leaders of the house are aiming at a reduction of only 200 millions and the treasury department estimates that the saving will not exceed 125 millions.

The appropriation bills so far formulated call for expenditures exceeding by more than 300 millions the estimates submitted in the President's budget.

Deadlocked on Pruning.

Only one appropriation bill—that for the department of agriculture—has been passed by both houses and it is in the hands of a conference committee which is deadlocked on even the cheese paring reductions from present expenditures written into that measure.

Subjected to intense obstructive pressure by bureau and department heads the senate appropriations committee has failed so far to evolve a plan for cutting the interior department bill and the state, justice, commerce, and labor departments bill ten per cent below the amount allowed by the house, as directed by the senate.

The bureaucracy has succeeded in staving off up to date the formulation of any program for reduction of the pay or the number of government employés who now total more than 600,000, or abolition or consolidations of bureaus, boards, and services.

Reason Is Apparent.

The reason is not far to seek. Congress is not yet sufficiently permeated with the passion for economy in a big way. Few of the responsible leaders in either house have taken a strong stand for radical retrenchment. In the senate such leaders as James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], the majority leader; Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah], chairman of the finance committee, and Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], chairman of the appropriations committee, were numbered among the opponents of the instructions to the appropriations committee to reduce the appropriations made by the house ten per cent.

In addition to Watson, Smoot, and Jones, the following senators voted against the instructions to slice 10 per cent from the house appropriations for the state, justice, commerce, and labor departments: Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.], Austin [Rep., Vt.], Barbour [Rep., N. J.], Broussard [Dem., La.], Carey [Rep., Wyo.], Dale [Rep., Vt.], Dickinson [Rep., Ia.], Fess [Rep., O.], Davis [Rep., Pa.], Frazier [radical Rep., N. D.], Hayden [Dem., Ariz.], Johnson [Rep., Cal.], Kendrick [Dem., Wyo.], McNary [Rep., Ore.], Norbeck [Rep., S. D.], Norris [radical Rep., Neb.], Nye [radical Rep., N. D.], Oddie [Rep., Nev.], Pittman [Dem., Nev.], Patterson [Rep., Mo.], Smith [Dem., S. C.], Reed [Rep., Pa.], Schall [radical Rep., Minn.], Steiwen [Rep., Ore.], Townsend [Rep., Del.], White [Rep., Me.].

Sent Back for Slashes.

This bill was sent back to the committee for the 10 per cent cut by a vote of 50 to 29. Previously the interior department bill had been returned to the committee for similar action by a vote of 40 to 25. On this vote Senators Brookhart [radical Rep., Ia.], Hale [Rep., Me.], Hastings [Rep., Del.], Thomas [Rep., Idaho], and Walsh [radical Dem., Mont.] were among the 25 opponents of the economy motion. Old-timers do not recall so signal a rebuke to an appropriations committee as was represented by these two votes.

Small as is the proposed 10 per cent cut, it will be even smaller after the conference committee adjusts the house and senate bills.

In the consideration of the appropriation bills by both houses, the same old forces that brought about a four billion dollar federal budget are still to be seen powerfully operating. There are the agricultural, commercial, and other interests seeking perpetuation of services that are tantamount to federal subsidies. There are the mendicant states begging for more federal aid appropriations, already many fold the amount of taxes these states pay into the federal treasury. There are the radicals of both parties to whom the sky is the limit of federal ex-

Police Battle Maniac; Three Slain, 3 Shot

After shooting and killing his wife and wounding a boarder in his home at 5742 South State street, a demented Negro yesterday afternoon killed a policeman and battled with fifty others who surrounded him until he also fell dead, pierced with bullets from the pistol of Detective Martin McGuire. Those killed were:

The boarder wounded was a Mexican, Sino Fernandez, 48 years old. Wash shot him in the right arm and he hid in a closet while the battle with the police was carried on.

Two Policemen Wounded.

Following the killing of the desperado, Policeman Frank Heeman of the detective bureau was unloading his shotgun when it was accidentally discharged. Pellets ricocheting from the sidewalk struck Policeman Charles McKeown in his legs and slightly wounded Policeman Joseph Thurston in the head.

Kelly and Policeman Robert Fawcett, members of a squad from the Wabash avenue station, went to the Wash flat when they were informed by radio that a man there was terrorizing other residents with a gun.

They learned from members of a crowd in front of the building, which is four stories high, that the disturber of the peace was on the top floor. Fawcett knocked at one door in the hallway and Kelly at one opposite—that of Wash.

Maniac Kills Policeman.

The Negro swung the door open and poured his fire into the body of Kelly without warning. Then he retreated behind his own door and fired through it. Fawcett, who had fired at the Negro, carried Kelly downstairs.

Reinforcements already had arrived and pressed through the crowd, which now numbered several thousand. Sergt. James Keeley, with Policemen McGuire, McKeown, and Heeman, were ready with aid. First McGuire and McKeown helped Fawcett to take the wounded Kelly to the Washington Park hospital, where he died soon afterward.

Leaving Fawcett with his partner, McGuire and McKeown returned to the fight. A number of squads, directed by Deputy Chief of Detectives Walter Storms, were by this time on the scene.

McGuire climbed to a flat in the rear of 7 West 57th place and from a kitchen there took careful aim at the crazed Negro when he stepped on to his back porch. Tear gas bombs tossed by the police had made his rooms untenable. McGuire fired three times and Wash fell dead.

Policeman Kelly, who was married and the father of one child, had been on the force for five years. His father, Lawrence, who died several years ago, was a policeman. Four of his brothers, George, William, John, and Lawrence Jr., are all members of the force.

Charges Cop's Auto Hit Man, Speeded Away

Charges that a uniformed policeman sat at the wheel of an automobile which struck a man and then sped away were being investigated last night by Sergt. Herbert Burns of the Lawndale station. The victim of the hit and run car, Michael Straka, 2715 South St. Louis avenue, is at St. Anthony's hospital and is not expected to survive.

Straka was hit at 26th street at Spaulding avenue at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The first clew as to the probable identity of the driver came when a witness, whose name is withheld, told Sergt. Burns he saw a uniformed policeman alight from a two door car, pull a police box at 26th street and Central Park avenue, and speed east in 26th street. He said the policeman's car hit Straka.

Learns Who Pulled Box.

Sergt. Burns looked up the records on that box and they showed that Policeman Patrick McGrath and Policeman Frank Kenkel had pulled the box about 2 a. m. Further inquiry showed that both men owned automobiles of the type which hit Straka.

Inspection of Kenkel's automobile showed it was covered with dirt several weeks old, and that it bore no marks in the front to indicate it had struck any one. Sergt. Burns said that this cleared Kenkel, who denied hitting Straka.

McGrath also denied being involved. He said his car was in his garage in the rear of his home at 3607 South California avenue at the time of the mishap. When Sergt. Burns visited the garage the machine was gone, and McGrath declared it had been stolen. An hour later the car was found at 36th street and Maplewood avenue. The front was damaged. Lieut. Burns said a further inquiry would be made today to determine whether or not to send McGrath before the trial board.

Boy Killed; Driver Flees.

Anton Stanula, 10 years old, 2438 South Sacramento avenue, died yesterday in St. Anthony's hospital of injuries received last Friday evening when he was struck by a hit and run motorist. A light colored roadster in which two men were riding hit him as he was crossing a street near his home.

The driver turned off his lights, to conceal his license number, and sped away. Witnesses said that there was a political banner on the rear of the car, but they were unable to tell whose name was on it.

Mrs. Anna Sorenson, 50 years old, of 1435 North Fairfield avenue, was fatally injured last night at Broadway and Glenlake avenue by an automobile driven by Dallas M. Hoffman of 708 Hinman avenue, Evanston. She died at the Edgewater hospital. Hoffman, who is sales manager for the Cudahy Packing company, said the accident was unavoidable.

FREIGHTER RAMS U. S. SUB CHASER OFF CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, Cal., April 3.—(AP)—Eagle Boat No. P. 34, navy submarine chaser, was badly damaged in a collision at 9:30 p. m. tonight with the freighter Javanese Prince six miles south of Point Vincente off the California coast.

None of the officers or crew of Eagle Boat No. 34 was injured, naval radio dispatches said.

The bow of the submarine chaser was stove in and the forward compartment filled with water.

She was taken in tow by the coast guard cutter Tamaroa just before 11 p. m., and naval radio said danger of her sinking was remote, although the weather was reported "bad" and the sea rough.

Radio communication with shore stations said damage to the Javanese Prince, which carried some passengers, was slight.

MASSIE MURDER TRIAL OPENS IN HAWAII TODAY

Feelings Run High Against Accused.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, April 3.—Preparations are complete for the opening of the Fortescue-Massie second degree murder trial tomorrow morning before Circuit Judge Charles S. Davis. The scene of the trial, which, by nature of the crime, the personalities involved and the political and social consequences, promises to take rank as a historic criminal case, is an old two story courthouse of stone flanked at the rear by a spreading banyan tree and guarded in front by the statue of Kamehameha I., first conqueror and king of the islands, a noble brown figure carrying a great spear and wearing a feather cape of beaten gold.

At the entrance way is a grove of royal palms and the scene is parklike with lawns, flowering trees and other widely spaced government buildings. Iolani palace, the house of the nobles of the sun, and the legislative hall are across the park.

Police to Guard Court.

As all Honolulu is eager to attend the trial and to avoid possible demonstrations near the jury, the police will rope off a space around the building during the trial. Parking of automobiles in front of the courthouse will be forbidden and all entrances will be closed except one.

Space has been allotted attorneys and newspaper men. The passes have been issued. The public will be admitted to a small area behind the rails. The army, navy and local bar will occupy special benches.

The first jury panel summoned was predominatingly Chinese. It is expected to take a week or more to fill the jury box, as each side has 24 peremptory challenges. An ideal jury for the defense would be an army and navy lineup, but service men are ineligible and the feelings of the rest of the population are so crystallized and have been played upon for so many months that it will be difficult to get an unprejudiced jury.

Feeling Against Defendants.

Prejudice seems to run against the defendants, Mrs. Granville B. Fortescue, American society matron; her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, naval enlisted men. It is the reverse of the situation to be expected on the mainland and a distinct change from the way the crime was regarded here at first.

The delay has worked poorly for the defense, as it has given time for effective propaganda and has so confused the issues that a group of three persons who agree is hard to find.

The trial will see a remarkable display of legal talent. Clarence Darrow, veteran Chicago criminal lawyer, comes out of years of retirement to head the defense. He will be aided by George S. Leisure of New York, former chief assistant in the United States criminal division; Lieut. L. H. C. Johnson of the navy legal department; Montgomery Winn and Frank Thompson, Honolulu lawyers.

Two Prosecuting Attorneys.

John S. Kelley, former Butte, Mont., lawyer, a University of Michigan man, a brother of Cornelius F. Kelley, president of the Anaconda Copper company, will lead the prosecution. He will be assisted by Barry Ulrich, a Harvard man, formerly a resident of Chicago and Springfield and a member of an early American family.

Darrow today said there is no racial issue in the trial. Nevertheless, the thoughts of Hawaiians, orientals and part Hawaiians are distinctly unfriendly at this time toward the navy and regard the trial as part of a deep plot to take some portion of the government away from the territory and put it under an army and navy commission.

The prosecution's side of the case is apparently simple, although no one has yet developed an adequate picture of how Joseph Kahahawai, accused of raping Thalia Massie, the naval officer's wife, came to his death in the home of Mrs. Fortescue. The defense is expected to introduce some sort of evidence of accidental killing here, with the prosecution meeting this with evidence of a prearranged plot.

Mrs. Fortescue to Testify.

A simple defense of an "honor killing" as a result of the rape has apparently been abandoned and a new motive may be presented in some act or word of Kahahawai while under the pressure of his captors. In this event Mrs. Fortescue will take the witness stand.

The prosecutors also expect Mrs.

Robs 12 Banks of $100,000 to Court Women

Donald Loftus, 30 years old, described by the police as a daring and successful lone bank bandit, calmly confessed his crimes in the detective bureau yesterday. He told of robbing 12 banks in two years and leaving behind him a trail of wives and women on whom he lavished loot of almost $100,000.

Loftus, slight, dark haired, and handsome, whose appearance and manners belie his career of crime, attributed his arrest to his fondness for women. He was captured Friday night in a Mishawaka, Ind., barber shop when the mother of Evelyn ?. Kizer, 21 years old, complained to police of his attentions to her daughter.

Posed as Wealthy Broker.

His capture was proclaimed the most important in years by R. C. Saunders, head of the crime prevention bureau of the Illinois Bankers' association. Saunders and Sergts. Timothy Dwyer, Joseph Healey, and William Balswick brought Loftus to Chicago from South Bend, where he had been posing as a wealthy eastern broker in a luxurious suite of the Mar-Main Arms Apartment hotel.

Loftus boasts of a half dozen aliases including David Loftus, George Gallagher, Donald Foreman, and Richard Hollister. Under the last name he married Miss Evelyn Neath, 11431 Yale avenue, after a summer resort romance in Michigan, Aug. 8, 1930. On Oct. 18, 1929, at Tucson, Ariz., he said he married a Catherine Maher. He also said he had a wife in California, another in Cincinnati, and added there may have been others. In South Bend he was known as George Gallagher.

Tired of Women Easily.

Loftus told Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker he robbed banks to supply himself with funds to entertain women. He tired of them easily and would move on to others, he said.

"I would walk into a bank with two guns," he said. "I would go to the cash cage, hold the employés at bay, and walk out with all I could carry. There wasn't much to it. I never went with anybody. Once at Plainfield, Ill., I got a bum to help me and gave him the price of a meal for his part. But most of the time I worked alone."

He listed among his exploits stealing $16,000 from a branch of the Bank of Italy in Los Angeles in 1929; $3,000 from another bank in that city, the name of which he could not remember; $6,000 from a branch of the Trans-American bank in Los Angeles, and $4,000 from a bank in Cincinnati.

Lists Illinois Loot.

In the Chicago area he listed $12,000 from the First National bank of Marengo on Nov. 26, 1930; $27,068 from the Algonquin State bank in McHenry county Sept. 19, 1930; $6,009 from a Plainfield, Ill., bank, July 5, 1930; $6,159 from the Bank of Dwight, Aug. 3, 1931; $1,559 from the People's Loan bank of Rochelle, Ill., Nov. 9, 1931, and $6,000 from the Citizens' State bank of Delavan, Wis., Feb. 3 last.

Loftus was identified last night in five bank holdups. Witnesses and victims in the Plainfield, Marengo, Algonquin, Rochelle and Delavan robberies viewed him in his cell at the detective bureau. Police notified Los Angeles and Cincinnati authorities of his arrest. Witnesses from the two cities are expected to come here to identify him. A legal battle is expected when various authorities try to bring Loftus to trial in their jurisdictions. Substantial rewards for his arrest may go to Mishawaka and South Bend police.

Wife to Divorce Him.

Evelyn Neath told police she will seek a divorce from him immediately. She said she met Loftus, then using the name Hollister, at Paw Paw, Mich., at a vacation resort. He swept her off her feet in a whirlwind courtship and they were married at Crys-

RETURNS HOME IN AUTOMOBILE AFTER 24 HOURS

Action on Five Fronts

Developments yesterday in the search for the kidnaped Lindbergh baby included:

1. Col. Lindbergh leaves Sourland home by automobile; returns after 24 hours.
2. Mystery seaplane with four men aboard visits Cuttyhunk island, Mass.
3. John H. Curtis, Norfolk shipbuilder, again absent from home, supposedly to continue bargaining with emissaries of kidnapers.
4. Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf, New Jersey police head, parries questions concerning whether there is hope for early return of baby.
5. Major C. H. Schoeffel of New Jersey police lands in England to follow clews in kidnaping case.

[Copyright, 1932: By the Associated Press.]

Hopewell, N. J., April 3.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, driving over an unfrequented back road, returned to his country home near midnight tonight after making a mysterious automobile trip on which he departed last night.

It was the first time he had been absent from the estate since his son was kidnaped March 1.

As the colonel approached over the Stoutsburg road, a country road which joins the main thoroughfare leading to the Lindbergh estate, he met a party of reporters.

"Who are you? The police?"

News Question Evaded.

"No," the reporter said, "We're the press. Is there anything new?"

"Thank you," responded the colonel as he drove away.

The colonel was accompanied by an unidentified man. From the fleeting glimpse of the passenger some believed him to be Col. Henry Breckenridge, the colonel's intimate friend and attorney. Others thought the man was John J. Fogarty, former New York City detective, who has been at the estate frequently since the kidnaping.

The colonel was driving a five passenger car with a convertible top. It was his personal machine. He wore a black cap with a buttoned visor and leather gloves.

Mrs. Lindbergh Also Away.

Earlier it had been learned from a reliable source that Mrs. Lindbergh also was absent from the house, but upon the colonel's return it was presumed that she had preceded him home. It was reported that Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, also went away with her daughter.

Information of Lindbergh's trip came at the close of a day of negative police bulletins, which was marked, however, by activity on the part of the Norfolk, Va., intermediaries who have sought to conduct negotions with the kidnapers.

John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk boat builder, was absent on a mission on which he embarked yesterday morning. Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, an associate, could not be found tonight at his Norfolk home. The third intermediary, the very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, termed news of Col. Lindbergh's trip "very interesting," but said he had not heard of it until press dispatches were read to him.

Inquire About Yacht.

Coincident with these developments came a story of a red amphibian plane, bearing four occupants, visiting Cuttyhunk island, Mass., in Buzzards bay. Three of the men, described as middle aged, came ashore, inhabitants said, and inquired about the whereabouts of a yacht named Sallie. The plane headed away in a westerly direction.

In connection with the absences from the Lindbergh home it also was learned that Betty Gow, nursemaid to the stolen child, made a short automobile trip during the day in company with police and Ollie Wheatley, the Lindbergh butler, and Mrs. Wheatley.

The only positive development in the police search was the arrival in England of Maj. Charles Schoeffel on a secret mission in connection with the case.

Denies Lindy Leaves Home.

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—Lieut. Walter Coughlin of the New Jersey state police declared tonight that he was authorized to deny, on behalf of the state police, that either Col. Lindbergh or Mrs. Lindbergh had left their estate at any time over the week-end, as reported by the Associated Press in a copyrighted story.

Both Col. Lindbergh and his wife were at their Sourland home as he spoke over the telephone, the police lieutenant said.

Earlier tonight Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, police head, had refused either to deny or confirm the report the kidnaped baby's parents had left their home for the first time since their child was stolen over a month ago.

"No questions regarding the doings of the Lindberghs can be answered," he declared.

Question Is Parried.

Col. Schwarzkopf parried questions concerning whether there was hope for an early return of the child.

Capt. J. J. Lamb of the New Jersey police asserted that there was "not a word of truth in the report," that Col. Lindbergh had made a flight to Massachusetts in quest of his 21 month old son. Efforts to reach the aviator and his legal advisor, Col. Henry Breckinridge, by telephone at Hopewell elicited only the information that "neither is available."

Robert H. Thayer, an associate of Col. Breckenridge, referred all inquiries about Col. Lindbergh's movements to the state police.

Residents of Hopewell pointed out, however, that it would be a simple matter for Col. Lindbergh to slip away from his estate on Sourland mountain unobserved even by the police if he chose to do so. There are five roads, only slightly worse than the one which generally is used, leading to main highways, and none of them are patrolled.

On Trail in England.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 3.—Passing all barriers like a will-o'-the-wisp, Maj. Charles H. Schoeffel of the New Jersey police is believed to have entered England tonight to follow clews in Birmingham and Glasgow on the Lindbergh kidnaping case. There is no record of his having landed at either Plymouth or Southampton, but it is understood that he was passed through by officials at Southampton among the third class passengers. Scotland Yard, it was said, expects a call from him tomorrow.

A first class passenger whose name appeared on the Mauretania's manifest as "Charles Schoepfel, aged 34, traveler," denied to newspaper men that he had any connection with the New Jersey police. Before the vessel docked at Southampton this passenger had disappeared.

Leaves Ship Unobserved.

Schoeffel had his plans well laid in conjunction with officers of the Mauretania. When his steward went to call him as the ship neared Plymouth he found the officer's cabin unoccupied.

Apart from investigations in Glasgow and Birmingham Schoeffel will inquire into a number of reports that a child bearing resemblance to the Lindbergh baby had been seen in company with an American man and woman in various parts of Scotland.

FIND FLYER DEAD FROM EXPOSURE NEAR TO SAFETY

Ash Mountain, Sequoia National Park, Cal., April 3.—(AP)—The body of Lieut. Edward D. Hoffman, army aviator missing since Feb. 1, when his plane was dashed to pieces against a Sierra peak, was found today where he had perished in deep snow.

He had battled through a blizzard for four and one-half miles to within half a mile of the main highway of the region and was within three-quarters of a mile of two well supplied cabins.

The body was discovered in four feet of snow by Fred Ogilivie, mountaineer of Lemon Cove, one of a group of searchers who started at daybreak.

LAIRD SEES U. S. WIN PLANE SPEED RECORD IN 1932

Confers with Doolittle on Plans for Flight.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., April 3.—[Special.]—E. M. "Matty" Laird, Chicago builder of racing planes, this afternoon forecast the return of the world's land plane speed record to the United States before the end of this year. Laird arrived at the national aircraft show from Chicago today to confer with Maj. James H. Doolittle and officers of the Cleveland Speed Foundation on plans for the record attempt.

Laird laid plans before Maj. Doolittle and his backers for numerous changes to be made on the Laird 400 racer in which Maj. Doolittle won the Bendix trophy transcontinental race last fall. That plane is at the show now. Powered with a supercharged Wasp Junior motor, it was capable of a top speed of 260 miles an hour last fall and a speed of 270 miles an hour with a geared propeller.

Accentuate Stream Lining.

To break the world's land plane speed record of 278 miles an hour, held by France, Laird plans to build a retractable landing gear on Maj. Doolittle's racer and to accentuate the streamlining. With those changes, he said the plane will attain a top speed of 300 miles an hour. If one of the new twin Wasp Junior double bank 14 cylinder motors is used in place of the present engine, he said a speed much higher than 300 miles an hour could be reached.

The aircraft show, which opened yesterday and will end next Sunday, attracted large crowds today. Among the noted visitors were Maj. Doolittle, Capt. Frank M. Hawks, Capt. Lewis A. Yancey, Capt. Frank Courtney, Hugh Herndon, "Pop" Cleveland, Col. Art Goebel, Charles S. [Casey] Jones, Maj. Thomas S. Lanphir, and William Brock.

Attracts Large Patronage.

The model air line running in connection with the show over a sixty mile course between five airports around Detroit has attracted large patronage, carrying 140 paid passengers on the opening day. Demonstrator planes have been busy flying prospects, and one plane sale was reported for the first day.

Prices of planes, motors and equipment have not altered materially, and even the Stinson company, which started price cutting in the industry, has not reduced prices any further at this show. Instead, the buyer gets better finishes, brighter colors and more knickknacks for the same money.

A few clear sighted men in the industry have made caustic remarks about the growing tendency of many of the manufacturers to copy almost minutely the designs of their competitors. This, they point out, indicates the industry rapidly is stagnating.

Engineering Improvement.

Bellanca has been copied by several; the British Puss Moth, the Stearman Mailwing, and Laird's Bi-planes are on view under different names.

Great engineering improvement has been effected in motors, motor accessories, propellers, and materials, the authorities say. The Autogiro has shown great improvement, displayed in a new Pitcairn type that is powered by a motor of only half the horsepower formerly needed to propel the craft. Also, four manufacturers now are licensed to make the autogiro, while there was only one last year.

"THAT DOG-GONE PHONE," A SNAPPY MYSTERY STORY!

Early yesterday morning the light on her switchboard informed an operator in the Waukegan telephone exchange that some one had lifted a receiver on a six party line in a farming district northwest of the city.

She called the number, but got no reply. Instead she heard moans. Quickly she called the county jail, where the night turnkey, John Hoban, was on duty. She connected him with the farm telephone. He, too, heard the moans.

Hoban summoned Deputy Sheriffs David Hutton, John Sweeney and John Froelich. They got into an automobile and raced into the country. Visits at five of the farms served by the party lines disclosed that nothing was amiss. The deputies hurried on to the sixth farm.

This was the Westview poultry farm, on Waukegan road, northwest of Waukegan. The telephone there is in a small office building. Peering through the window, they could see the telephone on the floor, its receiver off the hook.

Another deep moan spurred them on as they smashed the door open. They found King, a big police dog, alone in the office. He was in perfect health, and seemed glad to see them. F. O. Hutchins, owner of the farm, later explained that an attendant who customarily opens the office and lets King out at 5 a. m. was an hour late, and that the dog was probably whining for his breakfast.

tal Lake, Ind. During their married life he left on frequent long trips. Several months ago he left and did not return. She is a graduate of Fenger High school.

"I'm glad he is locked up," she said.

Loftus laughed as he told of his escape after the robbery of the Delavan bank.

"An alarm sounded as I was robbing the bank," he said. "But it seems there recently had been a false alarm when wires of the alarm crossed. So the police did not come. Instead, they sent a small boy. As I was leaving the boy asked me if there had been a robbery. I told him there had not and laughed all the way back to Chicago. But next day, when I found through the papers, I had overlooked about $13,000 I did't laugh."

Born in Green Bay.

Loftus said he was born in Green Bay, Wis., but lived most of his life in Rockford, Ill., and later at Prescott, Ariz. There he was sentenced to serve four years in the Leavenworth, Kas., penitentiary for violation of the Mann act. He also told of serving time at MacNeil's Island in Washington.

Loftus begged police not to send him back to Wisconsin to stand trial for the Delavan bank robbery. He said he preferred to get 10 years in Illinois rather than take a chance of a life term in Wisconsin.

THREE TO FACE TRIAL

Three members of a gang, who have confessed six bank robberies, are to be turned over today to Sheriff Lester Tiffany of Lake county to be prosecuted for the robbery of the State bank of Mundelein two months ago. They are Edward Bennett, Michael Yaro and Edward Halligren. Three other alleged members of the gang, Frank Faifer, Ray Sloan and Edward Kuzma, are in custody but have not been linked with the robberies.

The trio confessed they robbed the Mundelein bank twice, on April 2, 1931, and on Jan. 20, this year, taking a total of $12,915. They also took $4,250 and $28,000 in securities from the Maquon State bank on Oct. 31, $2,000 from the Ringwood State bank on Feb. 20, $6,500 from the Tazewell County National bank at Delavan, on June 5 and $13,000 from the First National bank of Mazon on Oct. 8, 1930. The gang followed a system of seizing an official of a bank in his home and forcing him to open a vault while guard was maintained over his family.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 3.—Riots began in Germany at noon today when President von Hindenburg's decree of political truce for the Easter period expired. With the final election for the presidency only a week off, Sunday, April 10, supporters of the candidates in the three cornered race opened their campaigns with a vengeance.

PAUL VON HINDENBURG.

The first fatality was reported from Kalau, near Kottbus, when a communist leader was shot and killed by a supporter of Adolf Hitler of the National Socialist [Fascist] party. Two Fascists were also wounded in the fray. Police reinforcements were sent to Kalau and a decree was issued forbidding outdoor rallies in the town.

Eight Hurt in Berlin.

Eight persons were seriously wounded in riots in Berlin. Twice policemen were forced to fire into crowds of attacking communists. Police jailed 50 communist and Fascist rioters.

Serious disorders also occurred in the northern Berlin suburbs of Wittenau, Altona, Chemnitz, and Kiel. Thirty persons were injured when mounted police charged into a melée of Fascists and Republican reichsbanner men. At Chemnitz, where the communist candidate for president, Ernst Thaelmann, spoke today, one communist and one Fascist were wounded in a gunfight. Sixty were arrested in Kiel in a clash between Fascist and members of the Republican "Iron Front."

Predict Hindenburg Victory.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, April 3.—The Easter political truce banning election campaigning expired at noon today, and on the stroke of the clock the party batteries reopened fire with a vehemence.

With only three candidates—President Paul von Hindenburg, Adolf Hitler, and Ernst Thaelmann, the communist, on the runoff ballot, as against five at the inconclusive election of March 13, in which Von Hindenburg just missed polling the required majority and a mere plurality sufficing for election next Sunday, it is a foregone conclusion that the president will remain at the head of the reich.

It was recognition of that fact that made the steel helmet Hugenberg faction to withdraw their candidate, Col. Theodor Duesterberg.

Feeling of Security Feared.

On the other hand, a feeling of security might induce many Von Hindenburg supporters to abstain from voting, and to prevent such a slip the Von Hindenburg committees and the centrist and social Democratic parties are working to get the last man to the polls.

For Hitler the objective is to muster as impressive a vote as possible, and especially to win over the 2,500,000 votes that went to Duesterberg March 13.

The National Socialist leader made a whirlwind beginning today, delivering speeches in Dresden, Leipzig, and Plauen. He spoke to crowded meetings, which, in view of the Nazi scheme of charging admission up to 50 cents and more a head, was good business itself, especially as the opponents of the Nazis contend that the maintenance of their organization costs $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 a year.

The fight in the Republican camp is more against Hitler than for Von Hindenburg, much as the former field marshal has gained in popular esteem through his unswerving devotion to the Weimar constitution.

10,000 Von Hindenburg Rallies.

The "Iron Front," the united Republican organization, which is straining every effort to check Hitler, claims to have held 10,000 meetings today and will keep up that rate throughout the week, paying special attention to the countryside.

There were big Von Hindenburg meetings today in Kassel, Hamburg, Kiel, Luebeck, Koenigsberg, Breslau, Frankfort, Dresden, and other cities. Chancellor Bruening will start his swing of the circuit tomorrow, opening in Karlsruhe and finishing in Koenigsburg on Saturday.

Former Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm's public announcement that he is for Hitler, while believed to carry little weight, is regarded in Republican quarters as a breach of a gentlemen's agreement with the late President Friedrich Ebert and the late Dr. Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister, that he would abstain from political activity as a condition of his being allowed to return to Germany from exile in Holland.

MASSIE MURDER TRIAL OPENS IN HONOLULU TODAY

Feeling Running High Against Accused.

Massie to take the stand and bring out part of the rape case. The element of delay parallels the Harry K. Thaw case and leads to the necessity for showing a reason for an emotional quirk on the part of the killer. Mrs. Fortescue's state of mind at the time of the killing is an issue.

An effort to throw doubt on Mrs. Massie's story and to discredit her is still going on and will be reflected in some phase in this trial. It now appears that Lieut. Massie himself, wearing a false mustache, was the driver of the car in which Kahahawai was kidnaped from in front of the same building in which the trial will be held. There is a suggestion of a thrill-murder in the wording of the fake warrant under which Kahahawai was lured to death.

Mrs. Anne Whitmore, the court clerk who was interviewed by Mrs. Massie concerning Kahahawai's daily appearance in the building on the day before the killing, has gone to Manila and is not expected to return. Seaman Jones was with Lieut. Massie, but where Lord came from that morning and his actions around the Massie and Fortescue homes are still unsolved.

Thirty-five witnesses will be called for the prosecution. The number of witnesses for the defense is unknown, but the trial is expected to last at least three weeks. Judge Davis, who was assigned the case after an affidavit of prejudice was filed by the defense against Judge Albert M. Christy, is a former county prosecutor here and has made a record of energy and vigilance. He came to Hawaii when he was four years old, but was educated at Cornell, Harvard, and Stanford law school.

DEMOCRATS KEPT IN OWN ARENA BY PRIVATE FIGHT

BY PARKE BROWN.

Straw votes, house to house canvasses, and other tests of public sentiment have disclosed that there will be a big increase above the normal in the Democratic primary vote this year and a corresponding decrease in the Republican vote.

This outlook is said to prevail throughout the state, but the leaders say that it has been established mathematically so far as Chicago is concerned. They say there will be a jump of 30 per cent in the Democratic vote and that the Republican total in the city will fall off 30 per cent.

Two Reasons Given.

Two causes are named for this trend. One pointed to is the fact that there is a general Democratic tendency this year because of the times. The other is the fact that for the first time in many years the Democrats have a real contest in their primary, will turn out in greater numbers than usual, and will refrain from habit that many of them had of going over into the Republican primary to help friends.

One other reason mentioned for the prospective change is that many Republican voters are dissatisfied with the situation in their own primary and feel that it is not worth while with the field of candidates so large as it is now and with little likelihood of the nomination of a candidate acceptable to them.

Votes May Be Switched.

While there has been no official ruling on the point, it is expected that the instructions to the judges of election will be that a voter may transfer his party allegiance this year if he has not voted in a major party primary since the state and county primary of 1928. This will permit of a large amount of switching, only those being barred who voted in the mayoralty primaries last year.

In those mayoralty primaries there were 635,016 Republicans and only 244,118 Democrats. The most authoritative estimates now are that the primaries one week from tomorrow will show only 425,000 Republicans and 325,000 Democrats voting in Chicago. In the governorship primaries of 1928 the records show 665,106 Republicans and only 126,349 Democrats voting.

This estimate of the amount of shifting is based on comparisons of actual tests this last week with tests made in the same spots last year and four years ago.

Hot Time in Loop This Week.

Yesterday, being Sunday, was something of an "off day" for campaign activities. Most of the candidates for the governorship spoke briefly at small meetings and, in keeping with the spirit of the day, saved their heated remarks for the windup week which will see most of them on loop theater stages at noon meetings.

Judge Henry Horner, the regular Democratic candidate, had an interesting experience in observing the efforts of rival organizations in the 14th ward trying to outdo each other in demonstrations in his behalf. One of them was arranged by Ald. Thomas J. O'Grady and the other by Judge John J. Sullivan, the latter's meeting being preceded by a street parade.

In his speeches during the day, Michael L. Igoe, another Democrat, discussed the qualifications of his two opponents, Judge Horner and Bruce Campbell of East St. Louis. He said that Campbell had had no connection with government since he was a member of the legislature thirty years ago and that there is nothing about Judge Horner's experience in the Probate court which qualifies him for the governorship.

Campbell Fights Sales Tax.

In a statement issued from his headquarters, Campbell went on record as opposed to a general sales tax and an increase in the gasoline tax. His campaign manager, Edward P. Allen of Quincy, said that in his trips downstate he has found the sentiment for Igoe is disappearing and that Igoe supporters are switching over to Campbell.

Headquarters of Omer N. Custer, Republican candidate, issued a statement by State Representative Homer K. Tice, dry leader in the general assembly, saying that the race is between Custer and Len Small, former governor who this year lost the Anti-Saloon league indorsement, formerly one of his downstate assets.

"With Small the nominee," said Tice, "Democratic victory in the fall would be a certainty. Illinois Republicans are fully aware that they will have a battle on their hands if they are to win in November. The integrity and ability of their standard bearer must be unchallenged if victory is to be theirs.

"Republicans know in the past, when Small was the party's choice for governor, he ran far behind other Republican candidates on election day. It is absolutely certain he would do so again this year. Consequently his nomination would mean almost certain defeat for the entire Republican ticket."

DRY REPEAL URGED BY N. Y. COMMERCE CHAMBER LEADERS

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—The executive committee of the chamber of commerce of the state of New York will urge the immediate modification or repeal of the eighteenth amendment to permit control of alcoholic beverages by the states, in a report to be presented at a meeting of the chamber. It is expected a motion by James S. McCulloh, chairman of the committee, to adopt the report will precipitated spirited discussion.

A ROOMING HOUSE LADY FALLS INTO A SKIN BUSINESS

Mrs. Mathilda Hagen runs a rooming house at 2938 Pine Grove avenue. Two men, who said they were brothers and furriers, and their name was Goldberg, looked at a room there Thursday and promised to return.

On Friday a man who said his name was August Petroff called on Mrs. Hagen. He said he was looking for his brother, Irving. Mrs. Hagen had no such roomer, she told him.

"That's unfortunate," said Petroff. "I wanted to give him these two sealskins, which I bought in Alaska for $1,000. I have to return to Boston. Do you want to buy them?"

Mrs. Hagen said she did not. At that moment the brothers Goldberg reappeared. They offered Petroff $400 for the two skins, but said he would have to wait a few days for the money. He refused.

One of the Goldbergs drew Mrs. Hagen aside and told her that if she would buy the skins he and his brother would purchase them from her later at a profit. She got $400 from her bank and bought the skins.

Yesterday one of her roomers, who works for a furrier, examined them. He told her they were dyed catskins. She went to the Sheffield avenue police station, where Capt. Albert Christensen sent out a call for the arrest of the Goldbergs and Petroff.

KLAN INDORSES SMALL BEHIND LOCKED DOORS

The meeting had been scheduled to be held on the eighth floor, but when the delegates, of whom twenty-two were women, arrived it was unexpectedly changed to the eighteenth floor. There was a rumor that outsiders might be able to listen in on the eighth floor.

Meet Behind Locked Doors.

Without comment the delegates silently filed into a hall on the higher floor. The chair was taken by Gail S. Carter of Springfield, grand dragon of the K. K. K. in Illinois, who spoke briefly and to the point after the doors had been securely locked.

"We are gathered," he said, "to decide on our candidate for governor. Little blue cards are now being distributed to all. You will fill out this card, stating your own name, that of your organization, and that of the candidate you favor. When this is done each person present will come forward and give me the password."

No Unauthorized Delegates.

The ceremony of identification was carried out carefully. Occupants of each row of seats marched up to the rostrum in line. No unauthorized persons, or at least none without passwords, were found, and when all had been approved as faithful Kluxers, Grand Dragon Carter spoke again.

"Books containing the name of our candidates will now be distributed," he said. "I do not wish you to comment on this information here or in the lobby or outside. You are all to separate and go to your respective homes and then read the recommendations and indorsements."

Books Printed in Advance.

No poll of the votes cast by the delegates was announced, but none questioned the name of Small in the books. The books had been printed in advance, but it is understood that the ballots were overwhelmingly in Small's favor anyhow. The attendants, who included two candidates for important state offices, filed out silently and dispersed as the grand dragon had ordered.

The Klan, which has abandoned the wearing of white robes and hoods, still has a large membership in Illinois, it is claimed. Carter is reported to handle its affairs from an office in the Tower building.

Women Open Fire Against Dry Candidates for Legislature

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The wet and dry fight became active yesterday in three of the Cook county senatorial districts. The Women's Organiation for National Prohibition Reform, which claims 80,000 members, launched a campaign against four candidates for the general assembly indorsed by the Anti-Saloon league.

The dry quartette against which the women liberals directed their opening drive is composed of Representative Josephine Perry [5th], Representative Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes [7th], Senator James J. Barbour and Benjamin H. Suhr, both of the 6th. All four are on the Legislative Voters' league lists.

In the 5th [Hyde Park] district, the women liberals issued a recommendation in behalf of Mrs. Rose K. Rolfe for the Republican nomination for state representative. In this district Miss Josephine Perry, who was one of the five Cook county house members who voted against repeal of the search and seizure act, has been given the indorsement of the Anti-Saloon league and of the Legislative Voters' league, which has urged the voters to vote for her alone, thus "plumping" three votes for her.

Mrs. Rolfe for Repeal.

The report of the Women's Organiation for National Prohibition Reform says: "Mrs. Rolfe is emphatically for the repeal of the prohibition laws as demanded by the referendum vote of the people of Illinois with no pussyfooting about her intentions."

In the 7th district, a shoestring which runs around Chicago and ties up most of the country towns of Cook county the women's organization announced that they recommend Theodore F. Reinhardt of Flossmoor, a Legionnaire and a member of the village board, who has been indorsed by the Crusaders. The announcement from the women's organization said: "Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes, a dry, one of the five Cook county house members who voted against repeal of the state search and seizure act, is running against Mr. Reinhardt."

Mrs. Ickes is indorsed by both the Anti-Saloon league and the Legislative Voters league, the latter of which is urging that three votes be plumped for her on account of her "valuable public service" on important measures "which she successfully sponsored."

Knox Against Barbour.

In the Sixth district the women's liberal organization recommends William G. Knox for the Republican nomination against Senator James J. Barbour. "Mr. Knox," says the report, "was picked from a field of four liberals as the one with the strongest prospects of organization support. Mr. Knox is running against Senator Barbour of Evanston, dry leader."

The Crusaders recommended Mr. Knox last week. Senator Barbour is recommended by the Anti-Saloon league and the Legislative Voters league, the latter of which says: "He has served four terms with excellent record."

For the house in the 6th district the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform says in its report issued last night:

"Mrs. Vera Ulrey Clark is highly recommended for representative. Mrs. Clark has long been active in women's club work in Rogers Park and various civic interests, and is unequivocably for repeal of the prohibition laws."

In this district Ralph Church retired from the house race to run for congress in the 10th. The Anti-Saloon league has recommended Benjamin H. Suhr of Evanston, former county surveyor, who is listed as "good material" by the L. V. L.

FEINBERG TRYING TO COVER TRACKS, SWANSON SAYS

Charges Receiver Fees Aid Judge in Campaign.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson last night reopened his attack on Judge Michael Feinberg, one of his opponents in the April 12 primary, and upon Robert E. Crowe, Judge Feinberg's political sponsor and campaign manager.

In a statement reiterating much of the criticism of Judge Feinberg which he presented to the Chicago Bar association last week he again included Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski and four masters in chancery said to be allied with Crowe—George E. Gorman, Archie H. Cohen, William R. Swissler and Harold L. Levy.

Replying to Judge Feinberg's statement that only a small number of his cases had been pointed out in the complaint to the Bar association, Swanson said he had listed approximately a thousand cases that "mean over $1,000,000 in fees from poor bondholders and depositors."

Charges Fees Aid Campaign.

The prosecutor charged that the recipients of these fees are helping to finance Judge Feinberg's campaign, the funds of which, he said, are being handled by Crowe.

In opening his statement, Mr. Swanson said that in his appeal to the Bar association he had stated that the files of many cases were not available and that there were hundreds of cases which had not been examined.

"No one knows," he said, "what the balance of the cases will disclose."

Then he enumerated by groups "almost a thousand cases that Judges Feinberg and Klarkowski assigned to friends and relatives and to Bob Crowe's friends and relatives" and went on to comment on the attitude of the two judges toward the investigation he asked.

"Another chancellor of the Circuit court," said Swanson, "invited an investigation of all the cases pending before him. Did Klarkowski welcome an investigation? He said he had no comment to make. Did Feinberg state to the press or in his reply that he welcomes an investigation and is prepared to coöperate? Apparently they are not anxious to be investigated. Messrs. Crowe, Gorman and Savage [Joseph P.] also had no comments to offer.

"Covering Up Tracks."

"Judge Feinberg said he also had appointed as attorneys for receivers a former president of the Chicago Bar association and several other very prominent attorneys, that he also referred cases to other masters besides Masters Gorman, Cohen, Swissler and Levy. Certainly that is true. He appointed these reputable lawyers and masters to cover up his tracks so that he could use their names as a shield in the event of an investigation.

This he did rather gracefully, but did he mention one single lawyer to whom he gave $25,000 in one fee for a period of one year other than his nephew, Isadore Goldstein? Did he mention one other master who received $70,000 in twelve cases from himself and Judge Klarkowski?

"Judge Feinberg also mentioned the names of judges who appointed George Gorman and Archie Cohen as their masters. He said nothing about the appointments of Masters Swissler and Levy. Is not Swissler Feinberg's master and is not Levy Klarkowski's master?

"I charge again that Masters Gorman, Cohen, Swissler and Levy are pawns of Bob Crowe and part and parcel of his political machine, sponsored by him.

Says Crowe Handles Funds.

"I charge now that from these fees the Goldsteins and the Cohens and the O'Connells and the Campes and the Swisslers and the Levys are helping to finance Judge Feinberg's campaign. I charge also that Bob Crowe is handling the campaign funds.

"Why doesn't Judge Feinberg talk about the cases where he was the judge, Crowe's office the solicitors for the complainant, Cyrus Campe, Savage's brother-in-law, the receiver, and Bob O'Connell, Crowe's nephew, the attorney for the receiver?

"What chance did the poor bondholders or the owners of the equity have in that case against the wrecking crew?

"Why doesn't he discuss the case where Gerald Gorman, the son, was the attorney for the receiver and his father was the master? Why doesn't he explain why he and Klarkowski referred all the closed banks to these four masters?

"Isn't it a fact that his nephew, Isadore Goldstein, has always been a police court lawyer and couldn't earn $25,000 in five years from all the cases he handled?"

In a closing paragraph State's Attorney Swanson again referred to Judge Feinberg's "making a political headquarters" of his courtroom.

"Judge Feinberg stated," he said, "that other judges who were candidates for state's attorney didn't resign during their campaigns. But neither the other judges nor myself held court during our respective campaigns, sending people to jail and making a political headquarters out of our courtrooms, crowded with newspaper reporters, clerks, messengers, ward heelers, and precinct captains.

"This is a travesty on justice. Other judges running for office have taken leaves of absence, but not Judge Feinberg. He must remain 'in touch' with the poor depositors whom he is bleeding with one hand and 'protecting' by his campaign speeches."

Four Face Court

The trial of four men charged with the kidnaping of Dr. Max Gecht and his wife, Georgia, is to begin this morning before Judge John Prystalski in the Criminal court. The Gechts were held prisoners in a cottage in Palos Park until $1,856 ransom was paid. The kidnapers were captured by Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, when one of them made a date with Mrs. Gecht. ASK CARLSTROM QUIZ INTO WEST PARK PAY ROLLS

Voters Urge Brundage as Man to Lead Inquiry.

A demand for a third investigation bobbed up last night out of the welter of charges and counter charges that have marked the progress of the Republican primary campaign in Cook county. The new demand was made by 37th ward supporters of Edward J. Brundage, Republican candidate for governor, who said they would petition Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, also a candidate, to appoint Mr. Brundage a special assistant attorney general to investigate charges of pay roll padding in the west park system.

The pay roll padding charges have been made by Mr. Brundage himself during the campaign. The west park system is under the control of Gov. Emmerson, whose candidate for the Republican nomination for governor is Omer N. Custer.

Special Jury Plea Today.

Announcement of the request for the pay roll investigation followed by a day the notice given by Attorney Rush C. Butler that he would appear before Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg this morning and request the impaneling of a special grand jury and the appointment of a special prosecutor to investigate "fraudulent registrations" in the 42d ward and charges that Capone gangsters plan to "steal the election."

It followed by two days the request of State's Attorney John A. Swanson that the Chicago Bar association investigate the appointments of receivers and receivers' attorneys by Judge Feinberg, his opponent for the Republican nomination for state's attorney, and also by Judge Stanley Klarkowski. Mr. Swanson charged that law partners and other associates of Robert E. Crowe, political sponsor of Feinberg, have been the beneficiaries of the receivership appointments.

Seeks West Park Quiz.

The communication from 37th ward voters to Mr. Brundage asked him to indicate whether he would accept appointment to investigate the west park pay rolls if Attorney General Carlstrom offered it to him. It said:

"We commend you for your courageous exposure of pay roll padding which has resulted in the closing of 24 playgrounds and recreation centers by the present administration of the west park board. In consequence of this so-called economy measure by the commissioners children entitled to directed play and healthful recreation have been denied the privileges for which their parents pay taxes."

Mr. Brundage did not indicate whether he would accept. He issued a new statement saying that W. R. James, president of the west park board, had made a feeble reply to his charges. He amplified those charges by declaring that the pay roll for the last half of March was at least $20,000 too high. He commented on James' reply to his demand for an explanation of $40,000 spent from James' contingent fund, and concluded:

"Mr. James may object to my interest in his withdrawals from park funds on the ground that I am not a resident of the district. My answer is that neither is he a resident of the district."

Jury Plea Stirs Argument.

The petition for a special grand jury will be presented by Attorney Butler in behalf of Richard Prendergast, candidate for Republican committeeman in the 42d ward, who has charged that his opponent, Assistant State's Attorney Harry Busch, has Capone backing. Butler is chairman of the committee sponsoring Brundage's gubernatorial campaign, but he said he had not consulted Mr. Brundage about the jury petition.

It is expected the petition will start a legal controversy. Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher of the Criminal court said the practice has been for such petitions to be referred to his office.

A circuit judge has the right to appoint a special grand jury, but his right to appoint a special prosecutor is questionable, Judge Fisher said. It was explained that under the so called Crowe law the attorney general must be called in when for any reason the state's attorney is disqualified to act in any prosecution and only when the attorney general is disqualified can an outside attorney be appointed. Judge Fisher said there is some question of the validity of the Crowe law.

Carlstrom "Not Interested."

At Attorney General Carlstrom's office yesterday it was said he is not interested in having a pre-primary special grand jury. Carlstrom is said to be keeping out of the Cook county fight.

Attorney Butler declared that under present circumstances a special grand jury would be a preventative of vote frauds and violence. The slaying of Nicholas Testa, a 25th ward precinct worker, on Friday night was cited as evidence of the bitterness of the primary contest.

Two thousand residents of the 25th ward at a meeting in the Crane Technical High school yesterday pledged themselves to seek evidence of political terrorism for presentation to a special grand jury if one is impaneled. At the meeting Joseph P. Savage, school trustee, offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of the Testa killers.

AUTO GAS KILLS SALESMAN.

Irving Friedman, 22 years old, 3521 Argyle street, a salesman, was found asphyxiated by carbon monoxide gas from the exhaust of his automobile in a private garage at 5025 North Central Park avenue yesterday.

FRIENDS CERTAIN ROOSEVELT WILL GET NOMINATION

Feel Confident of Early Victory.

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—The group managing the campaign of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Democratic nomination for president has become convinced, as the result of a series of victories last week, that his nomination at the Democratic National Convention is virtually assured. It is felt that he has in sight not only a majority of the 1,154 delegates, but the two thirds necessary to nominate. They confidently expect his nomination either on the first ballot or on the second, quite possibly on the first ballot by changes in the votes of several states after the roll call and before the result is announced.

Gov. Roosevelt now has 129 delegates definitely pledged or instructed for him. In addition, the inner group of his campaign managers, including James A. Farley, Democratic state chairman; Louis Howe, his personal secretary; Homer S. Cummings, of Connecticut, former national chairman, and a dozen United States senators believe he is certain of 600 more votes from delegates yet to be elected.

Claim 701 Votes.

A tabulation prepared from reports to Roosevelt headquarters from every state and territory gives Gov. Roosevelt, in addition to the 129 votes he already has, 701 votes, which is the minimum expected. In making this tabulation, the 44 votes of California, where there is a three cornered contest between Gov. Roosevelt, Speaker John N. Garner, and former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, have not been placed in the Roosevelt column, although his backers believe he will win the preferential primary and obtain the entire vote of the state, which will go undivided to the primary winner under the state law. The tabulation gives Roosevelt 50 out of the 94 votes of New York on the assumption that this will be the least he will get with Tammany and its leader, John F. Curry, opposing Roosevelt, which the Roosevelt supporters do not expect to happen. As a matter of fact the Roosevelt managers expect Roosevelt to get virtually all of New York's 94 votes.

Have Nomination Figured.

According to a tabulation prepared from information obtained from Roosevelt supporters, his campaign managers expect him to get a minimum of 572 first ballot votes in addition to the 129 he already has. This would give him a total first ballot strength of 701, or 69 less than the 770 needed to nominate him under the two-third rule.

The votes to carry him over two-thirds, according to the calculations of the Roosevelt managers, can be obtained on the second ballot by getting 32 out of 34 from Missouri, which will vote for former Senator James A. Reed on the first ballot; 30 out of the 58 from Illinois, which will cast a complimentary vote for Senator James Hamilton Lewis, and 24 votes from Virginia, which is expected to switch from former Gov. Harry F. Byrd, a favorite son candidate who is regarded as friendly to Roosevelt.

SLAIN IN HOME

MRS. SOPHIE KURK.

WIDOW, 86, BEATEN TO DEATH; POLICE SEEK A PROWLER

Mrs. Sophie Kurk, an 86 year old widow, was brutally beaten to death, supposedly by a prowler, as she lay in bed in her small flat in the rear of 2148 West Jackson boulevard late yesterday. She lay unconscious for several hours before being found, dying just as she reached the county hospital.

Robbery doubtless was the motive, Sergt. James Bradwell of the Warren avenue station said, although Fred Kurk, 50 years old, a son, who lived with Mrs. Kurk, declared that there was no money or anything else of definite value in the flat to tempt thieves.

An open window indicated how the murderer entered, and an open door showed how he departed. Police believe that Mrs. Kurk's screams may have infuriated him. Last night when the son, who is a railroad employé, returned home he found the door locked. Alarmed by the lack of a response, he broke the door open and discovered his mother unconscious.

THIS CANDIDATE SO WET HE PUTS WET IN HIS NAME

Dallas, Tex., April 3.—[Special.]—One candidate for congress in Texas is thoroughly wet, so wet on the prohibition issue that he went into court and had his name changed so that one of his initials was made to stand for the word "wet."

This is Walter J. Wet Reid, candidate for congress from the Fifth district, now represented by Hatton W. Sumners.

Mr. Reid has participated in Texas local politics for years and has always been aligned with the wet forces. He is something of a firebrand and fisticuffs have been credited to him in warm municipal contests in which he was not a candidate.

Some weeks ago Mr. Reid filed his name with the Dallas county Democratic organization as a candidate for the nomination for congress. He has been known as Walter J. W. Reid and wanted his name to appear on the ballot as Walter J. Wet Reid.

Thereupon Mr. Reid went to law, petitioning the District court to change his name so that the second initial, "W," would stand for all time "Wet." He requested that the juridicial sanction of the sovereign state of Texas be given to the name of Walter Jackson Wet Reid. After a hearing, Judge Robert B. Allen granted the plea.

CERMAK ASSAILS IGOE AS 'RULE OR RUIN' CANDIDATE

Mayor Recalls Defeats of Horner's Rival.

Mayor Cermak charged yesterday that Michael L. Igoe, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, is attempting to wreck the party because of the denial of his ambitions.

This, the mayor said, was his reply to Igoe's repeated attacks in which he asserted that he was refused the indorsement of the organization because of the "Cermak dictatorship." The mayor spoke at two meetings, one at Clearing hall, 5658 West 63d street, and the other at Paradise hall, 5143 Damen avenue.

A Political Fortune Hunter.

"A certain political fortune hunter," he said, "who for more than twenty years has been continuously enjoying favors from the Democratic party, has developed such an appetite for power and personal gain that nothing can satisfy it.

"At one and the same time he is national committeeman, legislator, south park commissioner, auditor of the south park board and ward committeeman. But that's not enough for him, so he's running for governor.

"He knows he can't be elected. Each time he ran in a contested election he was beaten miserably, one time by 200,000 and the other time by approximately 300,000. He never had and never will have the confidence of the rank and file of the Democratic party.

"The truth is that he is not running for governor. He is fighting to destroy the harmony of our party. Not being able to rule it, he seeks to ruin it. Observe the character of his campaign. He is not attacking Judge Horner, who is running for governor. He admits Judge Horner is a great public official. His mud-slinging is aimed at me.

Single Out for Attack.

"Why should I have been singled out for attack? He finds no fault with my work as mayor. If I had followed the example of my predecessor, if I had wasted and squandered the city's money, then there would have been some reason for making me the issue.

"But this perpetual office seeker knows only too well how I am struggling to save this city from the tragic position in which a Republican mayor left it. He knows what superhuman efforts it requires to get sufficient credit to pay the teachers, the policemen, the firemen, because he himself is largely responsible for the difficulties in the way.

"I am singled out for his attack because he cannot bear to have any one else enjoy the confidence of our party which he has forfeited by his actions and his words. But even against me he has raised no true issue."

In speaking of the "good company" in which he finds himself in supporting Judge Horner, Mayor Cermak listed a number of well known Democrats who are with the candidate. Among them he mentioned Carter H. Harrison, Edward F. Dunne, Col. A. A. Sprague, Francis X. Busch, Judge John P. McGoorty, and Judge Denis E. Sullivan.

WOMEN ROBBED OF COATS.

Mrs. Bessie Stearns and Mrs. Esther Kinselbaum, both of 3838 Broadway, were robbed of their mink coats by two armed bandits at Welton street and California avenue, while they were waiting for a street car late Saturday.

HIGHWAY COP IS FIRED; SAYS: "I WASN'T FOR IGOE"

James F. Fleming, 4358 Lake Park avenue, a county highway policeman for the last four years, was dismissed yesterday. He charged that he lost his job because he refused to support Michael L. Igoe for governor.

JAMES F. FLEMING.

"About thirty of us were called down to the sheriff's office last week," said Fleming. "I was called into Sheriff Meyering's private office. He was sitting there with a man in glasses, who I understand is an Igoe campaign manager. Sheriff Meyering asked me if I was going to go along with Igoe.

"I told him that I was an organization man, and would do what I was told to do by my ward committeeman, Joseph P. Geary. He said, 'I understand that you are a good policeman, but that won't help you any now. You can expect something any day now.' I asked what he meant. He said, 'This is a hot fight, and if you don't go along with Igoe you will be fired.'"

Fleming was informed of his dismissal yesterday.

A number of Homewood business men announced last night that they would protest Fleming's dismissal. Among his more important arrests were those of Frank Worthman, now serving a 14 year sentence for murder; Willing Westling, robber, also in prison, and Wilbur Testard, alleged gangster.

AMERICA READY TO GO THE LIMIT IN ARMS PARLEY

Stimson to Offer to Abolish Anything.

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—A detailed program outlining just what the United States is prepared to do in the way of limiting armaments will be laid before the league of nations arms conference shortly after Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson reaches Geneva, it was learned today.

Officials of the state department and the American delegation at Geneva have been cooperating in working out the details of the plan during the last two weeks. The final touches will be given the program immediately after Secretary Stimson and Norman Davis, one of the American delegates, arrive in Geneva around April 15.

While the program will be largely a detailed amplification of the nine suggestions made by Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium and acting chairman of the American delegation, in an address before the conference Feb. 9, there were the strongest indications today that the United States is now prepared to make additional concessions in a attempt to pull the parley out of the doldrums.

Ready to Abolish Anything.

In one of the highest quarter it was said today that the United States, in addition to suggesting a detailed land armaments limitation plan, will inform the conference delegates that this country now stands prepared to abolish any land weapon of war if other countries agree to take the same step. It was learned that the war department now takes the position that it is ready to abolish tanks, toxic gas, big mobile guns (above six inches in caliber), and even the infantry or artillery brances, if other powers are prepared to go that far.

The war department's position is that it is ready to go as far as any other nation in the way of land disarmament. The department is understood, however, to oppose limiting the use of aviation and tanks to certain war functions. It is also opposed to the adoption of any form of budgetry limitation of armaments.

Just how far the navy department is prepared to go in reducing sea weapons has not been made clear. It is known that the highest officials of the department have approved a plan for abolishing submarines, but have stipulated this approval is conditioned on all other powers taking the same step. The navy is opposed to any further reduction in aircraft carriers, because these boats furnish the fleet with its only means of utilizing air in force in the Asiatic.

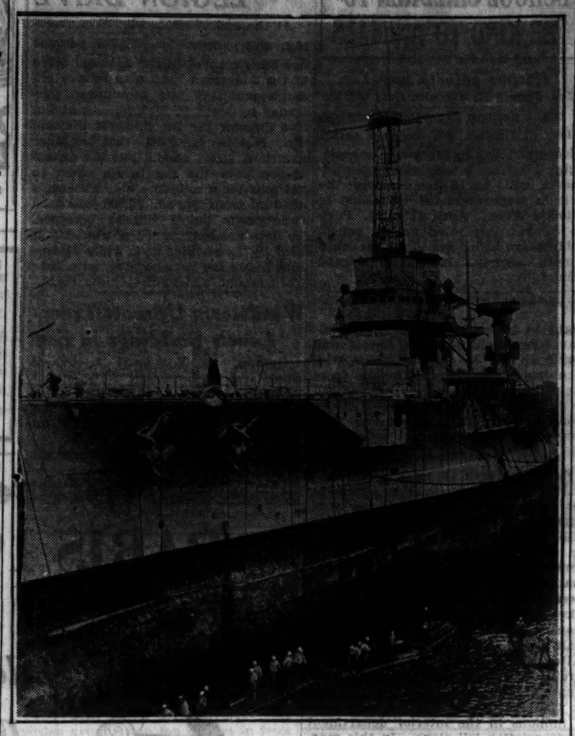
Will Center On Offensive.

American officials, on the reconvening of the Geneva conference April 11, will center their attack against the so-called offensive weapons. An attempt will be made to persuade the powers to limit the sizes of tanks, and their numbers. Renewed efforts will be made to have toxic gasses outlawed as legal war weapons. Efforts also are to be made to have submarines abolished and the number of large mobile guns maintained by each power limited.

The move to abolish submarines has met with great opposition from Japan and France. Japan has stated she is prepared to consider the total abolition of aircraft carriers. She also favors abolishing air bombardment. France also would curtail aerial bombing. The United States and Great Britain have been leading the fight for abolishing submarines.

One suggestion discussed at Washington is that of abolishing both bombardment aviation and submarines. The powers favoring submarines would give up their underseas craft in exchange for abandonment of bombing aviation. This plan has not been approved by American naval experts.

WILL BE TARGET FOR FLEET



The U. S. S. Utah, demilitarized under the London naval treaty, in Norfolk navy yard, where it is being fitted with radio and electrical equipment for use as target of fleet. The controlling apparatus will be on a destroyer, which will be able to move the Utah into any position desired. [Acme Photo.]

'BIG 4' TO HOLD EUROPEAN CRISIS CLINIC IN LONDON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 3.—Four powers—Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy—will sit as a clinic on a troubled Europe here next Wednesday.

This announcement was made by Prime Minister MacDonald tonight after a preliminary conversation with Premier Tardieu of France, at which it was agreed to extend the four-power conference on the Danube crisis to cover the entire range of the European crisis, including disarmament, debts and reparations.

The conversations were originally proposed by Mr. MacDonald to grapple with the financial crisis affecting the five Danubian states—Austria, Hungary, Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia, and Rumania. But after his talk with Tardieu, the British prime minister said the Wednesday discussions would include the disarmament situation at Geneva and the approaching Lausanne conference on reparations.

Seekers of Good Will.

"We are just trying to be helpful, and if any one at home or abroad are anxious to be mischievous, let them declare themselves openly that they are opposed to the practical steps that are being taken to secure and maintain the peace and well being of Europe," MacDonald said. "The British government's intention is sincere and disinterested in getting the maximum amount of good will and international coöperation brought to bear on the solution of the problems before us.

"One country cannot do it. Even two countries cannot do it. The policy which we are working out is a policy of coöperation with everybody who is aiming at peace."

Lest some European countries become suspicious regarding the meeting of the two premiers, they jointly declared:

"There are no agreements beforehand. There are no drafts of proposals before hand. We want an agreement which will be consistent with the interest and well being of each nation, and that alone is the purpose of those of us who have been promoting the conference."

Hint at Private Agreement.

It was openly admitted, however, that Tardieu will urge upon MacDonald the expediency of a preliminary agreement, or at least an understanding, between Paris and London on all important international issues in advance of their more general discussion with the other powers, whether in conference or otherwise.

The two premiers will start their conversations tomorrow at MacDonald's official residence at 10 Downing street. The Danubian situation will be the first topic of the survey of an ailing Europe.

In an interview with the press tonight, Tardieu said:

"France is willing to extend the conversations to include everything that is now troubling Europe. Is there indeed today a singue question which is not European, or even universal? The duty of the governments is to deal with each one of the problems from the point of view of solidarity. Great Britain and France are bound by a common responsibility, moral as well as political. We have both in the past accomplished more difficult tasks."

Why France Is Sitting In.

Tardieu gave these as the reasons for accepting "so willingly the invitation" extended by MacDonald a month ago—a statement attributed in some quarters as a move to include the British in a Balkan scheme to wreck Germany's ambition for a union with Austria.

The German and Italian delegations to the four power conference are expected to arrive in London on Tuesday. The conference is expected to be a brief one, lasting until Friday at the latest.

Premier Tardieu and French Finance Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin and their party arrived at Victoria station at 4 p. m. in a drizzling rain. They were welcomed by MacDonald and Sir John Simon, foreign secretary.

Tardieu tonight was guest of honor at a banquet at the French embassy. Others who attended included Sir John Simon, Stanley Baldwin, president of the council; Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, and Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic adviser of the British government, and all of the Tardieu party.

RUSSIA CLOSES BIG AUTO PLANT; TOO MANY BOSSES

$119,000,000 Factory to Be Reorganized.

MOSCOW, April 3.—(AP)—The wheels of the $119,000,000 automobile plant at Nizhni-Novgorod—Soviet Russia's challenge to Detroit—have stopped barely three months after they began to hum.

This was admitted today by the executive committee of the communist party in a proclamation demanding drastic reforms in leadership so production may be resumed by April 15.

The giant project was set in motion Jan. 1 with the ultimate idea of putting every Russian behind a steering wheel, and it came to grief because there were "too many fingers in the pie."

Demands Immediate Reforms.

Today's proclamation minced no words in insisting that matters be set aright with speed.

The secretary of the regional party committee at Nizhni-Novgorod was ordered dismissed. The plant's foundry and assemgly captains were ordered discharged.

The regional party committee was told to establish immediately personal responsibility for operation of the project in one directing head. The committee was also instructed to reorganize the plant's party structure so as to improve leadersip in the shortest possible time. Resumption of operation in time to complete the program for the first six months of 1932 on schedule was demanded.

Powers of Boss Limited.

At present there is a nominal manager, but, as is usually the case under the soviet system, his authority is strictly limited. He is subject to decisions of the factory communist party cell and the factory committee, the latter of which is composed of workers.

A contributing factor was called "anti-specialist tendencies," which means that there is discrimination against technicians of both the old and new orders of Russia. "Persecution of administration and technicians" also was cited, but was not explained.

The Nizhni-Novgorod plant was erected by American engineers [the Austin company of Cleveland] to turn out Ford cars, and was hailed in opening ceremonies as the largest of its kind in Europe.

Build City Around Factory.

The project occupies 300,000 square yards, and around it is being built a new city some fourteen miles away from the old Nizhni-Novgorod, which formerly had a population of 150,000 and is 265 miles northeast of Moscow on the Volga. The old Nizhni-Novgorod was one of the famous market places of Eurasia, and its fairs were once the most famous in Europe.

The production schedule for the first quarter was concentrated on the manufacture of necessary factory instruments, and contemplated an output of only 700 automobiles. Beginning April 1, the factory was expected to step up production until it reached a scale commensurate with its capacity of 144,000 machines annually, 94,000 of which were to be trucks.

The automobiles were to be made under an arrangement with Henry Ford which permitted the use of his patents in exchange for orders for a large number of American cars.

PARK DISTRICTS DEFEND LEVYING OF DEFICIT TAX

Attorney Replies to Sargent Letter.

Commissioners of five small park districts on the northwest side yesterday referred to their attorneys the question raised by Fred W. Sargent, chairman of the citizens' committee on public expenditures, regarding the legality of the so-called deficit tax they levy. In an open letter to taxpayers of the park districts on Saturday Mr. Sargent advised them to ask their park boards why they persist in levying the tax, and to ask the county clerk why he extends it.

The park districts are the Irving park, Old Portage park, Jefferson park, Northwest park, and Sauganash park. Attorney T. B. McGrath Jr., who represents the first three, said the Illinois Supreme court has given opinions under which he and the park commissioners construe the tax to be legal.

McGrath Explains Tax.

"What Mr. Sargent referred to as the deficit tax is the loss and cost tax," Attorney McGrath explained. "For instance, when one of the parks needs $100,000 to meet a bond or interest payment it needs exactly that much but it is certain there will be a loss of 10 to 15 per cent in the collection of the levy. So an additional levy is made to get the amount estimated as loss on the original levy.

"The Supreme court has ruled that such additional levies are legal. It is true that certain taxpayers, railroads included, have refused to pay the additional levy. If every taxpayer in a park district would refuse to pay this tax the amount not paid would be comparatively small, but as there are only a few objectors the unpaid amount is negligible.

"Passed by Bond Experts."

"The firm of Chapman and Cutler, which passes on the legality of bond issues, has found no fault with the levying of this tax. The law firm of Brundage, Landon and Holt represents the objectors. So far their claims have not been passed upon by the Supreme court because we didn't feel the amount involved was worth while getting a specific test before the high court."

County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer said the question of the legality of the deficit tax had never been mentioned to him. He has never heard of any taxpayers refusing to pay this particular tax, he said.

Crowd at Ceremony

A bronze tablet, dedicated to the memory of Charles V. Barrett, former member of the board of review and Republican leader, was unveiled yesterday in Harrison park, 18th and Wood streets. Mr. Barrett died Dec. 31. The tablet was presented by Frank M. Kalteux, president of the Charles V. Barrett Athletic club, and accepted by W. R. James, president of the west park board. Addresses were made by Mayor Cermak, David E. Shanahan, speaker of the state house of representatives, Superior Judge Walter P. Steffen, Municipal Judge Samuel Heller and Attorney Theodore J. Szmergalski.

Slasher Bandit Robs Woman in Auto of $147

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, April 3.—On nearly every election billboard in France there are portraits of Raymond Poincaré, who saved France six short years ago from financial disaster and built up her resources so strongly that better than almost any other country she has been able to weather the storm of depression. Below the portrait is a quotation from one of his speeches, warning electors against disunion and selfishness of interest "for the sake of France." It will be in his name, though under the leadership of Andre Tardieu, that the fight against radicals and Socialists will be waged in the next month.

Meanwhile, the man who guided France through the war and then the post-war crisis, is living an invalid's life in a situation not far removed from poverty. By oversight in the rush of closing parliament Friday a bill designed to relieve him of anxiety for the future got lost in passage between the chamber of deputies and the senate and the pension was not voted.

So, crippled and ill, he is writing a personal history of the war years and newspaper and magazine articles as well, to maintain his modest home in Alsace. M. Poincaré went to the presidency at the height of his ability as a lawyer and left it in his declining years. War charities cost him much that he had saved and his efforts that saved France's financial structure cost him all but a fifth of what he had left. Now his house at Sampigny is virtually all he posesses and partial paralysis has limited his capabilities.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME.

John Wallace, 57 years old, a salesman, was found dead in the bathroom of his home at 321 North Central avenue yesterday by his wife, Mary. Police believed he had been stricken with a heart attack.

ECONOMY PLEA FAILS TO SCATHE BUREAU FORCES

Any Material Reductions Appear Unlikely.

penditures and of the resultant taxation by means of which they would effect the redistribution of wealth.

Both Senator Jones, chairman of the appropriations committee, and Senator Smoot, chairman of the subcommittee on the interior department bill, evinced a disposition to justify increases in items by citing the testimony of bureau and department heads that the proposed reductions would be detrimental to the interests of the government.

"If we accept the conclusions and representations of the heads of departments as to the amounts required for the services they represent," said Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], "we will never be able to reduce the cost of government."

Mr. Smoot defended the proposed increase, for example, of $25,000 over the current $382,000 appropriation for teaching the Indians scientific farming methods. Senator Burton K. Wheeler [radical Dem., Mont.] supported the proposal, although he conceded that the instructors were a "lot of unnecessary employés" and that "there is more waste of money in the Indian bureau than in almost any other bureau in the city of Washington." Senator Wheeler said: "The bureau itself cannot show where the farmers have been teaching the Indians how to farm."

Indians Live In "Beggary."

"The Indian bureau," said Senator Wheeler, "employs publicity agents to write magazine articles to tell the people of the country about what they are doing for the Indians, but when one goes to the Indian reservations and sees the way those Indians are living, in poverty and in beggary, and then sees how the employés are riding around in high class automobiles, and from their efforts the Indians are getting no benefit, it just makes one's blood curdle to think that we are appropriating hundreds of thousands of dollars—in fact, millions of dollars—to maintain a bureau from which the Indians are getting no benefit."

Mr. Wheeler thought the Indians might be better off if the Indian bureau were abolished. Mr. Smoot was horrified. He wanted to know who then would protect the Indian from the rapacious white man. Mr. Wheeler thought he could not possibly be more despoiled than at present. The increase was allowed.

Wins Road Fund Increase.

Senator Walsh [Mont.] procured a $1,500,000 increase in the allotment for the construction of highway approaches to national parks. He also obtained the reappropriation of an unexpended balance of $25,000 for construction of the Sun river reclamation project that otherwise would revert to the treasury. Senator Smoot likewise got through a reappropriation of an unexpended balance of the Salt Lake basin construction fund. Altogether, unexpended balances of previous appropriations that were reappropriated instead of being returned to the treasury aggregated more than 3 millions in the interior department appropriation bill alone. In this manner congress, which abhors an unexpended balance as nature abhors a vacuum, is accustomed to approve under another name what are actually increases in expenditures.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, supporting the McKellar motion for a 10 per cent horizontal cut of the interior department appropriation as passed by the house, said it is evident that the vastly increased cort of the federal government in re ent years is the result of a yielding "to entreaties and demands for the broadening of the sphere of federal activities and for the intensification of federal efforts." Such appeals continue to fill the mail of senators, he added, along with demands for economy.

Structure May "Crumble."

"It may be," he went on, "that we will go on seeking new sources of revenue and raising existing tax levies until the burden will become so oppressive that the whole structure will crumble in ruin. It is quite possible that might come if this so-called depression should continue throughout a prolonged period."

LECTURER WILL URGE SCHOOL CHILDREN TO BE KIND TO ANIMALS

Mrs. Jennie R. Toomin, field worker for the American Humane Education society of Boston, will begin a series of lectures today in the public schools, urging kindness to animals. Other addresses will be delivered over the radio in preparation for "Be Kind to Animals Week," April 17 to 23. Posters to be distributed among school children are being issued by the Anti-Cruelty society, 155 West Grand avenue.

410,024 JOBS OBTAINED IN LEGION DRIVE

At the end of six weeks of canvassing, employment for 410,024 persons has been secured in the national drive of the American Legion to relieve unemployment, it was announced yesterday by Mark T. McKee. As executive director for the midwest division Mr. McKee asserted that another month of effort should put the organization over the top in its effort to get jobs for a million men. Prospects are that from now on, 20,000 jobs each twenty-four hours will be obtained. To date the best record of any city is held by Louisville, Ky., while Minnesota heads the list of states, with New York second and Pennsylvania third.

They're smart, stylish topcoats—these Scotch Mists of Rogers Peet's. There's a dash to the cut and a swagger to the drape that might make you forget a Scotch Mist is a raincoat, too. But it is!

And what variety of fabric; of soft, delicate moor colorings; of barely visible patterns that make this the topcoat of a man who knows style in cloth as well as in cut.

No matter how many coats you own, your Scotch Mist will become the favorite, the to-be-worn-most because of its good looks and general utility.

THRONGS VIEW FLOWER SHOW ON SECOND DAY

Playhouse Exhibits Offer Ideas to Parents.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Throngs attended the annual spring flower show of the Garden club of Illinois on Navy Pier yesterday. It was the second day of the exposition which will continue throughout this week. More than 200,000 visitors from Chicago and Chicagoland are expected to view the exhibits before the show closes.

Yesterday the crowds who admired the hundred odd garden and landscape displays appeared particularly interested in the methods shown of combining the useful and the beautiful in a backyard.

Interesting Playhouse Exhibits.

Another interesting feature of the show is the playhouse displays of the junior garden clubs, which offer practical ideas for parents. In these exhibits simply constructed playhouses have been built at the rear of yards, either in a corner or in the center of the rear border. Sandboxes are sunk into the ground to avoid scattering of the sand over the lawn.

In the girls' class the Joliet Buds won first prize for their playhouse display, with the Elmhurst girls second. The Arcadia Terrace boys were first in the boys' division and the St. Mark's Boy Scouts placed second.

Sculptor a Show Visitor.

Among the visitors at the show during the day were Carl Milles, noted sculptor of Detroit, and Paul Kohl, chief florist of the Missouri Botanical gardens in St. Louis. Both expressed their admiration of the finished appearance of work done by the garden clubs, Frank Lipp, John A. Servas, and the professional exhibitors.

The Glen Ellyn and Beverly Hills garden groups won top honors in fruit and vegetable picture competition, with the Maywood, Lake Bluff and Windsor Park garden clubs ranking in the order named. The Park Ridge club won over the La Grange club in period mantel displays. The Winnetka gardeners took the silver medal in modern mantel treatment.

La Grange Park Club Wins.

La Grange Park's garden club won first in outdoor window boxes, with the Mokena, Flossmoor and St. Charles clubs next in rank. In the indoor window box contest the Maywood Garden club was first, the Windsor Park Garden club second, and the Little Garden club of Evanston third.

Miss Virginia Prince is scheduled to give an illustrated lecture on a garden without its flowers at 7:30 p. m. today. Talks are to be given by others at the same hour on each day of the show.

TRIBAL HORDES RISE AGAINST BRITISH IN INDIA

Swarm Down from Hills at Khyber Pass.

BY EGBERT SWENSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PESHAWAR, India, April 3.—The wild tribes, whose presence at Khyber pass on the British side of the Afghan-Indian frontier gives the famous gateway to India and the nearby city of Peshawar their tang of ever present danger, are rising again. The British have bombed several of their villages and raked them with machine guns from airplanes in order to restore the armed truce that normally exists between them and their white antagonists.

Can Make Own Rifles.

The tribes are incorrigible fighters. The British realize it would be foolhardy to chase these hardy mountaineers through their formidable hills and take their guns away. It would cost too many men and too much money. Besides, the tribes would not stay unarmed long. The Afghan border is so mountainous that nothing short of any army of world war size could effectively patrol it and prevent the smuggling of arms by the coreligionists of Afghanistan.

Furthermore, the tribesmen can make their own rifles, and fairly good ones, too, British officers say.

To keep these hordes unarmed and subdued would mean a state of constant active warfare along the border. The British prefer an armed and vigilant truce. So they are not attempting to administer the border strip. They call it "tribal territory" and merely maintain "peace" treaties with the tribes.

The tribesmen rule themselves in primitive fashion. The principle of their justice is largely an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. Most quarrels of any consequence do not go to court at all. They are fought out man to man, clan to clan, or tribe to tribe, and the British are content that it should be so.

Tire of Fighting Each Other.

But periodically the mountain warriors tire of fighting each other. Their hatred of British overlordship is always smoldering underneath, and they frequently test the power of the British fighting forces.

During the most recent battle between the British and the tribesmen in the Afghan plain down below the Khyber pass, the mountain crests for miles around were lined with armed hillmen waiting to see its result. If the British lost to the Afghans they were prepared to step into the fray. But the British won, and the warriors disappeared.

The tribes are aware of Mahatma Gandhi's passive resistance campaign against the British. It is a "battle" that they cannot comprehend. But they do know that in the course of that campaign their fellow Mohammedan, Abdul Gaffar Khan, whose home is not many miles away from their hills, was thrown into prison by the British.

Eager to take a hand in the struggle, they frequently swarm down from their hills. They have no clear idea of what it is all about.

ANOTHER NEGRO FIREMAN SHOT IN MISSISSIPPI

Vicksburg, Miss., April 3.—[Special.]—James Weddington, Negro fireman on the Mississippi and Yazoo Valley railroad, was shot and seriously wounded by unidentified assailants tonight as he was at work in an engine cab.

A campaign of terrorism against Negro firemen and brakemen has been carried on in Mississippi for weeks. Four have been killed and seven others wounded. The engine Weddington was firing was the same on which Aaron Williams was shot and killed two weeks ago. Oscar Wilkes, engineer, was in the cab when each shooting occurred, but was unhurt.

Falls from Engine.

After he had been struck in both arms and his right side by shotgun slugs, Weddington fell from the engine and ran to the home of a friend, where he awaited an ambulance. It is believed he will recover.

Investigation by the police and the county officers, ordered by Mayor Hamilton and Sheriff Hossley, indicated that three men had waited in an automobile parked near the railroad tracks and from this point of vantage had poured their fire on the engine while Weddington was shoveling. The glow from the firebox outlined him as a target.

INVESTIGATION FAILS.

G. E. Patterson, vice president of the Illinois Central railway, said yesterday an investigation conducted by him resulted in no clews to the assailants of the road's Negro firemen and brakemen in Mississippi.

Mr. Patterson has just returned from Mississippi, where the killing of four Negro trainmen and the shooting of seven others, were investigated without success. The attacks occurred in the vicinities of Canton, Durant and Macomb, besides Vicksburg, Mr. Patterson said.

Appeal for Protection.

"The colored people appealed to the road for protection and we are doing everything we can, with the sheriffs coöperating with our own police, but it would require an army to patrol the tracks. Insuring protection is a different problem," said Mr. Patterson.

"In some instances the trains have been stopped by the placing of red fuses along the tracks. Under the rules, the train must stop, and one of the crew must get off and put out the fuse before the train proceeds. Some of the Negroes were shot from abush when they went to do this. Others were shot off the trains at stops. The assailants use shotguns, loaded with buckshot."

BURGLAR IS SHOT IN STORE; YOUNG VANDAL WOUNDED

Two youths, one a burglar, and the other apparently a vandal, were shot and wounded early yesterday by store owners. Florian Ryvarczyk, 17 years old, 1753 Ellen street, was wounded in the left leg by John Wisniewski, owner of a candy store at 1352 North Leavitt street, and John Allen, 19 years old, 941 West 63d street, received several shotgun slugs in the side of his head in an attempted burglary of the drug store of Samuel Rosenblum at 8914 Loomis street.

Wisniewski was waiting on a customer in his store when one of three youths hurled a brick through the store window. He seized a revolver, ran into the street and fired at the fleeing youths. Ryvarczyk was found wounded at Leavitt street and Potomac avenue a short time later by the police squad. He was identified by the store owner. He denied the window smashing.

Rosenblum was held up two weeks ago. Since the holdup he had been sleeping in the store. Early yesterday he was awakened by a crash of glass and heard the sound of a motor car dying away. He surmised the bandits were circling the block as a precaution and would return. They did. Rosenblum fired at three figures who entered. They fled, leaving traces of blood. Fifteen minutes later the Stockyards police arrested Allen when he appeared at the German Deaconess hospital. Allen was identified by Rosenblum.

BOUNDARY ROW PULLS PARAGUAY, BOLIVIA TO WAR

Report Troops Ready to 'Settle' Old Dispute.

SALTA, Argentina, April 3.—(AP)—The newspaper Intransigente quoted what it said are "reliable reports" today that Bolivian troops are gathering in the Gran Chaco territory in a threat to settle with arms the dispute with Paraguay over possession of that region.

Bolivia is said in the reports to be determined soon to settle the dispute over the Gran Chaco, which both countries claim, either through diplomatic channels or by force.

Detachments of from 500 to 1,000 Bolivian soldiers are reported to be moving constantly from several garrisons to the Chaco region. Eighty army airplanes already have been concentrated there.

Paraguay Refuses Comment.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, April 3.—(AP)—Authorities of Paraguay declined today to comment on messages from several Argentine towns which said that Bolivia is making warlike moves in the Gran Chaco.

Dispute of Long Standing.

The size of the Bolivian army in the Chaco has been estimated at about 5,000, or approximately 1,000 more than that of Paraguay. Both armies occupy many forts and outposts—most of them mere shacks—in the disputed region.

Bolivia recently rejected counter-proposals of Paraguay for a pact of nonaggression in the Chaco after Bolivia had suggested a one year truce there. A demand by Paraguay that Bolivian troops withdraw from the disputed territory was the principal point to which Bolivia objected.

The difficulty between Bolivia and its southern neighbor grows out of a long standing dispute as to where the frontier line crosses the Gran Chaco, a triangular section of about 100,000 square miles. Clashes between garrisons of the two nations brought them to the verge of war in 1928, but the dispute was submitted to an international commission for mediation.

ADD TO EVIDENCES OF SPRING: CIRCUS OPENS ON APRIL 16

The Sells-Floto circus will open its thirteenth annual engagement at the Coliseum on Saturday, April 16. Rehearsals will begin on April 13. The Sells-Floto is the only circus listed for the city during the spring.

Many new features are to be offered during the Chicago performances. Twenty performers are en route from the sawdust rings of Europe to join the circus here. Fifty bill posters are awaiting official word to start heralding the show. More than 100,000 sheets of posters are to be displayed in the Chicago area.

CHURCH SCHOOLS JOIN IN BATTLE ON DIPHTHERIA

Pamphlets distributed yesterday in all Roman Catholic churches of the archdiocese of Chicago announced the establishment of diphtheria prevention stations in the parochial schools. Arrangements have been made, on the advice of Commissioner of Health Herman N. Bundesen, to give the protective toxoid to pupils whose parents cannot afford to have a private physician administer it.

Dr. L. D. Moorhead, dean and professor of surgery in the Loyola university medical school, is named in the announcements as the special representative of Cardinal Mundelein and of Dr. Bundesen in this drive against the disease. Dr. Moorhead, who is also chief of staff at Mercy hospital and head of the medical board of the archdiocese, has put the active direction of the campaign in the hands of Dr. James V. Russell as his chief deputy. Dr. Moorhead in accepting the appointment becomes a consultant of the board of health.

Say Police Used Third Degree.

Peoria, Ill., April 3.—[Special.]—Formal charges of kidnaping for ransom were preferred today against James W. Betson, contractor and reform candidate for mayor, and Joseph Purcifull, lawyer, held in connection with the abduction of Dr. James W. Parker, 65, well known physician, held in captivity for 18 days.

William G. Lyons, secretary to Chief of Police Thomas McCann, swore out the state warrants for Betson and Purcifull and within ten minutes the two were removed from the city prison to the county jail.

Both looked rather wearied and haggard after their 72 hours grilling by state, city and county forces.

Secret Six Aids Investigation.

Newspaper men have been barred from interviewing the two men. Members of Chicago's Secret Six, the state highway department, county and city authorities have been questioning the men since early Thursday when they were taken in custody.

Under the state laws of Illinois the death penalty may be inflicted on charges under which the two are held.

In the meantime Peoria's police authorities were still in search for three others connected with the kidnaping. They are also looking for the house where Dr. Parker was held a captive for more than two weeks. Police feel confident that additional arrests will be made shortly.

George Sprenger, engaged as counsel by Betson, threatened to secure a writ of habeas corpus for the release of the two abductors prior to the service of state warrants calling for bonds of $50,000 each.

Since their arrest the two men have been kept in separate cells. They were removed to the county jail in different cars and will remain separated at the jail.

Prosecutor Has Black Eye.

Betson informed his lawyer that the officers had beaten him severely in an effort to obtain a confession from him. He accused Alexander Jamie and Sergt. Steffens, Chicago, as his assailants.

Betson sobbed continuously while questioned by authorities. Although earlier reports of his statements explained that Betson did not know the identity of a man who induced him to act as negotiator, it was rumored at police headquarters that he had named "Bow Wow" McQuillan, notorious St. Louis gangster, and was expected to "tell more" when given an opportunity.

Partner Stays in Cell.

Purcifull, on the other hand, was not moved from the remote cell where he has been held since Friday morning until his transfer to the county jail. He has no visitors and has asked to see no one. It has been his steadfast claim that he entered the plot at the request of Betson, and knows no others involved.

Alexander Jamie, his son, Alexander Jr., O. W. "Buck" Kempster, Hal Roberts, Sergt. Roy Steffens, and others of the Chicago Secret Six investigators who worked with local authorities in working up the case, left the city yesterday. Jamie, at least, promised to return here Monday to continue the work.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

RECONSTRUCTION LOANS.

Senator Couzens wants to dump responsibility for loans to railroads from the Reconstruction Finance corporation upon the interstate commerce commission. It is a poor way to avoid the danger he pointed out in his criticism of the Missouri Pacific loan—namely: that the government may soon find itself in possession of the weak roads while the investment bankers will have the government's money. It is well to have this possibility frankly faced.

If there should be no improvement in business within a year or two the Reconstruction corporation may prove to be just another investment trust that bought securities which were not worth what was paid for them. The funds of the corporation will have been dissipated in burying bad debts instead of in creating new business and new wealth.

But that is not the necessary or certain result. The money which Gen. Dawes pays over to the Missouri Pacific will presumably be turned over by the railroad to J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the Guaranty Trust company, to which the railroad is indebted. If the money is lent in turn by these banking houses for employment-creating enterprises the purposes of the Reconstruction corporation will have been fulfilled. Otherwise the corporation will have been set up merely to rescue certain financial institutions from their own mistakes of judgment at the expense of the taxpayers.

It may be inquired of the Reconstruction officials if the banks which will benefit from such transactions are required to give any intimation of what they intend to do with the money when they get it. To be sure, they can hardly afford to let the money lie idle. But they may pursue the course adopted by countless other banking institutions in this country of placing their available funds in United States treasury notes, bonds and certificates. If that is what is going to come of the Reconstruction corporation's resources, the corporation will accomplish nothing more "reconstructive" than an increase in taxes. The taxpayers will have to pay interest on the government bonds bought by the bankers with the taxpayers' money, and the taxpayers, in addition, will have to carry the losses on the railroad securities taken by the government from the bankers.

The system will work if the bankers who are relieved use their new money for constructive purposes and if the resources of the finance corporation generally are employed for such purposes. Otherwise the system will not accomplish the real object for which presumably it was created. The gist of the matter is that two policies are open to the corporation. By proceeding as if it were a private banking institution, conceived to show a profit on its holdings and to protect its liquidity, it will limit the possibility of eventual losses, but at the same time limit the assistance it can give to constructive enterprise. On the other hand, the corporation can adopt a more liberal policy on the assumption that the country will in due time emerge from its present difficulties and that well judged advances will then be repaid out of the returns of reviving enterprise. It will consider its present function to be not only to prevent the failing of banks embarrassed temporarily by frozen loans but also the providing of means to be employed by sound private enterprise for legitimate uses.

Mistakes will no doubt occur and the corporation in such cases will be left, as any private lender would be, with a loss. But by the exercise of sound judgment these should not be serious enough to offset the benefits which the country will derive from the relief and stimulation of sound enterprises, and this is the imperative need of the present situation. There is now a demand for the appropriation of billions of dollars for what are called public improvements. Most of this money, if obtained, will be expended on public works which are not imperatively needed and which the country cannot now or probably for a long time afford. It will be expended under political influence, with inevitable extravagance and favoritism. The benefits derived from the employment and purchase of material brought about will therefore be substantially offset. In great measure the investment in this form will be in fact a frozen asset, an asset that will remain frozen, that will deteriorate and never yield a financial return, or at any rate an adequate return. On the other hand, public money loaned judiciously to productive private enterprise, unless we are to accept the theory that the prosperity of the nation and of its private enterprise is never to return, will in due time be repaid, and such application of the finance corporation's funds will help to insure this return.

For example, public money loaned to railroads which are fundamentally sound economic enterprises but because of present conditions unable to obtain funds in a normal way, and which will employ the loan for proper improvements, will not only be a sound investment for the finance corporation but will produce immediate and eventual benefits to the public. Electrification, modernization of locomotives, improvement or replacement of rolling stock, improvement of rights of way, etc., would not only create employment but give the country a more efficient and economical system of rail transport. Other forms of constructive employment for the finance corporation's funds, including, of course, large scale housing projects, no doubt could be found, and it would thus justify itself as an affirmative agency of nation restoration.

The results of regulation of the railroads by the interstate commerce commission give no support to the Couzens bill. The commission needs less to do, not more. If it has this new duty imposed upon it, loans needed within a reasonable time, if they are to be of any help in the present emergency, will arrive too late.

BEER AT 15 CENTS.

The standard price of draft beer in Chicago since prohibition has been 25 cents a stein, but a number of independents on the south side have finally cut the price to 15 cents. The reduction is being opposed by the Capone syndicate, but it is generally believed that the syndicate will have to lower its prices, too, if it wishes to retain any market for its goods.

This record is respectfully referred to the department of justice. It suggests strongly that Mr. Capone and his lieutenants have been guilty of violating the Sherman and Clayton acts. There is an overwhelming presumption of restraint of trade and price fixing. Beer was not sold at the figure which a free play of supply and demand would have justified. There must have been collusion and perhaps even threats and violence to maintain prices at an artificially high level.

Capone made his money by breaking the Volstead act and another federal law, the Mann act, but the government didn't prosecute him for these breaches. Instead, they proved he had not reported the income from his lawbreaking. One result of his conviction has been the refusal of others in the same lines of endeavor to deposit any money in the banks to furnish the government with a record to present in court. Obviously the government is going to have a harder time convicting other bootleggers and panders of income tax evasion. Fortunately, then, there is another law under which the government can prosecute. It can prove that the Capones operate in restraint of trade.

One of these days the government is going to convict somebody of using the mails to defraud through the sale of grape concentrate that won't develop a kick even though the directions on the barrel are followed to the letter.

IT'S THE APPLE SAUCE THAT WINS.

Although many of the women who are candidates for office say they detest housework the photographers who take their pictures know what is politically good for them. Pictorially, therefore, they are up to their ears in the work they don't like, and the photographer makes them like it. For him they take the hide off the good old potato, polish up the door knob, and dust off the offspring. They may safely take it from the newspaper picture man. He knows.

The lady may be as shrewd a politician as ever made the exact change for precinct workers without looking at it, but she must come to politics like the breath of hot biscuits, with bits of darning yarn on her apron, a motherly look in her eyes, and a reputation for salt rising bread and quince preserves. That is her metier, and the sign of the flatiron and rolling pin is the sign by which she conquers.

There may be noted, also, a few fancies on the masculine side. Mr. Coolidge's big moments were when he was pitching hay on his father's farm or wearing a ten gallon hat in the great open spaces. Mr. Hoover was never better than when he was fishing off the side of a battleship or sloshing around in the Rapidan building a dam with loose stones.

If a man of big affairs wanted to run for President the best thing he could do would be to get himself a reputation as a dirt farmer.

The best thing for a woman is to be able to subscribe herself "Mother of six" and be noted for her apple sauce.

GARDENS FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The success of gardening activities in providing food for the unemployed last year leads the President's Organization on Unemployment Relief to urge that the work be taken up again this spring, and on a larger scale. Here is a method that gives help where it is needed, and without the pauperization of outright donations. The unemployed get work, and the crops are a return from their labors, with a most wholesome effect on group morale. Vacant lots and idle tracts near the cities are put to a good social use by the plan.

The returns from gardening, whether sponsored by cities, industrial firms, organizations, or individuals, are very large as compared with the monetary outlay required. The community gardens at Columbus, O., cost $983, with 270 families, totaling 1,400 persons, taking part, and produced vegetables valued at $13,090. The Chicago and Illinois Midland railroad sponsored gardens covering 23 acres at Springfield, Ill., at a cost of $1,250 and a return of $10,000 in food. Detroit, with a fund of $18,000, financed 2,765 gardens, over 300 acres, which produced food valued at $218,000.

The Health-Thrift Community gardens project has been organized in St. Louis, under the leadership of Julius A. Baer, and arrangements have been made to cultivate two extensive tracts of ground. This is an admirable nucleus, but the movement should be expanded here to give work and food to more of our estimated 90,000 unemployed. In this connection the importance of canning these garden products should not be overlooked. St. Louis passed up the opportunity to establish a municipal cannery last summer while thousands of bushels of fruits and vegetables went to waste in adjacent farm areas. Welcome Inn canned about 30,000 quarts, the St. Louis County Welfare league put up 3,000 cans, and an East St. Louis group conducted a cannery, but these barely touched the possibilities of preserving food for the winter.

Other cities were not so negligent, and carried on extensive canning activities, under municipal or organization sponsorship, along with their gardening campaigns. This lightened the burden on community chests and public relief, while providing the needy with wholesome foods they could not have bought.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

AND WHILE THEY'RE ABOLISHING—

The President says the shipping board ought to be abolished. And we're with him on that. But when it comes to abolishing boards and bureaus and things down in Washington so many things crowd into mind that ought to get the ax. Why just the shipping board? We can think of the farm board and the board that tells you how to make pants for Junior out of the old carpet, and the board that tells you every fifteen minutes that this is the bicentennial of G. Washington, and the board that warns you in making up the family budget to remember that porterhouse steak stuffed with ground glass and arsenic is a cheaper thing to kill cockroaches with than a ball bat, because you're liable to miss 'em with a ball but and break a china coffee cup costing ten cents.

Then there's the board that is always writing to us about how interested the government is in our vegetable garden and that we should plant useful things such as Sea island long cotton and leaf tobacco instead of young onions and marigolds. If we would only be prudent with our garden, says this bureau down in Washington, we wouldn't merely get young onions out of it and marigolds but we could get cotton and make our own shirts and hankies and undies and things, and, instead of having to buy cigarets with 'all the different kinds of taxes stuck on 'em, we could harvest our own tobacco and manufacture all the cigarets we need. But, anyhow, they haven't told us to plant trees and make our own paper pulp—but they will, they will.

Anyhow, it's our own business what we raise in our garden, and we hate to have the government snooping around and peeking over the back fence and telling us what to do with it. They say we should erect a neat henhouse in the corner and raise our own roast chicken and chicken giblets, and that if a hen gets the whooping cough or the stringhalt or the pip, or whatever it is a hen gets, to feed her fried snails mixed with whale's milk. We resent all this unasked advice. This is supposed to be a free country—who supposes that?—well, anyhow, it used to be so supposed, and we'll plant skunk cabbage or rose bushes or orange trees or pineapples or anything else in our garden that we please. And when we want any of the bureaus down in Washington to tell us how to run our garden we'll ask 'em.

And, besides, we haven't got a garden, anyhow. And we've told them so a dozen times. But does that stop 'em? Oh, dearie, you don't know 'em!

APRIL.

For lyric Springtime we have waited long
Whose hearts as well as heads have felt the blast;
From sorrowing our lips have lost their song
Till April topped the hill and brought at last
The welcome news, which made our hearts beat fast—
The news that Winter has been bound and slain,
That Spring and song and joy were come to earth again.

All care shall be forgot; sweet song shall lead
Through waking orchards, where the dawning year
Prepares a feast of beauty for our need.
Our feet rejoice to press the freshening mead
As we again explore the land of dreams,
Of gay romance, by youthtime's clear and singing streams.

The north wind lurks no more; he journeys now
Beyond the hostile reaches of the sun,
Who soon, for our delight, shall trim each bough
With rose and snow. He yields in power to none,

SKIN TROUBLES AND OCCUPATION.

EVERY industrial surgeon needs to sit at the feet of the one-time famous Dr. Bell of Edinburgh, or his spiritual successor, Sherlock Holmes, in the opinion of Dr. F. C. Knowles. This applies especially to diseases of the skin. It is known that somewhere about one-fourth of all chronic skin diseases are due to occupation. Furthermore, many of them are compensative, and the facts are generally known. There are lots of people who are willing to put up with an eczema, so-called, if by so doing they can draw wages without working.

The first task of the disciples of Bell and Holmes is to pick out the self-induced skin diseases. After a certain amount of experience a shirker may know just about the kind of an eruption his occupation is liable to beget, where it is located, and how to produce it. He may deliberately apply substances poisonous to the skin; or, more subtle in his methods, expose himself unduly; or, even more subtle, not take the precautions necessary for prevention.

The next advice given to the devotees of the art of industrial surgery by Dr. Knowles is even more in the realm of Bell and Sherlock Holmes. It is to observe certain peculiarities which will establish, not only the cause of the skin trouble but also the occupation of the sufferer. The skin of workers in tetryl has a tinge of yellow, green, or pale apricot. That of workers in dinitrobenzene and trinitrotoluene is yellowish or brown. This is especially true of the hands. The palms and nails are yellow, the backs brown.

T. N. T. operators have bronze tinted hair. Their underwear turns pink upon being washed. Photographers' nails are stained brown from metol. Dyers have nails and hands pigmented by the colors they work in. The skin of picric acid workers is yellowish. Those who work in bichromate have hands and nails that are pale ochre.

The dust under the nails of workers in metals, on analysis, will show what metals they work in. The man who works in silver is liable to have small, permanent, blue-black spots on the hands and fingers. Men who work around blast furnaces and in other hot places are apt to have thin, atrophied skin on the hands. Washerwomen are likely to develop the same kind of skin. It is also true of glass blowers and X-ray workers.

The location of the callosities on the hands will reveal the worker's occupation to the embryo Dr. Bell. Pigmented scars are found in those employed in the iron, stone, silver, and flour mill trades. Scars on top of the foot suggest that a man is a molder, a linotype apprentice, or a stereotype worker.

Watch and clock makers have thick, hard, hypertrophied nails on the left hand. Employés in munition works wear away the nails at the center on the third and fourth fingers. Basket makers have splayed, or square hands. The right hand is the larger. Splicers of rope, sail, and tentmakers have the end joint of the first finger of the right hand flattened, and the skin hardened, cracked, and fissured.

The location of the eczema, its appearance and the circumstances under which it appears often indicate its cause.

MIGRAINE.

L. McG. writes: Can migraine be cured? My mother has had attacks about twice a year for years. She stays in bed two or three days and vomits. We have tried to cure her in several ways. When physicians can cure cancer and when radium is so useful, why is migraine a sticker?

REPLY.

Some cases of migraine are cured. Many are not. In some the disease is spontaneously cured at a certain time of life, or the habit changes.

There are several kinds of migraine, and what causes one kind may do no good, or may even do harm, in another. Many hold that those cases in which vomiting is an important symptom are due to some form of food sensitization, and should be treated along that line.

WORM IN STOMACH.

M. B. writes: Is the human intestinal worm harmful to the stomach? If so, how to get rid of it?

REPLY.

There are several kinds of worms that are at home in the human digestive canal. Rarely does any worm get into the stomach, however, and when one does he promptly gets out, or tries hard to do so and, failing, dies. The stomach can stand the worm far better than the worm can stand the stomach.

PROPERTY PURCHASE.

Chicago, March 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I bought a lot on contract and paid in about $1,800, counting assessments, interest and taxes. I still owe $300 on the purchase price and 1931-'32 assessments. I had the lot recorded. Can it be sold or taken from me, as I am unable to pay up? I am a widow without employment and have recently lost every cent saved for old age. This same lot today could be bought for less than half the amount I have paid in. J. H.

Subsection 2 of section 5 of the forcible detainer act authorizes a suit at law for possession "when a vendee, having obtained possession under a written or verbal agreement to purchase lands or tenements and having failed to comply with his agreement, withholds possession after demand in writing." While in a mortgage foreclosure the defendant is sometimes permitted to enjoy the use of the premises during the fifteen months allowed for redemption from the foreclosure sale, there is no such delay on these contract cases. The foregoing relates only to possession. To clear the title the vendor may have to file a bill in equity if the contract has been recorded, and the court before entering a decree may order the refund of an equitable portion of the purchase money. If the contract has not been recorded the vendor may resell clear of the vendee's equity.

CITIZENSHIP STATUS.

Chicago, March 24.—[Friend of the People.]—1. Does a woman lose her United States citizenship by marriage to an alien? 2. Does an alien woman gain American citizenship by marriage to a citizen? 3. Can a woman regain citizenship lost through marriage if her husband does not become a citizen? D. G.

1 and 2. A woman neither loses nor gains American citizenship through marriage on or after Sept. 22, 1922.

3. A married woman may apply for citizenship the same as any other alien, regardless of the citizenship status of her husband. There is a special provision for native born women who lost their citizenship by marriage to aliens, relieving them of the requirement of a declaration of intention [first paper] and a certificate of arrival and also authorizing earlier hearings than in the normal naturalization cases.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

CHINA-JAPAN WAR, 1894

SHANGHAI, Nov. 29.—England is evidently preparing a coup de main with a view to protecting its interests in China. There can be no doubt it resents the manner in which it is being excluded from the discussion of possible terms of settlement between Japan and China, and it has arranged a naval demonstration at Chusan for Dec. 1. The warships Alacrity, Pigmy, and Redpole have left here with sealed orders.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 29.—Mr. Dietering, the commissioner of customs, dispatched to Japan to discuss terms of peace, is on his way back to Shanghai.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—A Central News dispatch from Tokio says Commissioner Dietering and his suite sailed for Tientsin. Count Ito, the Japanese prime minister, declined to receive the commissioner, saying he would only receive an envoy who had been directly appointed by the Chinese government at Peking and would hold no communication with the viceroy's messenger.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 29.—The Novoe Vremya declares that the irreconcilable attitude of Japan in refusing China's peace proposals renders it incumbent upon the powers to demand explanations in regard to Japan's ultimate objects.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—While the Japanese legation has received no official confirmation of dispatches indicating the mission of Dietering on behalf of China to Japan has been a failure, the disposition there is to regard the information as authentic.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 30.—The British fleet has assembled at its rendezvous at Saddle islands off the Chinese coast near here and will occupy the island of Chusan tomorrow.

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 30.—The feeling of the populace is strongly against intervention in negotiations for peace by the United States or by any western country, and the Japanese government considers that nothing but an application from China itself will be acceptable.

28 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEOUL.—The Japanese advance toward the Yalu river has been marked by steady skirmishing. The mikado's soldiers repulsed the czar's troops at every step. It is now asserted that in the fighting at Chongju on March 28 the Russians lost 400 killed and wounded and that an equal number were captured. The Russian losses at Kasan on March 26 are estimated at 500 in killed and wounded. The weather now is milder and the campaign of the Japanese will soon be in full swing. The Japanese fleet is still intact and continues watching Port Arthur.

SHANGHAI.—It is credibly reported here that the Japanese armies are operating in an irregular area whose corners are intended to be Antung, Newchwang, Kirin, and Vladivostok. One force of 105,000 has been landed opposite Takushan in southern Manchuria and is marching north. Another army of 40,000 landed in northwestern Corea and is marching toward the Yalu river. A third force is marching to the west and it is supposed still another force will attack Newchwang.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—If the rest of the country wants Senator Fairbanks as a running mate for President Roosevelt it will have to go after him. Members of the Indiana delegation will not present his name for the vice presidency. They will adhere to their original theory that he is distinctly a presidential figure.

VIENNA.—An extraordinary anti-Jewish proclamation has been issued by the Orthodox association of Odessa urging Russians to slay the Jews as they did at Kishineff. A serious outbreak is feared as a result of the proclamation on April 17, the date of the Russian Easter.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 4, 1916.

EUROPEAN WAR SUMMARY.—Berlin reports that all positions north of Brook of Forges between Haucourt and Bethincourt have been taken from the French. The French, in a counter attack, drove the enemy out of Caillette woods and regained their hold on the village of Vaux. Ten persons were killed and eleven injured in an aerial raid on Scotland. Edinburgh and Leith were attacked. The French-British memorandum replying to the United States protest against mail seizures was given to Secretary of State Lansing. It protests that parcels post contains contraband for Germany.

COLUMBUS, N. M.—Some anxiety exists here regarding Col. Dodd and his flying column which is in pursuit of Villa. They are so far ahead of the main body of Gen. Pershing's forces in the heart of Mexico that they are operating practically without communication with field headquarters. Neither Pershing nor Dodd has been heard from by the military here or at San Antonio for a long time now. At Gen. Funston's headquarters in San Antonio fear was expressed that Villa may have escaped the cordon of United States troops which sought to surround him. There is a report that United States troopers and Villa's band have had a second battle near Bachineva.

LONDON.—Lloyd's reports that the British bark Bengairn has been sunk by a submarine. Part of the crew was picked up. It is stated that the vessel was not armed. There were two Americans in the crew. The American consul at Cork reports to the American embassy here that the steamship Berwindvale, which was sunk off Ireland on March 16, had four Americans aboard. None of these was hurt.

RUSSIAN MEMORIES.

Kenilworth, Ill., March 31.—I wish poor innocents like William Stack of Park Ridge, who wants to work in the U. S. S. R., and the communist children who demonstrated downtown March 26 carrying a banner, "We Want Soviet Conditions Here," could only see the U. S. S. R., or even see my movies taken along miles of Russia's best and compare this with America's worst. But perhaps they are too propaganda drugged to believe their own eyes, anyway.

The lobby at the Fish-Brookhart debate was filled by the pro-soviets with such gayly colored enticing scenes of the U. S. S. R. that I felt just like the woman who went to the funeral of her husband, who had led her a hard life. When the preacher waxed eloquently eulogistic about the deceased she got up and tiptoed over to the coffin to make sure she was not at the wrong funeral. My memories, fresh from poor, drab, dirty, dilapidated, slummy looking Russia, with its poor, dispirited looking people, contrast sharply with the rosy cheeked girl pictured on the U. S. S. R. folder holding up a tennis racket to have her picture taken.

Stepping into Estonia and Poland, which until thirteen years ago were part of Russia, but which now have democratic governments and individual trade, is like stepping from the slums to a comfortable, pleasant neighborhood.

I would not be mean enough to wish that Mr. Stack get his U. S. S. R. job. I have too many friends, engineers, who did get theirs. They departed so gayly, but returned twice as eagerly, sickened in soul and stomach and O! so grateful for America just as she is.

MRS. A. W. DILLING.

RECEIVERSHIP COSTS.

Chicago, Ill., March 26.—Why, in the name of reason and simple justice, are the law firms and trust companies permitted to charge such rates as they do in handling receivership affairs? Is it because the laws are made by an assembly of greedy lawyers who may hope to get a crack at the poor victims through their outside connections or because the courts are so indifferent to the interests of a concern unfortunate enough to be forced into receivership, as well as its stockholders, as to permit a receiver to extract the first and best money at a rate said receiver couldn't earn in any other way?

Why isn't there some agitation on this subject of receivership charges just about removing the last hope of a concern to stage a comeback or its stockholders to realize anything? H. E. P.

WISCONSIN'S TAXES.

Burlington, Wis., March 26.—We wish to thank THE TRIBUNE for the interest it is taking in the matter of unjust taxes levied upon the people in our wonderful state of Wisconsin. For many years we have needed to have the conditions exposed. Keep up the good work, TRIBUNE. Send your reporters into Leningrad (Madison), Kenosha and other cities to ferret out and expose to the people the tricks that are being played upon them every day. If ever we needed help it is now, and we feel THE TRIBUNE is big enough and strong enough to help us. Keep up the good work.

DRY HISSES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 23.—An article in the March 18 issue of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has been brought to my attention, that article bearing the headline, "Ohio Drys Hiss Governor."

It was my privilege to serve as chairman and toastmistress on the evening in question. While there were a few "no's" when Gov. White expressed his belief in a referendum, there was no unfavorable demonstration. Throughout his address Gov. White was accorded the most courteous and respectful hearing.

ELIZABETH A. PERKINS.

A CHANGE OF HEART.

Chicago, March 28.—It was interesting to read in THE TRIBUNE of March 27 your account of Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom's denunciation of prohibition uttered at a meeting held under the auspices of the Uptown Swedish-American Voters' league and Service Men's clubs, the chairman being Howard P. Savage.

Oscar must have given his auditors the works, for we learn "as he assailed the hypocrisy of its supporters the audience burst into frequent and prolonged applause."

About four years ago at a convention of ex-service men, residents of Illinois, there was introduced a resolution calling for a nation-wide referendum on the prohibition question. In the hall were Comrades Carlstrom and Savage. Both could have spoken in support of the resolution had they so desired. Both preferred to remain silent, believing, perhaps, that the time was not politically right. Both saw the resolution go down to ignominious defeat. Now, with an election in the offing and an opportunity for material gain, these two torch bearers are tearing their hair, beating their breasts, and emitting clouds of pirated words against prohibition and doing it so successfully that the remarks of one of them, Oscar the Great, are accorded a "demonstration of applause and cheering that continued for five minutes."

To those of us who try to be half way on the level in our attitude toward veteran organizations and who attend post meetings at least once in six months, it is sickening to see these political opportunists and political gymnasts seeking the suffrage of ex-service men through ex-service men's organizations of Lilliputian stature and denouncing prohibition, an issue on which they were once as silent as a dead mackerel.

SMALL AS A CANDIDATE.

Champaign, Ill., March 28.—Len Small's record in secretly loaning millions of state funds to Chicago packing firms, through a fake bank at Grant Park, should be plainly and truthfully outlined, and published in every newspaper in the state. It seems incredible that any person who is fully informed of this deal would vote for him. If any of his opponents were guilty of acts which Len Small has put in his disreputable record supporters of Small would run up and down the state and denounce such acts as dishonest and yet there are people who will uphold this tricky politician. Should he be nominated the result in November will be the election of a Democrat, as no self-respecting Republican will vote for Small.

OLD TIME REPUBLICAN.

A CENT AN EGG.

Chicago, March 26.—V. H. Dani tells us that while in Chicago last week he was utterly amazed to find Chicagoans paying from 20 to 25 cents per dozen for fresh eggs. Let me say that I can't imagine where in Chicago this person saw eggs priced this high. Certainly the merchant who was charging this price could not have sold very many. All the stores in my neighborhood, and for many miles around, had fresh eggs priced from 11½ to 12 cents per dozen, and I can assure you they were just as fresh as any eggs I have ever had while on the farms of Wisconsin.

Loss of Valuable Export Is Threatened.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man, April 3.—The Isle of Man is facing a crisis. It is threatened with the loss of one of its claims to fame, as well as one of its most valuable exports.

The tailless cat indigenous only to this island is disappearing. Alarming reports arise that the species eventually will become extinct.

Various explanations are given. One is that the Manx cat still thrives with all its ancient virility but that this rare island fauna is dwindling because of an undignified form of emigration —export—and measures may be taken to curtail this trade.

Three Legged Cat Sells High.

Islanders do a big business with the cats, which sell at anything from $1 to $5 among tourists. The cat's value depends on size, appearance, and color. One tailless cat is valued higher than any other. It has only three legs.

Solitary specimens of the breed are to be found in all corners of the earth. Some insist the strain is strong enough for the Manx cat to survive. Others hold that it grows less hardy in alien haunts and will eventually leave the foreign cat, tail and all, in possession of the world's alleys.

Not even the scientists have ascertained why the Manx cat is vanishing. Lopping off a tail won't make a Manx cat.

It is a well known theory of evolution that an accidental peculiarity or variation, if taken advantage of, can be perpetuated and emphasized. But the whim of nature which gave the Manx people and the world this strange cat also gave it longer hind legs, a fact noted by Darwin and commented upon later in the Encyclopedia Britannica, which, however, changed "hind legs" to "limbs."

Parliament Studies Phenomenon.

But just how it happened nobody knows. Not even the British parliament can tell, for Rhys Davies, Welsh member of parliament, asked about it when the customs bill passed by the tynwald, the Manx legislature, was brought into the house of commons recently for routine approval. Maj. Walter Elliott, financial secretary to the treaury, who introduced the bill, did not know.

Many have tried to penetrate the history of the animal. The British Medical association has interested itself in recent years, but one of the most authoritative works on the subject was compiled by the Rev. Thomas Talbot. His paper is entitled, "The History of the Manx Cat—Its Origin, Great Antiquity, and the Cause of the Absence of its Caudal Appendage, with Interesting Facts of Its History and Peculiarities, and Its Relation to the Ordinary Household Grimalkin."

Many theories of the cat have been advanced, and among them is one by Train which the islanders consider a libel. He held that the Manx cat was half rabbit. Since the Manx people cannot explain the cat themselves, many islanders prefer the legend that the cat was brought here by shipwrecked sailors from the Spanish armada.

BARCELONA, April 4.—[Monday.]—The inhabitants of this city were aroused this morning by the shock of high explosive bombs fired by Separatists. The bombs destroyed the offices of the free port and caused damage estimated at about $50,000.

Three Shot in Red Riot.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, April 3.—Renewal of the Arab-Jewish tension on the eve of the Passover season is feared following the discovery of two sanguinary crimes within the last 48 hours. The body of an Arab was found with his throat cut near Rehavia, a fashionable suburb of Jerusalem, last night on the same spot where on the previous morning the body of a Jew was found similarly killed.

Although the police said the latter had committed suicide, his death presented strange elements. A passport found in the clothing of the dead man showed the name of Saul Wolfe of Los Angeles, a merchant, 44 years of age, naturalized American and formerly Russian. Wolfe arrived in Palestine Thursday from Melbourne, Australia, and his movements from then until the discovery of his body were not learned.

Twenty English pounds [about $75 at current exchange] were found loose in pockets of his clothing, also 200 Australian pounds [about $610] and 600 pounds in drafts on banks [about $2,280] were sewn in the lining of his clothing. The man wore no socks and holes in his shoes were repaired by pieces of tin. A razor, the handle repaired with bits of string, was found near the body. It was known that Wolfe had arrived at the frontier with two bags. These were missing. The killing of the Arab, the police said, may have been an act of revenge for a series of murders of Jews in different parts of Palestine during the last few months.

JAPAN'S PLANES BOMB AND BURN MANCHURIA CITY

Chinese Forces Still Hold Town After Raid.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, April 4 [Monday.]—A report last night from Harbin, Manchuria, through the official (Chinese) Kuo Min service, said that Japanese air bombers yesterday dropped more than 100 bombs on the town of Nungan, causing serious fires, but it was claimed that the Chinese loyalist troops are still holding out against the Japanese-Chinese forces affiliated with the new Manchurian state, Manchoukuo.

The Chinese loyalists, commanded by Gen. Li Hai-tsing, are making a stubborn resistance. The Japanese force attacking Nungan consist of two brigades commanded by Maj. Gen. Amano and Maj. Gen. Nagatani.

[Dispatches from Japanese sources said the Chinese had been driven out of Nungan.]

Another report from Harbin, issued by the Reuter (British) service, said that the Chinese loyalist general, Ting Chao, formerly commander of the railway guards along the Chinese Eastern railway, commanding 3,000 men, captured the railway station at Shihtowhotze and a small Russian settlement, forcing the combined force of Japanese and Manchoukuo troops to withdraw.

Burn Russian Settlement.

Later the Japanese sent reinforcements which caused Gen. Ting to retreat, but the railway station and the Russian settlement were burned, according to the report. It also stated that bands of Russian bandits are becoming active along the Chinese Eastern railway. One band raided Krivol station near Hailar, seized great quantities of food and clothing and withdrew.

Reports from Mukden and Tokio by the Japanese Rengo news service last night said that the Japanese government is meeting serious difficulties in obtaining 60,000,000 yen [about $20,000,000 at current rates of exchange] to refinance a loan to the South Manchuria railway which falls due on July 23.

The government, the report said, sent a special finance commission to London and Paris hoping to raise a loan in Europe. It also stated that the Japanese government is making unofficial inquiries in London and Paris regarding a large loan to the new Manchurian state, but the opinion is expressed that instead of a direct government loan, the government favors a private loan extended through the Mitsu and Mitsubisi companies which control most of the Japanese commercial and industrial enterprises in Manchuria.

Battle Near Soviet Border.

PINGYAN, Corea, April 3.—(AP)—The lives and property of about 1,000 Coreans were reported today to be endangered by fighting which has broken out in the Chientao district of Manchuria, near the border between Corea and soviet Russia.

Scouting and fighting airplanes left here today to coöperate with Japanese forces sent yesterday to combat an uprising against the new Manchurian government. Dispatches said the Chinese rebels were supported by "bandits and communists.'

Hordes of "White Russian" and Corean refugees were said in the reports to be crossing the Tumen river from Manchuria into Corea.

Two Japanese Planes Missing.

TOKIO, April 3.—(AP)—A Dairen dispatch to the Rengo News agency said today that two Japanese naval airplanes had been missing on the Shantung coast since yesterday. Four planes from the carrier Kaga, which was sailing between Dairen and Tsingtao, ran into a fog while maneuvering off Shantung. Two of the planes were rescued.

Armies Clash at Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, April 4.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Clashes of growing intensity between Chinese and Japanese troops along the battle line west of Shanghai were reported today, adding to the difficulties facing negotiators of an armistice who were scheduled to meet again at 2 p. m.

Chinese reports from the area where the Chinese and Japanese forces have been facing each other since the cessation of hostilities here a month ago said skirmishes were occurring frequently, causing increased tension in both armies.

Cosmopolitan Folk Art Is Placed on Display

Folk Art Exhibit

Silk and brass from China, embroidery from Italy, bead work and straw articles from Mexico, lace from Bulgaria, and candles, pottery, wood carving and metal work from far corners of the earth contributed their color and charm yesterday as an exhibit of cosmopolitan folk art opened in the Diana Court building. Attendants in the costumes of various countries displayed the entries in the Gallery of Modern Life. Among the countries represented are Turkey, Sweden, Russia, Rumania, Poland, Greece, Czecho-Slovakia, China, Bulgaria, Assyria, Armenia, Hungary, Italy, Jugo-Slavia, Mexico, and Norway. The exhibit will be open daily.

TROOPS ON GUARD AS MEXICO VOTES; 2 KILLED, 52 HURT

MEXICO CITY, April 3.—(AP)—Troops kept Mexico's primary elections fairly peaceful today as voters gathered in the streets and plazas to choose candidates for congressional and state elections in July, but two persons were reported killed and 52 injured in disorders.

One person was killed and six were wounded in a fight at Villa Juarez, in the state of Tamaulipas. Dispatches said supporters of one gubernatorial candidate attacked partisans of another with stones. The other death occurred in disturbances at Pueblo. Twenty-two were also injured there.

In the federal district, embracing Mexico City, 22 persons were injured, two seriously, in battles fought with stones, but there were fewer than 100 arrests.

A message from Comonfort, Guanajuato, said several hundred citizens who were about to get into a fight were rounded up and interned temporarily in a bull ring to keep them out of trouble. Reports from Villa Meoqui, Chihuahua, said two persons were seriously injured in a disturbance there.

Elsewhere peace and quiet prevailed during the political parties' plebiscite. Apparently the military had averted most of the disorders which threatened to climax the campaign of some 600 candidates seeking nomination by the National Revolutionary [government] party for 168 congressional seats.

Early returns from the state of Tamaulipas indicated that Emilio Portes Gil, former provisional president of Mexico, polled a surprisingly small vote in comparison with two other candidates for governor of that state. Portes Gil recently resigned as minister to France to return to Mexico to campaign for governor.

FRANCE NABS SPY GANG STEALING DEFENSE PLANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NICE, France, April 3.—A serious case of espionage was disclosed by the arrest yesterday in Marseilles of Andre Sequi, a reserve officer of the Italian army, and two alleged accomplices.

According to police investigators, the French counter espionage service established the fact that Sequi had a mission from the Italian war ministry to obtain plans for new French fortifications along the southeastern border, details concerning military activities in various centers, and statistics on French aerial forces and anti-aircraft defenses along the coast.

Documents containing this information were found, the police said, in a handbag carried by Sequi's mistress, who was also arrested. It is even reported that the ring of spies of which Sequi is the head possessed definite information of measures recently worked out for the defense of civilian populations against gas attacks. This data included statistics on the number of gas masks on hand and places of storage.

The three arrested at Marseilles include Sequi, his mistress and his mistress' brother. His mother and father, who lived in separate hotels, were arrested today. Other members of the gang are being searched for.

Sequi's success in obtaining closely guarded military secrets is attributed to his anti-Fascist connections. He posed as a political refugee, an enemy of the present régime in Italy, and passed off his mysterious activities as political intrigues directed against the Fascists.

WORLD SESSION IS PROPOSED TO STUDY BOYCOTT

New York, April 3.—(AP)—The United States could "render humanity no greater service at the moment," said Alanson B. Houghton today, than to call the nations into another conference to decide whether economic boycott shall be accepted as an instrument for enforcing the Kellogg-Briand peace pact.

Houghton, former ambassador to Great Britain, declared the pact was approved originally because its two provisions—renunciation of war and acceptance of peaceful settlements—caused "plain men and women of all nations to manifest their approval in no doubtful terms."

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university and of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, who spoke with Houghton in a symposium on the subject, urged the United States to take the initiative in convening the signatory powers to agree upon "such measures of nonintercourse as would be appropriate to prevent any threatened breach of the pact."

An Old Precedent of Sea Broken by Two Women

Boston, Mass., April 3.—(AP)—The precedent, as old as man's knowledge of the sea, that males shall man the galley of a ship, has been broken. The Estonian freighter Kinnika docked here today, her kitchen operated by two maids of the homeland. The ship was 21 days out of London loaded with chalk.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

In order to live and prosper there is no great call for a newspaper to go beyond presenting the news—promptly, accurately and entertainingly.

But for the Chicago Tribune this news requirement has been merely a starting point—a small part of its purpose. Born 85 years ago in storm, nurtured in strife, growing up with a raw, pioneer town it soon became more than a mere newspaper—a GREAT newspaper.

Chicago and the Tribune have grown big together. They are inseparable in purpose and ambition. The public has learned to rely on the Tribune "to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion and to furnish a check upon government....."

Because of the Tribune's commanding position in public confidence it has produced more outstanding advertising successes than any other Chicago newspaper. It dominates in circulation—150,000 more in Chicago and suburbs, 238,000 more in the entire Chicago area, than any other paper.

Statistical yardsticks prove the Tribune's power and performance as an advertising medium. But over and beyond that statistically-proved supremacy stands the inescapable fact that the Tribune is the voice of Chicago. Which is why advertisers say:

"if you're not in the TRIBUNE you're not in CHICAGO"

Splendid Study of Woman in Cronin Novel

Author of 'Hatter's Castle' Offers New Book.

"Three Loves," by A. J. Cronin. [Little-Brown.]

DR. A. J. CRONIN, with the publication last summer of "Hatter's Castle," a first novel, became almost immediately one of the most talked of figures in contemporary literature. "Hatter's Castle," with its unrelieved horror and tragedy, with its careful and artistic creation of a terrifying villain and its brooding oppressive atmosphere, was a remarkable book to have written as a first novel. Critics compared the author to Ibsen, Hardy and Charlotte Bronte. It is not surprising therefore that there are many people who have been waiting eagerly for the publication of "Three Loves," the second of this retired Scotch doctor's books.

DR. CRONIN.

"Three Loves" concerns the life of Lucy Moore. Lucy is the happy wife of Frank who is a fairly prosperous butter salesman for a large firm. They have a charming suburban home in Clydeside, Scotland, and one small son whom they both worship. Until Anna, a wild and fascinating cousin of Frank's, comes to live with them they find perfect contentment in themselves and in their life together. Frank is an easy going, strange sort of fellow, unaware at first of his wife's wildly possessive love for him. Lucy, however, at the advent of Anna, through her disastrous possessiveness, breaks up their idyl of love and precipitates the tragedy that ends the first section of the novel.

Turns to Son, Then Religion.

Denied the outlet for her love in Frank she turns to her son and lavishes upon him the same passionate and devoted affection that she has given her husband. Again she defeats her own ends by suffering a martyrdom for which she selfishly and unknowingly demands the most exact and unpayable reward.

Finally, in the third section, Lucy transfers her love to religion and again indulges in an orgiastic display of emotion.

"Three Loves" reveals a mastery of realistic characterization the equal of which is not often seen. Lucy stands out as an unforgettable character and one who is completely credible. Lucy's personality is slowly uncovered, each trait being within her character instead of developing or changing gradually through the impact of crises and less urgent experiences. She neither learns nor unlearns as she lives and as her experiences broaden. At the end of the book when she leaves Brussels she reveals the same remarkable characteristics that molded her life when she was faced with a decision about Anna—". . . a stirring of that sanguine, inexhaustible courage. She had her fortitude! . . . Yes, her son knew that she would never admit to failure—she was bruised and battered, a tattered remnant of herself, but she was not defeated."

Fearless of Consequences.

Though Lucy had an indomitable will power and though she, with hard eyes and hard head, went out to get what she wanted fearless of the consequences, though she was bitterly selfish without knowing it, possessive without caring, though she was brave and courageous and never accepted the inevitable as the inevitable, she was essentially a woman without control, a woman with the powers of complete destructiveness within her both to herself and to others. The reader alternately despises and loves her, feels contemptuous and pitying, but always, so brilliant is her characterization, understands her.

"Three Loves" is structurally satisfying. The three sections of the book, each uncovering an aspect of this woman's power to love, contain the dramatic devices of carefully set scenes, climaxes and anti-climaxes. Each section begins with hope and success and ends with defeat and despair. The slow uncovering of character through the minutely observed [oftentimes tedious] acts, speech and thought of the heroine leaves the reader with a picture of a woman so real and so believable that the woman might be his friend's mother, or his wife's sister or his cousin's aunt.

The style of the writing in this book is for the most part distinguished and brilliantly adapted to the various moods and intentions of the novel, the narrative is leisurely and on the whole interesting [though the second section might have been written in half the number of pages] and the thoughtfulness and seriousness of the theme extremely provocative. Though the characterization of Lucy is the most memorable contribution of the book, the attitude of the author, that of surprising and almost fearful aloofness and disinterestedness, remains a remarkable achievement. 5 Million Children Need Special Help, U. S. Survey Shows

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(AP)—About 5,630,000 of America's 45 million children were found by the White House conference on child health and protection to be handicapped to an extent requiring special attention and education.

Statistics compiled by the conference, of which Secretary Wilbur of the interior department is chairman, showed seven-ninths of the nation's young to be normal, but only 1,500,000 were found to be especially gifted.

Leaders of the movement who conducted the survey advised specialized training for deficient children to prevent their later becoming public charges, criminals or institutional inmates.

In a report the conference committee on special cases gives detailed information concerning training of handicapped children. The report is one of 40 resulting from the conference.

Specimen of Smallest Lizard at Field Museum

A specimen of the world's smallest lizard, the disk fingered gecko, was placed on exhibition yesterday at the Field museum near the specimen of the largest known living species of lizard, the monitor or dragon lizard of Komodo island in the East Indies. The monitor is ten feet long, more than 200,000 times the bulk of the tiny gecko. The disk fingered gecko is a native of South America, and specimens frequently reach the United States by accident, concealed in bunches of bananas, said Karl P. Schmidt, assistant curator in charge of reptiles.

Born Shoppers the Ones Who Enjoy Living

Find Adventure in Hunt for New Things.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

SOME are born shoppers; others achieve shopping savagery that makes them snap at every bargain as well as the person who stands behind the case, while others only shop because they have shopping thrust upon them. But born shoppers have the most fun. They are the adventurers, the pioneers, the appreciative collectors of every thing that is new and different. Because of these buyers we have new electrical kitchen devices to shorten time. Why not push a button, push in a plug—all the more time to spend shopping for other thrilling new things. Because of shoppers and their unending search of new things to buy men make millions with everything from new cars to a new toothpaste with a funny name.

And good shoppers always—well, usually—tell where and how they find good loot. Any enthusiastic shop hound displays new things for approval as eagerly and pridefully as the neighbors' pup drags out rugs, rubbers and what have you each time you open the door.

Shopping Can Be an Adventure.

This shopping game is a life saver for a lot of us who were born to roam and wander—for those whose ancestors shipped to sea and brought back teak and tea and jade and ivory. Your grandmother probably drove down dusty roads for hours to shop for ribbons, feathers and new silks from Paris, driving home after dark, weary, wilted and shopworn, but with thrills enough left to last till six or even eight weeks dragged around again and she could repeat this delightful necessity.

Nowadays you are just as thrilled. You start out just as eagerly, but you see a great deal more, you buy as much, but you're back at noon ready to wear all the stuff you bought that very afternoon.

The shops are filled with new things. Look for the new washable fabric gloves. You will find them in every color, but the newest are those in white, beige and gray. Contrasting colored stitchings make them smart. Some have hand sewn tiny tucks in rows of eight to make them fit snugly across the hand and wrist; others are stitched around the wrist to give a cuff effect, while others have wide gauntlet cuffs with three large self-covered buttons.

Mesh gloves will be handed about in the smartest places this season. You can match the mesh with the patterns of your mesh hose. Mesh gloves will make your fingers long and slender because of the half inch double lining on each finger tip.

Shoes and Bags to Match.

You can buy bags and shoes to match, in color, fabric and decorations, and buy them at the same time in the same shop, and that is one break grandmother never had. The newest matching magic is the perforated leather and felt pumps, oxfords and sandals that are teamed with bags of similar color and size of perforated materials.

There's new crinkled crêpe silk for those who make their own frocks and suits. It is deeply crinkled and crêpey as the crêpe paper that it copies in color shades and crinkliness. It is so light and easy to cut and fashion that you will gladly adopt it for the summer season. Think what energy you will save—it's one thing you won't have to press.

Costume jewelry designers must sit up all night thinking about new things. New crystal bracelets come in dove gray and white with colored pearls to match, held in a groove effect. Multi-strand necklaces in the new thirty inch length go around in strings and strings of tricolor combinations—perfect contrasts for daytime apparel.

Remember the Coiffure 'Rat'? It's Back Again

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you want to show yourself a good time some otherwise quiet afternoon, have your dressing table set with a packet of eyelashes, an eyebrow pencil, and a "rat" for your hair. Also a pair of shears for bangs, if you have the nerve.

Then, when the Big Boy comes home, or comes to pick you up—introduce him to this new and strange girl with your name and see how he acts. I'll wager his language is going to sound not unlike that with which he greeted your first Eugénie bonnet.

The women are going different and there's no mistaking that! Just as pre-war in vintage as possible. So, you may just as well get out some of your pre-war ahs and giggles, from the looks of things.

These hair rats of which I speak, luckily, are going to be used at the nape of the neck and not in front to jack the hat up. I'm worrying for fear they'll land around front once they've got back on the head, at all. And those shirtwaists! You see how the girls are wearing them. Well, you know, shirtwaists and high belts and pompadours used to go together. Let's pray, sisters, let's pray! It's hard enough work now trying to keep the hair in curl without adding pompadour padding to our early a. m. duties.

They're trying to tell us that long hair is as passé now as the sleek boyish bob was last year and still is. But I've my doubts.

I think until the hairdress stylists and the dress arbiters get together on a shorter skirt length those who have long hair need not worry about getting it off again.

BUT—if the neck is short and inclined to thickness, the short hair finish is best. And some of the smart gray haired bobs do look lovely. Also, other shades of hair bobbed. The truth is that you can do what you mighty well please with those locks of yours so long as you don't let them hang shoulder length or wear them too closely clipped.

Wife-Worker Role Has Its Many Puzzles

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"All work and no play!" It's the cry of the wife who finds herself with two jobs on her hands—wage earner and home maker. It involves one of the biggest problems the modern wife faces today.

"Mary G." is only 21. Her husband is 23. They have been married sixteen months. And here is what "Mary G.," along with a number of her working wife sisters, is confronted with:

"I go to work six days a week in an office. I come home each night and prepare dinner, wash dishes, mend, wash and iron, and clean the house. My husband never gives me a helping hand. If I insist that he do something which I think is his work rightfully he does it complainingly. I am getting so fed up with all work and no play I could scream.

"What is there that I could do to wake him up and let him know that I am human and not a slave whose job is to make him comfortable without ever a return or a word of praise or anything? I am getting desperate."

It is estimated that we have over two million married women working outside the home. Of this number there is an infinitely small percentage who experience exemption from the physical and nervous strain of the double duty rôles. It's only a comparatively few women who have and can afford competent household help. But whether the working wife is approved of or not—there she is, thrust out of home by many conditions in modern life, mainly economic. And the chances are that she is there to stay for a long time to come.

Knowing that the double duty rôle facts exist, the sensible thing to do is to admit it and before marriage have an understanding with the prospective groom on the changed status of the wife. If the man has given up the rôle of chief provider, he must relinquish some of the privileges formerly attached to the man of the house. It isn't fair play to expect the woman to work eight hours every day to share the man's burden as provider and, in addition, hold her responsible for the woman's job in the home.

Men faced with the suggestion to lend a helping hand slip back into the traditional provider rôle with a "This is woman's work" attitude. Woman does not assume a comparable attitude about helping the man in his job of financing. Our men need to be educated on the new ideas in marriage relationships and work had better begin on it before the knot is tied.

Plans Discussed for Midwest Drive of Palestine Fund

Plans for the launching of a midwest campaign for the American Palestine fund were discussed last night at a gathering of 600 men and women at the Congress hotel.

Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court presided. Mayor Anton Cermak and Judge Henry Horner were present. The guest speakers of honor were Dr. Nahum Sokolow of London, president of the World Zionist organization, and Dr. Nahul Goldman of Berlin.

The goal of the midwest drive is $150,000. The campaign, to last fifteen days, will start May 15. In their discussions as to the American Palestine fund the speakers told how the Holy Land is being converted into an industrial center through the return of the Jews. Since the war 150,000 Jews have entered the country, Dr. Sokolow said.

John McCormack in Top Form for Final Concert of Season

BY EDWARD MOORE.

John McCormack's farewell for the season at the Civic Opera house yesterday afternoon was accomplished in a general wave of good feeling. The Women's auxiliary of the John B. Murphy hospital, sponsors of the recital, contemplated a full house and late comers turned away; Edwin Schneider, a Chicagoan and for seasons past Mr. McCormack's accompanist, made what was practically his Chicago debut as a piano soloist—a first rate pianist he is, too—photographs were made during the intermission. Altogether it had the atmosphere of cheer and good times.

As for Mr. McCormack, he was at the top of his form. With canny insight, he never permits the musicians of his audience to forget that he is a singer of the highest skill, and he impresses this fact first of all at the beginning of his program. But people seldom laugh or cry when he is singing "O Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me?" in spite of the fine art that he applies to it, and when he sings Irish songs they do both. This department is content to leave to wiser heads the solution of the question which is the higher art. It only stands on the assertion that he is a great singer in every item of his program.

One song, Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Thou'rt Passing Hence, My Brother," was sung to the memory of his friend, the late Chauncey Olcott. Later in the program he sang "Mother Machree." It has been one of his most popular numbers, but it was an Olcott favorite also.

With nothing closer to the conventional piano program than Chopin's Scherzo in C minor, Vitaly Schnee gave one of the most agreeable recitals of the season at Kimball hall yesterday afternoon. He went far afield to collect a list of music that most other pianists do not play. He collected an excellent one, and he is a pianist of uncommon ability.

Even his Bach was the less commonly heard Bach. For other ancient numbers he used two that more pianists should be encouraged to learn, Respighi's transcription of some sixteenth century lute music, and also a sonata by the old Spanish composer, Padre Antonio Soler. For later works he found selections from modern Russia, France, Spain, and Germany, and with his efficient hands and efficient brain he created a highly exhilarating entertainment.

Pastor Condemns Lack of Economic Planning

The Rev. Douglas Horton of the United church of Hyde Park yesterday discussed economic conditions during the time usually devoted to a sermon and condemned the "essential planlessness" of the present civilization. He quoted the views of economists as to the necessity of international planning. An open conference on the subject will be held in the church next Wednesday evening.

The Woman Hater

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Faire Chapelle is the stepdaughter of Ma Chapelle, who owns Flaxen's Casino, a café of ill repute, near the waterfront of Port Bai. Faire and Aya, Ma's daughter by her first husband of dubious color, assist in Flaxen's. The Chapelles are looked upon as outcasts by respectable island residents. Faire feels their attitude keenly, because her father was of unimpeachable antecedents. He had brought her as a little girl into these unsavory surroundings and left her there at his death. She has kept aloof from all that Flaxen's represents.

Sir Philip Persian is governor and commander in chief of the Tama Islands, Bai and St. Rosario. His young secretary and ward, Robert Grand, is involved in an affair with Mira Worcester, a faded beauty. Her husband has become suspicious. Sir Philip is anxious to save the boy from a scandal. Mallee Bookes, the governor's aid de camp, forces Faire, through threats, to accept Mira's guilt. Sir Philip is furious when he learns what Bookes has done, and sends for Faire to try to make amends. He arranges passage for her to London, where her sister, Sheba, now Lady Rosewood, a widow, owns a famous beauty salon. Sheba takes Faire into the business. Mallee Bookes, who was a former suitor of Sheba's, is sent home to London. Mira, who has returned to London, spreads malicious gossip about Faire, which Faire will not deny because of her affection for Sir Philip and her promise to him of secrecy. An estrangement develops between the sisters. Among Sheba's many clients, seeking the fount of youth, is Mary Chevronne, recently widowed, with whom Sir Philip had had a youthful affair, and feels honor bound to marry after his term expires. She is attracted to Faire and calls her to her home to give her treatments.

INSTALLMENT XXXI.

THE LONG AWAITED DAY.

"Faire, my dear, I want my pedicure from you. I couldn't stand the girl who does it, this morning. They've given you a pedicure course in the salon?"

"O, yes, Mrs. Chevronne. We'll start there. Lie back."

Queer things, girls, fresh and unspoiled, were called upon to do, to assist such women!

"Listen, Faire. The boat train is in at 3 o'clock. I've had a wireless." The radio message was under her pillow. She felt for it and drew it out. "He comes straight to me." And then she cried and smiled and talked—talked—talked. All the while Faire worked with a blank heart, trying to make her mind as blank.

When he looked around she was leaning against the closed door.

Lunch came to Mary's boudoir for both of them. That Faire did not eat passed unnoticed. That Mary did not eat seemed inevitable. But she began to drink. Care for her face and figure had kept her from alcohol for a year, but now she sent for champagne. She must have it! Her ecstasy of anticipation and her ecstasy of anxiety and terror grew. There was no soothing her.

But she grew again, by minute degrees, calmer. And the clock hands were at 3:15.

Faire began to make her up. There was little to be done. The unconcealable was to be concealed. The rouging, the shadowing, the powdering were perfect; the eyebrows lay in their artificially fine thin line, the mouth was red, the finger nails shone, brilliant. And yet . . . and yet . . .

Faire touched the bell. The lady's maid came in with a new frock, a teagown with a pajama skirt and a long trim sleeved coat, at once concealing and slenderizing, pomegranate colors. She had ruby earrings and one magnificent ruby on one finger.

"O, you are beautiful, madam," said the maid.

Mrs. Chevronne was beyond speaking.

And as if the whole town had ceased its humming to clear the air for the sound of its wheels, the three women heard, with curious distinctness, Philip Persian's taxicab draw up below.

Everything fled from Faire then but her desire to go, to fly. She had hoped to be gone, but the exigencies of Mary Chevronne's need had kept her. She knew that the world was still; the room was still; the painted, powdered, decorated woman was still as death.

She breathed one word into Mary Chevronne's ear, "Happiness!" She could have said no more. She slipped out, was into her coat and hat, running down the stairs before the new arrival could have paid his taxi driver and rung the bell. The bell peeled actually as she was on the last step.

But the butler, ready and expectant like the rest of the house, was already at the door.

She drew back a little against the wall in such shadow as she could find in the lit hall. And Philip Persian came in.

No other man would have seen her there. But he turned instantly her way, as if he felt, knew. Their eyes met again across the hall as they had met on a sunstruck day in Port Bai three years ago. Without hesitation she passed him and slipped without a greeting into the dusk of winter afternoon.

So she did not see or hear, not far behind her on the stairs, the lady's maid running down, saying:

"Madam is very sorry, very disappointed, but she cannot see Sir Philip this afternoon."

Mary Chevronne's courage, fed assiduously throughout the day, had failed her.

When Faire reached her high attic studio she did not know that Persian was close behind her. Leaving Mary Chevronne's house she signaled a passing taxicab—unheard of extravagance for her, but she wanted privacy, aloneness. But Persian had been off the doorstep barely five seconds behind her—though not with undue effect of haste, saying to the butler:

"Tell Mrs. Chevronne, then, that I will ring up later. And I want a cab."

The servant had shut him into one in what was really a fraction of time, though it seemed long. He gave his own direction to the driver:

So he drew up but a little way from Faire's taxicab when she reached Soho and home, but could not catch her on the stairs. She ran up so fleetly, and shut the door.

For a moment or two Philip Persian stood on that dim lit top landing, remembering every word of what he had said to her at Port Bai; remembering his: "Forget me." Not for five years had he ever relaxed the grim strength of his hold upon himself, gone back upon a renunciation, a decision, or a word. But here he stood—not robot; all man. And before he could close the prison of his heart again he had lifted his hand and knocked on the door.

She stood there.

She let him in without a word, and without a word he walked into the attic studio.

"Faire."

She did not answer.

"Why do you live here? Your sister . . ."

"My sister heard that Port Bai story . . . with additions. I don't know exactly what."

He exclaimed. And she saw his mouth harden into the line she knew, and his eyes were the governor's eyes—like glaciers.

"Why are you here?" she asked. Then without perfect consciousness of what she did she lifted a hand, and the fingers found his face, and her forefinger traced his eyebrow with a silly little gesture of love. But she remembered in an instant, and dropped her hand again. Only, his hand caught it.

"Please! Why are you here?"

"Where should I be?" he answered, looking at her, and not thinking of what he said.

"With Mrs. Chevronne."

He came back to the old realizations, the old discipline of five years' decisions.

"She wouldn't see me today," he answered very gently.

"Wouldn't see you! But I . . ." She stopped. She mustn't tell him of the day's tortures, efforts, hopes, fears, frantic work for an hour's beauty with which to delight a returning lover.

"But I thought she looked forward to you," she said in a steady voice.

"The message came just as you left the house; she couldn't see me. So I followed you."

"O, why?" she cried.

"I know I shouldn't. I know it all. But I just wanted to know you were safe; well; happy. You are happy, Faire?"

She nodded. "Yes. Happy."

"You're a liar," he said softly after a long moment's searching look. She did not deny it.

"What are you doing?" he asked. "What work?"

High Leather Boots Needed.

"I have been unemployed for a long time and do not expect to be able to get anything in my line until next September, so I have decided to take advantage of an opportunity to go to the mountains where I think I shall be able to do better. My finances are entirely depleted now and I shall need some high leather boots. I wonder if you would ask your readers for a pair. I wear size 10D. G. C."

If your outdoor apparel includes a pair of heavy hiking boots which you no longer wear, this young man could put them to good use. Would you donate them to him?

This is for people who don't bake large weekly batches of bread, enough to tide their families over till the next baking day. I have an idea that it won't exclude many people, because while bread making is a grand accomplishment, it is something that is being exercised less and less. There are not many homes that are entirely independent of bakers. So I am going to name a few of the more common varieties of commercially baked bread and suggest their places in menus as accompaniments to certain foods.

The big standby is white bread. In fact, I think it took the war to convince some of us that there was any other kind. Shop around and find the size and brand of bread that suits your family best. Baker's bread is, on the whole, well made from good ingredients, and your final choice will be guided by your family's needs. White bread fits into most of our menus. It is best for toast for most purposes, and for crumbs in recipes where bread crumbs are required.

Besides the regular loaf, graduated from 12 to 24 ounces in weight, there is the sandwich loaf which is such a help when one is going to have a picnic. The smaller square slices are fine. An idea for containers for creamed chicken or sea food is to cut cubes from a sandwich loaf, slice off one end and hollow out the cube to form a box. Bake these boxes, with their covers, till they are a light golden brown. Fill with the creamed mixture and replace the covers to serve.

A variation from plain white bread is potato bread. This is made with part potato flour, and the result is a loaf that resembles home baked more nearly than does the baker's loaf of white wheat flour bread.

Whether or not you buy sliced bread is a question of what you are going to do with your bread. Being cut uniformly as it is, it is all right for table use. But in some families toast isn't considered toast unless it is crusty on the outside and soft inside—a thick slice almost twice the bulk of the ready cut pieces. In other homes it is the custom to have toast thin and brittle. So there you are. A cut loaf is a great convenience if you're going to serve a lot of people, but, on the other hand, those individual slices get awfully dry if the sole purpose of your loaf is breakfast toast for two.

Whole wheat bread may be purchased plain or with raisins. The flour from which it is made contains the whole kernel of wheat, and some people consider that this roughage is highly desirable, though extensive tests have shown that there is little difference between the digestibility of white and whole wheat breads. This dark bread seems to fit into menus that contain such wholesome old time foods as stew, boiled dinners, and all those hearty, simple things.

Cheese bread is an innovation that has caused lots of feeling. The procheese crackers with salads, that it is a welcome substitute for toasted cheese crackers with salads, that it is perfect with jelly, and that it makes the most wonderful French toast in the world. The other side of the discussion says, principally, that it isn't "cheesy" enough. But there is no doubt that its nutritive value is high and that it is a beautiful yellow color, whether toasted or plain. I think it certainly has a place in our menus, served with salad, in sandwiches, or made into croutons for soup.

Rye breads there are in legion, plain and with all sorts of seeds. If your cooking leans toward the German or Polish school, with kraut and spareribs and stuffed cabbage rolls, you could hardly do without it. And a cheese or liver sausage sandwich on anything else is nothing short of a breach of usage.

QUICK RAISIN GRAHAM BREAD.

1 egg.
1 cup raisins.
3 tablespoons baking powder.

Use seedless raisins, cleaned, floured, and put through the coarse disk of the food chopper. Sift the white flour thoroughly with the salt and baking powder and stir the unsifted graham flour thoroughly with it. Beat the egg, then beat the milk into it. Make a crater in the dry ingredients and pour the liquid part into it gradually, mix and add raisins. Pat over the top with a spoon wet in cold water just before putting it in the oven. In baking this the oven may be hot at first, but the heat should be lowered shortly after for the continued baking. Dates or other fruit may be used instead of raisins. This recipe will make four or five loaves of the 4½x2½ inch size.

Finds Square Piano in Hunt for Apartment

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

NOT so long ago one of our town's popular young matrons went apartment hunting. Unsuccessful in finding the required "five rooms and two baths with plenty of light and air" on her first inspection trip she turned to the "for sale" and "for rent" columns of the daily papers.

Result No. 1, a handsome square piano. Result No. 2, a house located at 503 Oakdale avenue. The fortunate young matron, Mrs. Raymond Olson, the former Virginia Ericsson, daughter of the Henry Ericssons of Surf street.

The piano [for this story is to concern itself particularly with pianos] is a lovely old piece fashioned of rosewood by one of our country's finest manufacturers. It dates back at least 75 years and is distinctive in the fact that it still plays and plays in tune. Not for a minute have the new owners harbored a thought of converting it into a desk or table or delegating it to a summer home, the popular fate of square pianos.

Piano Bench "Thrown In."

"It was this way," said Mrs. Olson as she told the story of acquiring the piano. "We were apartment hunting when I ran across the ad with an address way out on Polk street. It occurred to me that it was a good idea to go and look at the piano, as, of course, a 'grand' was out of the question for us just starting out. The owner said she had been asking $100, but had decided to let it go for $25. Imagine our surprise! When the movers delivered it they announced she had 'thrown in' the bench."

Square pianos, you may remember, were at the height of their vogue the end of the 18th and most of the 19th centuries. There are other interesting examples about town, one that Mrs. A. F. Callahan has converted into a desk. Another, perhaps as historic as any to be found, the piano desk used by Richard Wagner, now on exhibit in the studios of a manufacturer of pianos. The instrument was made in 1864 at the request of King Ludwig of Bavaria.

With its rows of drawers down each side, it recalls those pianos of a late 18th century designer who created a combination piano, writing desk and dressing table with space for bottles and other dressing table paraphernalia. Perhaps the designer had in mind the words of the great Sheraton that "fancifulness seems most peculiar to the taste of females," for piano playing at that time was almost a monopoly of "cultured females." The designer apparently credited these accomplished gentlewomen with the versatility to write a note, play a tune, and powder the nose at the same time.

Gets Start in 10th Century.

The piano, often referred to as "a harp on its side," traces its ancestry back to the 10th century and the organum and the organistrum, parent of the now obsolete "hurdy gurdy." Strange, these instruments, for as the organum needed a blower as well as an organist, so the player of the organistrum required a handle turner as an assistant.

The piano also has other ancestors in the clavichord which is mentioned in some rules of the "minnesingers," lyric poets of medieval Germany, dated 1404 and preserved at Vienna; the more brilliant and elegant spinet preferred to the clavichord in 16th century England and Holland; and the harpsichord, brought into vogue in London in the 17th century and the immediate forerunner of the piano.

Bartolomeo Cristofori, a Padua harpsichord maker, made the first piano in 1710 from the ancient harpsichord by a controlled rebound of the hammers. At the time he was employed by Prince Ferdinand de Medici to keep his collection of musical instruments in playing order.

Cristofori's invention was in "grand" form, painted black, and to it he gave the name "piano-forte" meaning "soft-loud," alluding to the fact that the intensity of the tone could be altered at will. Today this historic piece may be seen in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City.

Many Changes in 2 Centuries.

During the last two centuries since that momentous year necessity has assuredly been the mother of invention. For each improvement has required another to counteract the change produced in the instrument's equilibrium. The end of the 18th century Johann Andreas Steen of Augsburg produced the Viennese action which Mozart commended for the speed with which the dampers quitted the vibrations of the strings and for the agility with which the action responded to the touch of the performer's fingers.

In 1767 the first mention of a piano as an accompanying instrument was made on a playbill at "The Beggar's Opera" in London, and the following year John Christian Bach was heard in the first piano-forte concert in the same city. Then the turn of the century brought the upright piano with John Isaac Hawkins of New Jersey, the inventor. This he called a "portable grand." Heretofore the uprights had merely been squares or grands turned on end with the keyboard attached at the lower end. Hawkins' piano, recommended because of the little space it occupied, was an entirely new instrument with the strings extending below the keyboard.

The latest improvement in the piano, unless we refer to the peacock blue case with metal struts for support designed recently by a modernist, is the player instrument. This was first presented by a Frenchman, Henri Fourneaux, at the Philadelphia Centennial exposition in 1876, and consisted of a cabinet which could be pushed up to the keyboard or removed when the piano was played manually. This bulky device soon gave way, however, to the mechanism within the piano we are familiar with today.

Good morning!

Quin Ryan should have been drafted to review this one! On account of he's the man who knows all about radio stations and what can be done in 'em and what CAN'T. HE could stand right up and tell the producers where they were wrong—if they were wrong. . . . O, well, Quin being busy and this being my job—here goes from a lady who regrets to say that some of her illusions regarding what Al Smith pronounces with a short "a" have been dispelled.

NOW the lady knows that when she listens to a windstorm howling about the old homestead, it's only the man who barks like a well dog and howls like a sick one on the Pup Pep Dog Biscuit program, and that he also is the crowd clapping when Mr. Whoosis lectures on prohibition and the thunder of earth and the rattle of stones in an avalanche.

Life is like that. . . . Let us to the story:

Bill Grimes, continuity writer for the ——?????????? Radio Station, is a young man beset by many difficulties. His nagging wife won't divorce him. SO—how can he marry sweet Laura O'Neill, who is a popular skit artist for the station?

The youth and his beloved get into a heap of trouble from which they endeavor to run away. But the radio is an efficient bloodhound and . . . No more of the story here.

William Haines, who has, apparently, graduated from smartaleckism, does a nice, sincere job of acting in a rôle that isn't worth his trouble. So does Madge Evans as the loyal and patient Laura. Other players aren't much to brag about—but blame the scenario for that.

Summed up, "Are You Listening" is just a rank and file programmer, here today and gone tomorow—and who cares?

First Building Used for Court, School.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Chicago's first church was used for court, courtship, and public school as well as for worship. This was revealed in the minutes of the trustees of the First Presbyterian church dating from 1833 and read yesterday by the grandson of their author at the 99th anniversary of that church which now is located at 64th street and Kimbark avenue. The records were recently discovered in a vault in a loop bank. Prof. Lucius Porter of Peiping university, China, was the anniversary preacher yesterday. In his sermon he quoted from the minutes recorded by his grandfather, the Rev. Jeremiah Porter, the founder of the church.

The church was first organized in the carpenter shop of Fort Dearborn on June 26, 1833, and though missionaries of other faiths had been at work in the Fort Dearborn region, yet it is held by students of Chicago lore that this was the first organized religious group in Cook county. Soon a church building was erected. Its cost, according to the Rev. Mr. Porter's minutes, was $316.

But religion and religious structures were very practical in those days. This is seen in the minutes recording a contract with the county which permitted the church's use as a courtroom at a rental of $30 a month, provided the church is "to be recompensed for any damage done to the property and that the pulpit is not to be encroached upon."

The trustees of the church were more lenient toward the school board when that body applied for the use of the church as a public school building. The rental was fixed at $9 a month for that purpose. The first school teacher was Miss Eliza Chappel. The courtship that took place in Chicago's first church, school and courtroom, though not directly related in the Rev. Mr. Porter's minutes, may, however, be inferred from the fact that the school teacher became the bride of the pastor.

While the early Presbyterians were strict in the matter of admitting members to their fellowship, yet there was no restriction in allowing other communions to use their church. It was learned last night that the first Episcopal parish organization in Chicago was created in the first Presbyterian church.

The minutes reveal a rugged religion in Chicago's early day. Applications of those seeking membership were given close scrutiny by the elders and pastors before admission. The record of new admissions to membership is preceded by the comment that "the following persons were examined and giving pleasing evidence of a change of heart were admitted into fellowship."

The rigors of religion of that day did not relax when members were admitted. "Long, continued absence from church," together with dancing, use of "ardent spirits" brought suspects of these things to ecclesiastical trial. Also, the record tells of the session's action on a case where a member caused "financial impairment" in a real estate deal to another. The realty salesman said he did not know what he was doing at the time the contract was offered. Rather than be expelled from the church he made full restitution.

Disciplinary committees from the session were constantly at work, according to the minutes, in persuit of wickedness among the members. The minutes reveal an intimate association of the church with all the secular affairs of its membership. Prof. Porter, in his anniversary sermon spoke on "Christianity Pioneering." He indicated that the church must find new frontiers of service in social, racial, and international matters, now that few geographical frontiers are left.

The Rev. Dr. William H. Boddy, pastor of the church, said yesterday that many more records remain in the vault of the bank where this book of minutes was found. These will be examined during the next few days, he said. The Chicago Historical society has applied for the records to display in the new Lincoln park building of the historical society. As to whether this request will be granted, Dr. Boddy would make no comment yesterday.

Problems in Every Home, If We Only Knew

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A puzzled or discouraged mother is apt to think that every other mother's life is a bed of roses and other children perfect models. Or she's apt to think that other mothers are extremely able and that she's the only one who's struggling with her children.

Not so—not so. She sees little Mary when she goes to visit the Browns, and Mary Brown is all sweetness and light. She watches the carefree capers of Jean and Jane and Joanna at the Smiths'. And she thinks, "How uncomplicated these children are—so simple to understand and so easy to manage."

But she doesn't see those children off parade and in all the home and school situations that arise. She doesn't see that Mary's so dependent on her mother that she won't even leave her. That Jean has been almost unmanageable since the new baby came, etc.

She doesn't see behind the scenes where these little girls are concerned. Just as she doesn't with the boys. There are Sam and Joe and Bob. They have such splendid manners and Sam does his homework so cheerfully, and Joe is so responsible and Bob is sweet tempered.

"I," thinks the puzzled or discouraged mother, "am the only one who's in difficulties."

"I must be stupid or else my boy is just too much of an exception.

Once again she's wrong. She doesn't know that Sam in one family is destructively jealous of his older brother—that Joe's sister in another family was sent away to boarding school because she bossed him so that he was wretched—and that Bob is so easy-going that nothing bothers him, not even the things that should.

Almost everybody has something in her family that needs managing—almost every parent has something that she would label a problem. After all, why not? Here are strongly marked individualities trying to adjust themselves and still be themselves. Here are we, their parents—only a little bit wise though very loving. If babyhood is passed and the next years bring difficulties, and the teens bring problems later, we must not sit back and think "I'm the only mother who has to struggle," or "I'm a failure if this could happen."

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Woods theater returned to the so-called "legitimate" drama last night, after two and a half years of intermittent devotion to other forms of amusement, with a play called "Louder, Please," fresh from a Broadway run, but with a new cast. This piece stands in distant relationship to such ironic frolics as "The Front Page" and "Once In a Lifetime"—in other words, it is a typical comedy dealing with the press and with Hollywood. In order to combine these two aspects of the American scene it selects the publicity agent of a wild eyed film factory as its hero.

It is a workmanlike adaptation of a familiar pattern in contemporary play making. With rapid fire dialogue, with much ringing of telephone bells, with nervous scurryings about the stage and in and out of doors, it presents a satisfactory illusion of intense serio-comic excitement; and it treats the technicalities of its subject in a diverting vein of mildly satiric humor. The production is offered at popular prices, but it has a cast which grades well above the average of such affairs. "Louder, Please" was received with a certain degree of relish by its first nighters, who seemed willing to accept its fantastic story as the "low down" upon the methods that are used for the creation of cinema stars and the hoaxing of editors.

The master mind of press agentry upon whom the story is focused decrees that the actress whose box office value needs development shall be lost at sea, after a beach party, in a motor boat, and that after a few days of hue-and-cry, during which the lady was to be held incommunicado on dry land, a romantic rescue should take place. The "story" stirs up a mightly commotion among the editors, reporters and column writers of the land, and there is much bustle and confusion in the sanctum of the master mind, who begins to believe that he is a genius.

But presently the hoax gets out of hand. According to the plot, there is a ten years' prison sentence for such trifling with the truth and such practice of deceit upon the heroes of the coast guard and aviation rescue service. So when a menacing lieutenant of detectives invades the lair of the Hollywood Munchausen to ask embarrassing questions and use third degree methods the chief conspirator begins to feel acute mental distress.

And so the frenzied affair goes on, with dashes of melodrama alternating with spasms of farce. Elements of the Hollywood love life enter into the plot to complicate the situations. In the end, after the press agent has had his last despairing brain storm and is faced with exposure, disgrace, and jail, the grim detective is permitted to make the phony rescue and claim the $50,000 reward.

If "Louder, Please" were to be taken as a play that holds the mirror up to nature one would be compelled to express complete skepticism about the existence of the law that threatens every hoaxing press agent with ten years in a federal prison. But why take it that way? The piece is merely a merry jinks which seeks to demonstrate that the publicity men of Hollywood are louder and funnier than the late P. T. Barnum.

Frank Thomas, always an effective actor of hard, vigorous Americans, has the leading rôle, and plays it with gusto and speed. Leo Curley, who was the man hunter in "Subway Express," again demonstrates his skill in the depiction of first class sleuths. The other characters are in fairly capable hands.

Green's play "In Abraham's Bosom" was a Pulitzer prize winner, and his numerous works for the Carolina Playmakers enhanced the luster of the Chapel hill group.

A newcomer to Hollywood, where he is engaged on a screen adaptation, Green says:

"Every one in Hollywood talks freely of Hollywood's intellectual inferiority. Yet in New York and London and Berlin, I venture to say, it is not possible to find the stage or literature more intelligently discussed and analyzed than in the motion picture in this same Hollywood. There is no paucity of brains in Hollywood. The difficulty seems to be to get them to function together."

One of the small group which instituted and developed the "little theater" movement, Green forsees for the motion picture an organized development which will spread in it as an art movement to the college and community groups.

New Screen Guild Will Seek Leadership in Artistic Films

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 3.—Michael C. Levee, producer-executive who has resigned from Paramount; Cecil B. De Mille, Frank Lloyd, George Fitzmaurice, and other movie leaders together with A. P. Giannini, the banker, tonight launched a new enterprise, called the Screen Guild, which may partly answer the cry for better motion pictures and improved conditions within the industry.

According to Levee, the Screen Guild "will attempt to do for the movies in a measure what the Theater Guild has accomplished for the stage."

He explains that the Screen Guild corporation will have as stockholders men and women from higher ranks in all branches of the film industry, that it will have a specialized permanent business and production staff functioning for all pictures in which the guild is interested. Levee as president will head this business management corps. Cecil B. De Mille is treasurer.

The guild with funds provided by the stockholders will finance and manage each production that an individual producer launches under its sponsorship. The guild will take an interest in the profits of each production.

"The major portion of the profits on a production, however, will go to those engaged in creating," Levee said.

In many ways the guild methods of getting pictures financed, produced and displayed before the public will be methods never before attempted in the film business.

For instance, each guild production will become an investment trust administered through the trust department of the Bank of America, which with 500 branches throughout California is the biggest banking institution in the far west. Levee says "the guild will charge no interest or cash bonuses of any kind for use of its funds in financing guild productions."

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight")

Most people of outstanding skill in some particular line, whether it be golf, tennis, contract bridge, business, or politics, occasionally make moves which they are rather at a loss to explain. They seem, in fact, to be dictated by a sort of psychic second sense. Yesterday's play-a-problem is a concrete contract example. This was the hand:

NORTH (Dealer)
♠—K,10,9,8,6,5,4
♥—A,Q,J,2
♣—9

WEST
♥—K,7,6,5

EAST
♠—None
♥—9,8,4

SOUTH
♦—J,7,6,5
♣—J,8,2

North dealt and bid a heart, reversing the usual order of bidding because of the top strong hearts and the weak top spades. East made an attacking over-call of three clubs. South passed and West shifted the bid to three no-trumps. North now bid four spades. East passed. South passed and West bid four no-trump. Now the average East would have bid five clubs over the four spades and the average West would have allowed the five clubs to play. Played at clubs, North and South take in three heart tricks and a club trick. West, of course, explained his bidding by saying that he wanted his hand as the closed hand and wanted the strong North hand to lead up to it. Logical enough, except that this West was a player who ordinarily would not consider bidding four no-trumps with his opponents' suits each stopped but once. Yet see the result. Five no-trumps can be made against any opening with West declarer.

North opened the ♠ 10, which West took with the ace. He then led the ♣ 7 to dummy's ♣ A and took in all the rest of the club tricks in the dummy hand, discarding the ♠ 2 and ♥ 5-6 from his own hand. To the eighth trick dummy led the ♦ K and followed with the ♦ Q. To the tenth trick dummy led the ♦ 9, which declarer overtook with the ♦ A, leading back the ♦ 4, which dummy took with the ♦ 8. Dummy now, having only the ♥ 9 and 8, must lose the last two tricks to North's ♥ A and ♠ K, East and West making five-odd—their four no-trump bid and made and an extra trick.

WEST
♠—10,8,4,3,2
♥—K,J,6,5

♠—A,K

SOUTH
♠—Q,J,9
♦—K,10,8
♣—J,10,4,3

6 YRS. STOMACH TROUBLE STOPS

"For six years I suffered acid stomach trouble," says John M. Fontaine, Philadelphia, Pa. "I took many remedies, but none of them helped until I tried ACIDINE. Three minutes after taking the first dose I felt 100 per cent better. I feel better now than any other time in the past six years."

"ACIDINE is surely fine," says Mrs. Cerl of Minneapolis. "Had suffered sour stomach and heartburn 2 years. Then bought two packages of ACIDINE. It has helped me more than anything else I ever tried, and it is pleasant to take. I always keep it in the house and tell everyone about it."

End gas, sourness, heartburn, dizziness, sleeplessness, headache resulting from acidity. Maker guarantees ACIDINE ends your stomach trouble or money back. All druggists have ACIDINE.

LIKE millions of others she has been fooled! Fooled into thinking that dull, offensive-looking teeth are an affliction she must endure simply because ordinary brushing has failed to make them white and attractive. Don't you make this mistake.

You can have teeth that others will admire. Just use a half-inch of antiseptic Kolynos on a dry brush twice a day. And much sooner than you expected your teeth will look like you want them to.

When it enters the mouth Kolynos instantly foams into every tiny crevice. It washes away stain and discoloration. It erases tartar. Then it does what no ordinary toothpaste can do . . . It kills millions of germs that pour into the mouth and cause tooth and gum troubles and bad breath.

This double-action actually cleans teeth as they should be cleaned—right down to the beautiful, natural white enamel without injury. It stimulates and invigorates the gums and purifies the mouth.

Now don't let your teeth look uncared-for another day. A half-inch of antiseptic Kolynos on a dry brush morning and night will quickly make them flashing white and keep them sound. Try it.

BROOKFIELD ACTS TO MEET MENACE OF FIRE AS 5 DIE

The village of Brookfield will take steps at once, Village President James F. Mansfield said yesterday, to prevent a recurrence of the fire tragedy which early yesterday cost the lives of five residents of the suburb from suffocation and burns. The victims were trapped in the burning home of Walter W. Sneathen, 73 years old, at 3635 Grand boulevard. The house had been newly decorated and fresh paint added to the fumes which overcame them.

Half a dozen inhalator squads, summoned from nearby towns and plants of public utility companies, failed in their efforts to resuscitate the five victims. It was this circumstance which caused President Mansfield to declare that Brookfield immediately would purchase an inhalator for its own use in cases of emergency.

Five Dead in Tragedy.

Besides Mr. Sneathen, who was a retired superintendent for the American Railway Express company, those killed in the fire were Miss Louise Lothane Sneathen, 23 years old, his daughter; Mrs. Bessie Hepburn, 35 years old, wife of Sneathen's stepson, Leighton Hepburn, and her two children, Gertie, 8 years old, and William, 5 years old.

Hepburn escaped the fire by dropping from a second story window, after he had been aroused by the shouts of Joseph Gardiner, a neighbor, who discovered the blaze on his way home. Hepburn was slightly burned and suffered other minor injuries.

"I am certain," said President Mansfield, who is an undertaker, "that all five of the victims were dead when they were carried from the burning house by firemen. But the fire pointed out our need of an inhalator, and we will buy one if we have to borrow the money to pay for it."

Overheated Furnace Blamed.

An overheated furnace is believed to have caused the fire. Saturday evening was chilly, Mr. Mansfield said, and he believes that the draft of the furnace was opened and forgotten by occupants of the house when they went to bed.

The paints and other materials used in decorating the house had been left on the first floor. The flames reached them before the persons in the house were aroused, and they added to the fumes and smoke which filled the upper rooms. The stairs were burned away and firemen used ladders to carry the bodies of the victims from the blazing home. The interior of the building was destroyed.

Sneathen lost his life, apparently, because he tried to dress after he was aroused. His body, partly clothed, was found a few feet from a window. He had been overcome and received burns where he fell. Miss Sneathen was killed by the fumes and smoke. Her body, untouched by fire, was found on her bedroom floor.

Mrs. Hepburn and her two children were badly burned. The children had crawled under their bed, and their mother apparently lost her life while attempting to drag them out.

Funeral services for all five victims will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday in the Mansfield undertaking rooms in Brookfield. Burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery at Forest Park.

Zep Hops for Brazil, but Returns; Rudder Damaged

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, April 4.—[Monday.]—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, took off for Pernambuco, Brazil, at 5:50 a. m. today, but returned to the air drome again 50 minutes later and prepared to land. Damage to the ship's rudders during the takeoff was the cause ascribed for the failure to continue the flight.

THOUSANDS ATTEND FUNERAL SERVICES FOR VESTAL, G. O. P. LEADER

Anderson, Ind., April 3.—[Special.]—The largest funeral ever conducted in Anderson was that of Representative Albert H. Vestal, Republican whip of the house, who died at Washington on Friday. In the throng were 18 senators and representatives and public officials of Indiana. To prevent crowding, the doors of the First Presbyterian church were closed against hundreds. Several thousand persons were at Maplewood cemetery where, after final prayer by the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the house, the American Legion conducted military rites, including salute of guns and taps by buglers.

No longer does the modern child end his day with the old familiar prayer beginning, "Now I lay me down to sleep . . ." Instead, he starts the day by praying, "Now I rise me up to work," William Aitchison, Blue Island attorney, a former Congregational minister, told 150 persons at the first services yesterday of the Rogers Park Community church.

The new church is the outgrowth of the controversy of Dr. Howard Dabbs, Rogers Park physician, with the authorities of the Rogers Park Congregational church, Morse and Ashland avenues. They forced his resignation as leader of the boys' Sunday school class a week ago. It was their contention that he had subordinated religion to a program of social and athletic activities.

Altar Set Up on Stage.

Members of the Bible class which Dr. Dabbs had led for five years seceded from the church to form the nucleus of the new congregation, which held its first services yesterday in the Howard theater, 1621 Howard avenue. A small white altar was set up on the stage for the services. The new congregation included a number of girls and young married couples in addition to the boys who were Dr. Dabbs' pupils in the other church.

Mr. Aitchison, speaking on "Modern Religion," set forth his requirements for a practical religion for the man of today.

"The great need of modern people is a religion free from negation, an affirmative faith," he said. "We must get away from 'Thou shalt not' and substitute 'Let's do.'

Urges a Broader Religion.

"Modern religion should be one that can rise above denominationalism. It should be so broad as to have as its basis the idea of all humanity working together for human happiness. That is the proper objective for young people to have before them.

Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray the Lord my soul to keep.
If I should die before I wake,
I pray the Lord my soul to take.

"Instead of that," went on Mr. Aitchison, "we of the modern religion pray this way:

Now I rise me up to work,
If I should die before the night,

Dabbs to Continue Dances.

Dr. Dabbs also spoke to the congregation. The Friday night dances for young people, considered one of the reasons for his ouster from his former position, will be continued at the Rogers Park Woman's club, he announced.

Dr. Dabbs expressed the hope that eventually a Rogers Park community center will grow from the new church. At present, he said, there is no place in the community for the supervised social activities of young people. The new church will be nondenominational, he said, and will welcome all people, whatever their age, so long as they are "young in mind."

Cops Spot McGinty in Dark by White Bundle He Carries

Hospital Patients Jarred by Laundry Bomb Blast

Patients in the Mercy hospital, 2537 Prairie avenue, were jarred late last night by a bomb explosion in the rear of the Wayte Laundry company plant, 2443 Cottage Grove avenue, two blocks away. The alarmed patients were calmed by nurses and internes. The blast did about $100 damage to the laundry and shattered several windows of neighboring structures. Police could trace no motive for the bombing.

BUTLER UTTERS PRAYER BEFORE POLITICAL TALKS

Philadelphia, Pa., April 3.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler utters a prayer before he begins every speech in his campaign against Senator James J. Davis for the Republican nomination, he told the men's bible class at the Marble Presbyterian church at Bromall today.

"I do swear," he said, "but here's a queer quirk. Before I get up to speak I make a prayer. I ask the Lord to please help me say and do the right thing, and it's been a big help. If the Lord doesn't want me to do this, I won't succeed."

"You need not put me in office if you don't expect me to help cure things, even if I have to tear things down," he told the class.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LIMA, Peru, April 3.—A vast tropical "Siberia" on the far side of the Andes, where the unexplored jungle of the Amazon sweeps across the border into Bolivia and Brazil, is the "unknown destination" of communist agitators of the Aprist persuasion, under the recently approved "defense of the realm" act. This was revealed by statements made during discussions in the Peruvian congress.

Evanston J. P. Has Date with Redhead in Wife Hunt

The announcement of Justice of the Peace Samuel Harrison, 79 years old, of Evanston, that he was seeking a wife brought a heavy response he revealed last night. In fact, he said, he has a "date," made over the telephone, with a Titian haired prospect for tomorrow night. Justice Harrison said the successful candidate must be upward of 21 years of age but not too old. In twenty-nine years of service he has performed 1,600 marriage ceremonies.

BOARD TO RUSH MODEL SCHOOL FOR 1933 FAIR

Hope to Ask for Bids by June 1.

In an effort to make up for delay in getting the project under way, plans for Chicago's educational exhibit at the World's Fair, a model school, are being rushed to completion, according to Don C. Rogers, director of research and building survey. It is probable that plans for the $400,000 structure will be completed and bids asked for by June 1, he said.

The new building is to be located at 41st street and Lake Park avenue, three blocks from the south end of the exposition site. At present, Mr. Rogers said, there are 555 children attending school in portable buildings on this site.

Presents Two Opportunities.

"This situation presented an opportunity to kill two birds with one stone," Mr. Rogers said, "to relieve an unfortunate seat shortage and participate in the Century of Progress exposition with a building that will show a century of progress in school organization and school building construction. The school must be erected anyway, and thus participation in the exposition will cost taxpayers nothing extra.

Six Grade School.

"The building itself is to be a six grade school, with a pupil capacity of 742, two stories high, without basement, and of steel construction, with brick or stone exterior. Architects throughout the country have coöperated with John C. Christensen, school board architect, and the sketches have been revised seventeen times.

"It will be the best planned school building in America."

LABOR MEETING URGES CALUMET WATERWAY PLAN

Resolutions indorsing the proposed federal Calumet-Sag waterway project and a bill pending in congress providing for prevailing wage scales on all federal construction work were adopted yesterday by the Midwest labor conference. The conference, with some 300 degelates, closed its annual meeting at Joliet.

The resolution on the Calumet development, on which army engineers have conducted a survey and are to report to congress, stated that it calls for the expenditure of $50,000,000, will provide employment and increase the taxing value of property in the South Chicago area. The development would connect Lake Michigan and the sanitary and ship canal and provide harbor improvements and terminal facilities.

The labor delegates favor the prevailing union wage scale on all federal construction projects, including rivers and harbors, because they believe the contractors would then employ union labor.

Nurse Infected by Baby May Lose Sight of Eye

Miss Frances Wiley, 22 years old, a nurse at the county hospital, will probably lose the sight of her left eye as the result of a severe case of opthamilitis contracted from a baby she was treating. Dr. Richard Perritt of the hospital staff said yesterday. She was irrigating the eyes of the child, which were infected, with an antiseptic solution, and is so doing infected her own eye.

BIRTH RATE GOES DOWN; FINLAND REVISES DEFENSE

HELSINGFORS, Finland, April 3.—A declining birth rate in the male population of Finland is one of the reasons for a radical reorganization by the general staff of the country's system of defense.

During the period from 1904 to 1913 the yearly average of boys born within what now constitute the Finish borders was 47,000. During the next five year period the figure fell to 41,400, and now it has declined still further to about 39,800. Thus army plans now must be redrawn conforming to the possible number of recruits.

Another reason for reorganization is to facilitate mobilization. Under the present system a certain number of troops are garrisoned on the frontiers, while the rest of the peacetime army is stationed at inland posts. In event these troops were needed at the borders the old plan provided that they should act as nuclei around which reserves could be called before dispatch to the front. Under the new system troops can be sent into action at once, reserves following as soon as they have assembled.

FIRES AT CROWD IN CHURCH FETE; ONE DEAD, 4 HURT

Laurel, Del., April 3.—(AP)—An enraged celebrant of a Portsville church festival last night stood in the doorway and fired 16 shots from a repeating rifle into a screaming crowd of men, women and children who fought to escape through the windows and a small rear door.

When it was over five bodies lay on the floor. One man was dead and four seriously wounded.

Witnesses said the shooting followed upon a quarrel over a girl. Some one struck Holland and he became so angered, authorities were told, that he ran from the building and procured his .22 caliber rifle from his automobile.

The slain man was George Jones, 24. Carlton Gayle and Samuel Birch are believed to be dying in Peninsula General hospital. George Johnson and Edward Gaines are the other victims.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., April 3.—The Cubs delivered their annual farewell to California this afternoon, but they didn't say it with base hits. Instead they folded up on attack and Pittsburgh's Pirates, led by an American association rookie, Bill Swift, made it three out of four in the concluding Pacific slope series. The score was 5 to 3. The Chicagoans at least did well to count that many runs on a half dozen hits, one of which was a home run by Vin Barton.

The Pirates not only fielded sensationally behind Swift, but pulled an unexpected surprise by taking the venerable Burleigh Grimes for a ride. The hero of the last world's series either was not properly warmed up for the job at hand or else hoped to succeed without revealing his complete stock in trade. Anyway, the Pirate bats beat a maddening tattoo on his offerings in the first inning and weren't induced to cease until six hits had scored four runs. After that Burleigh was fairly effective, but it was too late to make his effort count for anything.

They're Glad to See Grimes.

Exactly nine Pirates took a hand in the jovial reception accorded Grimes in the first inning. Lloyd Waner singled and brother Paul sent him to third with a two bagger. Jensen beat out a single to deep short, L. Waner scoring. Traynor was given a single on a grounder Hack should have smothered, and this sent P. Waner over the plate. Herman staged a sensational dive to force Traynor at second on Suhr's bounder. A double to left by Piet scored Jensen. Suhr was out at the plate on Thevenow's tap. Piet registered the fourth run of the jamboree on a fluke Texas league single by Brenzel.

The Cubs tried to give Swift a thorough going over in the second and would have succeeded if it hadn't been for the surprising agility of Lloyd Waner in center. Barton started the affair with a home run over the bleacher screen in right center. Stephenson walked, ran as far as third on English's double and home on Grimm's fly to left. Then Waner put the rally out of business. He raced over to his left to capture a low liner off Hemsley's bat and a moment later duplicated the trick on a treacherous drive by Grimes.

Hemsley Cuts Rally Short.

After his shaky start Grimes turned in three innings in which Traynor was the only Pirate to record a hit. But in the fifth the Pirates swarmed on the veteran spitball pitcher with a few choice safeties. Traynor also played a part in this. With two out he doubled to left center and scored on Suhr's looping single in front of Barton. There would have been another run if Hemsley hadn't intervened. Piet doubled to right center and Suhr tried to score, but Hemsley, reaching for Herman's relay, turned and dove into Suhr's spikes just as he was sliding into the plate.

Hornsby's men fell heir to a run in the eighth, but only two hits were involved. Richbourg started the inning in the rôle of pinch batter for Grimes, who decided he had worked long enough. Richbourg merely fouled out. Hack then singled over second and tore for third on Herman's single to center. Cuyler bounced into a force out of Herman and while this was being pulled off Hack hiked home.

Cubs Win 15; Lose 10.

The Cubs' barnstorming junket in California was neither a howling success nor a disappointment from the standpoint of victories and trimmings. They collected 15 wins while assimilating 10 defeats. Five of the jolts were administered in eight games with the Giants. Two games with the Tigers were divided, and one win was collected in the four against the Pirates. The only other setback was the work of the Mission Coast league outfit.

A special train conveyed the Pirates and Cubs away from here early this evening. They will resume their warfare with exhibitions at Fort Worth and Dallas, Tex., on Tuesday and Wednesday.

How I Got My Start in Baseball

BY LEW FONSECA.

[As Told to Edward Burns.]

LEW FONSECA.

Little Rock, Ark., April 3.—Like every able-bodied kid in the San Francisco-Oakland sector, I first played baseball because I liked the game. And I kept on playing it because the idea of getting money for something I would have been willing to do for nothing intrigued my imagination.

I studied music—singing—for five years during my youth, and for the last year and a half of this period I also studied dentistry. As all students know, tuition requires the payment of money for the sometimes irksome privilege of studying. So baseball furnished just the opposite of this ratio when it paid me for playing.

What's a Tooth or Two Compared with a $5 Bill?

Although I had visions of a grand opera career, the $5 I got from the Alameda team for playing on Sunday seemed like soft money. Then Richmond gave me $10 each Sunday. Things were looking up, but singing and dentistry remained my major interests. Next came Petaluma with $25 for each Sunday's play. I still was interested in singing, but I began to wonder about dentistry.

Scouts from the San Francisco club had watched me play and asked me to take up baseball as a career. I told them about my singing and my dentistry, and they said they'd give me $250 more if I would.

So I took the $250 and still had time to study music and dentistry. But at the end of the month I had an offer of $50 a month to go to an outlaw team in Smithfield, Utah. That's when dentistry fell by the wayside. But I continued to sing.

Baseball and Singing Go Together, It Seems.

Then in 1921 when I wanted to return to my dentistry, Cincinnati offered me expenses to Cincinnati and a $1,500 bonus for signing a very satisfactory contract. I decided I didn't care to pull teeth anyhow.

After my first year in Cincinnati my singing stood me in good stead, for I not only got bookings on the Keith circuit at $400 a week, but I won a $1,000 raise from Garry Herrmann when he heard me sing.

Rickard Estate $350,000 at Death, Accounting Shows

New York, April 3.—(AP)—The late George [Tex] Rickard, sports promoter, left an estate of less than $350,000 when he died three years ago, an accounting showed today.

The accounting, approved by Surrogate John P. O'Brien, showed Rickard's widow, Mrs. Maxine Elliott Rickard, their child, and other heirs received $113,063. There remains about $79,000 to be distributed.

Blocks of worthless stock in 53 different corporations and numerous unpaid personal notes listed among the promoter's assets reduce the original estimates of his wealth.

Rickard's interest in the Miami dog track, which cost him more than $250,000, was sold for $10,000.

Little Rock, Ark., April 3.—The White Sox and the Little Rock Travelers this afternoon put on as swell an exhibition encounter as you'd ever want to see in the spring. The Chicagoans won, 1 to 0, and for the second day in succession Sox pitchers allowed a total of only three hits.

Bump Hadley allowed only one single in five innings and Vic Frasier two singles in four innings, one of them a bit scratchy. As further evidence of the effectiveness of the two pitching gentlemen, it is pointed out that only four chances were accepted in the outfield.

Hayes' Hit Scores Grube.

Proceeding past the stardom of the pitchers, the laurel wreath rested on the brow of Jack Hayes. Jack drove in the only run with one of the Sox' seven hits, after the Travelers had got in a jam as a result of their first base on balls. There were two out in the eighth when Frank Grube ran in with that lone run.

In addition to smacking the essential hit, Hayes accepted 13 chances, some of them being smart to an extreme degree. Appling at short had 11 chances, and accepted 10 of them, his misplay in the first inning being the only error of the game.

It was fitting that such a fine game should end with a double play, the second executed by the Sox. Jahn got the third Little Rock hit with one out in the ninth, and for a moment there was some tenseness. But the game was concluded when Appling picked up Manager Strohm's grounder and started a double play with a shot to Hayes.

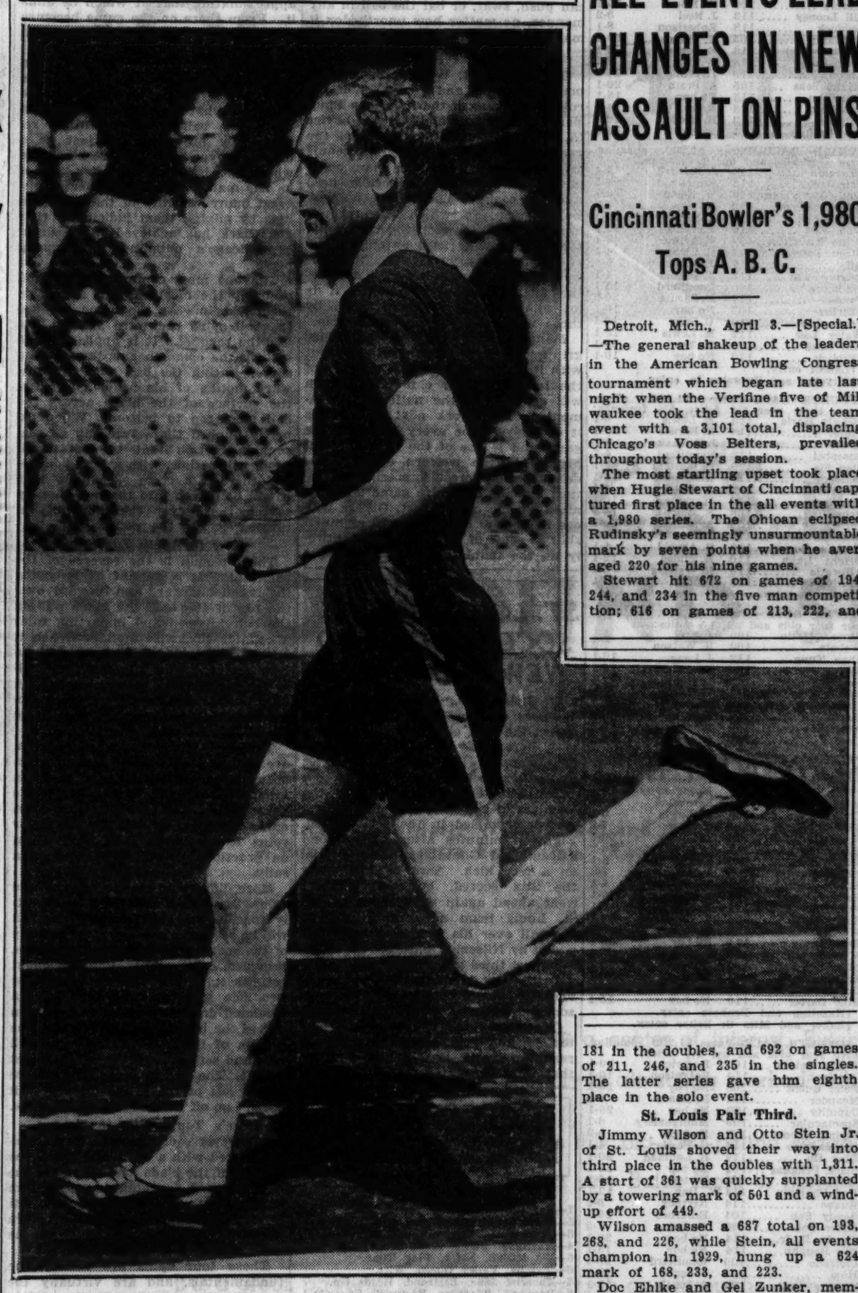
OUT OF OLYMPICS?



Paavo Nurmi, Finnish distance runner, suspended from participation in international athletics yesterday, will be barred from the Olympic games in Los Angeles if pro charges against him are found true.

Nurmi Suspended Until He Proves He's an Amateur

BERLIN, April 3.—(AP)—Paavo Nurmi, one of the greatest runners of all time and Finland's chief hope in the marathon at the 1932 Olympics in Los Angeles, came under ban of the International Amateur Athletic federation here today.

The federation suspended Nurmi from participation in international athletics pending the result of an inquiry into his amateur status now being undertaken by the Finnish Athletic association.

J. Sigfrid Edstroem of Sweden, president of the International federation, refused to give the grounds for Nurmi's preliminary suspension. He said the matter now lay before the Finnish association at Helsingfors.

Finns in Bad Spot.

The Finnish association, ordered several weeks ago by the I. A. A. F. to investigate Nurmi's status and report to the international body before the start of the Olympic games, faces an unpleasant situation if it discovers proof of the charges laid against the flying Finn.

In that event it will be forced to rule Nurmi ineligible for the Olympics and lose the services of a runner who already holds six gold Olympic medals and who, despite his 34 years, has been reckoned an outstanding contender for the 1932 Olympic marathon title and a possible point winner in the 10,000 meters as well.

Consider Ladoumegue Case.

The federation also considered the case of Jules Ladoumegue, French middle distance runner, whose name recently was stricken from the rolls of the French Amateur Athletic federation on charges of professionalism. At today's meeting French members of the international federation submitted evidence to justify the French organization's drastic action.

Nurmi won his six Olympic titles over three Olympiads, those of 1920, 1924 and 1928. He won the 10,000 meters run and 10,000 meters cross-country run in 1920, the 10,000 meters cross-country, 5,000 meters and 1,500 meters in 1924, and the 10,000 meters in 1928.

Nurmi still is listed as holding 11 official world's records, although one or two of these have been bettered and may eventually be accepted by the I. A. A. F. In the latest track and field guide he is listed as world's record holder at one mile, three miles, four miles, five miles, 10 miles, 3,000 meters, 5,000 meters, 10,000 meters, and 15,000 meters, as well as holding the record for running one hour both in miles and meters.

ALL-EVENTS LEAD CHANGES IN NEW ASSAULT ON PINS

Detroit, Mich., April 3.—[Special.]—The general shakeup of the leaders in the American Bowling Congress tournament which began late last night when the Verifine five of Milwaukee took the lead in the team event with a 3,101 total, displacing Chicago's Voss Belters, prevailed throughout today's session.

The most startling upset took place when Hugie Stewart of Cincinnati captured first place in the all events with a 1,980 series. The Ohioan eclipsed Rudinsky's seemingly unsurmountable mark by seven points when he averaged 220 for his nine games.

Stewart hit 672 on games of 194, 244, and 234 in the five man competition; 616 on games of 213, 222, and 181 in the doubles, and 692 on games of 211, 246, and 235 in the singles. The latter series gave him eighth place in the solo event.

St. Louis Pair Third.

Jimmy Wilson and Otto Stein Jr. of St. Louis shoved their way into third place in the doubles with 1,311. A start of 361 was quickly supplanted by a towering mark of 501 and a wind-up effort of 449.

Wilson amassed a 687 total on 193, 268, and 226, while Stein, all events champion in 1929, hung up a 624 mark of 168, 233, and 223.

Doc Ehlke and Gel Zunker, members of the leading Verifines, rolled into fourth berth in the doubles with a 1,306 series. The Cream City stars counted 446 and 458, but three splits by Ehlke in the last game held their mark to 402. Zunker totaled 660 on games of 199, 233, and 228, and Ehlke 646 on games of 247, 225, and 174.

Chicago Bowlers Falter.

Jimmy Bailey of Syracuse, N. Y., tied for tenth in the all events with Jess Pritchett of Indianapolis when he hung up a nine game total of 1,899. Bailey counted 579 in the team event, 655 as his doubles mark, and registered 665 in the singles.

Two Chicago bowlers blew excellent chances in the singles. Both could have soared among the solo leaders with any sort of a punch in the last game.

Lou Levine opened with 225 and 253, but an error and a split in the last game gave him 198 and a 676 total. He climbed to sixth place in the all events, having shot 651 in the team event and 586 in the doubles, for a 1,913 aggregate.

Frank Milock, Chicago youngster, broke loose with 226 and 268, but could not stand the pace. A split and an error dropped him to 175 at the finish. His 669, however, will finish in the prize money.

Chicago Team Gets 2,266.

Al Gelstein and Louie Strouse topped Chicago doubles teams today with a 1,366 total in games of 385, 437 and 444. Al Devries and Andy Peterson were next with 1,251.

Strouse followed his 650 doubles series with 658 in the singles. He opened with a pair of 224 games and completed his A. B. C. workout with 210. Strouse totaled 1,882, having shot 574 in the team event.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Chicago's Shamrocks, the youngest team in professional hockey, won their first start in championship competition last night, defeating the Duluth Hornets, 2 to 1, at the Stadium in the opening game of the American league title series.

It was the tenth consecutive triumph for the Chicagoans, who finished the regular season with nine victories. Five thousand persons saw the game, the only American league championship encounter ever conducted in Chicago.

Duluth, with only two days' rest after the final game of its four piece semi-final series against Kansas City, was outskated by the Shamrocks throughout, particularly in the first period when the Chicagoans scored their two goals. Later, however, the Hornets warmed to their attack and narrowly missed tying the score in the closing minutes of the game.

Meet Again Tuesday.

The teams meet at the Stadium again Tuesday night in the second contest of the five game series, which is decided on a best three out of five basis.

It was difficult to associate a championship with the play of the first few minutes, but midway in the opening period Manager Babe Dye sent back his kid line of Wiseman, Riley and Prelesnik. In the space of two minutes this trio had scored two goals, which constituted the Chicagoans' advantage at the end of the period.

Buswell provided all except the scoring shot in the making of the first goal. He took the puck from the Hornet forwards in the Shamrocks' defending zone and skated down the left side. The Duluth defense men, Stuart and Davis, both went over to meet him, leaving the way clear for Wiseman to skate in unmolested on the right. Wiseman took Buswell's pass and in the next stride pitched a short shot past Turner in 11:08.

Display Flawless Passing.

A minute later a scrimmage developed around the Shamrock cage and Riley came up with the puck. He skated down center ice to the Duluth defense, then passed to Wiseman. Peewee carried the puck down the boards, outskating Leswick, and circled the cage. He then passed out to Prelesnik, who picked up the puck directly in front of Turner and hammered it into the net under the goalie's outstretched arms in 12:50.

The next goal was anything but brilliant hockey. Anderson scored it for Duluth in eight minutes of the second period, and it came as a result of negligence on the part of Karakas, the Shamrock goalie. A Duluth foray was all but spent along in right corner, when Karakas directed his attentions to the left side, regaling O'Neill, a teammate, with conversation. Anderson fired from way out into what was virtually an open cage. The puck accidentally struck Karakas on the hand on the way in, but did no damage.

Third Period Fastest.

The remainder of the period was interesting with a modicum of swiftness and bumping, but belied the importance of the stake for which the teams were competing. Karakas had several narrow escapes, but seemed little annoyed by the experience.

Third period play was the most spirited of the evening, with action starting when Stuart was off the ice for slashing. The Shamrocks then played a four man offensive, but effort was futile. When Stuart returned, the Hornets began a five man attack in an attempt to tie the score, but all it tied up was Johnson and Lessard, who were banished in the last 20 seconds for fighting.

ABC's of Ping Pong Are Easy--Now Put Sidespin on Ball

BY STEWART OWEN.

The novice who takes up pingpong with the idea of whiling away a few hours at a congenial and mildly strenuous pastime, can do so with virtually no instruction. He needs to know only that the ball is served from the end of the table by striking it with the racquet so that it bounces from his side of the table over the net onto his opponent's side and that it must be returned by striking it after the first bounce so that it shall pass over the net and fall upon the playing surface on the other side.

With that knowledge, a racket, a ball, and an opponent, he can go ahead and have as much fun as he wants trying to hit the ball. He can hold the racquet any why he wishes without violating the rules and he can push, swat, or bat the ball in any manner, no matter how unorthodox it may seem to the initiated.

Advises Tennis Grip.

Coleman Clark, Western open pingpong champion, and a member of the rules committee of the American Pingpong association, advises the novice to grip the racquet handle just as the racquet is held in tennis. The tennis grip, which he uses, is the more popular of the two most generally used and the easier. The other—the penholder grip, in which the racquet handle is held between the thumb and the forefinger—is used by only a few of the more expert players. While it is a legal grip and violates none of the finer ethics of the game, it is looked upon with a tolerant smile by those who advocate the tennis grip.

Many players use the penholder grip and some become quite proficient with it. D. W. McEwan, a member of the Inter-fraternity club team, which will compete in the national tournament in New York next week, uses it exclusively for every phase of the game and is one of the most forceful players in the western district. His drives seem almost impossible to return and his defensive game is recognized as one of the best. Others who use it seem to have acquired as much skill as some of those who rely entirely on the tennis grip, but they have done so, perhaps, in spite of their eccentricities rather than because of them, very much like a consistent home run hitter who persists, despite general disapproval of his batting stance, in hitting the ball over the fence with one foot in the water bucket.

So you can take your choice. If you can drive a golf ball 476 yards with a cross-handed grip, you probably can play pingpong to your own satisfaction with the penholder grip, and after all it's very largely nobody else's business.

Accuracy Next Step.

Once the novice has learned to keep the ball on the table with more or less regularity, it is only a step, accomplished by practice, to the point where he can place the ball on a spot approximating that at which he aims it. From there on the game becomes a science, in which the spin, as used by experts, is a large factor.

By use of a spin of some sort on every ball he serves, Mr. Clark knows instinctively before he ever hits the ball just what it is going to do and where the ball probably will be returned by his opponent, just as a billiard player knows before he shoots where the ball will be after and if he has made his carom. There are a great many varieties of the spin, and it is by mixing them judiciously that Mr. Clark has achieved the position of Chicago's outstanding pingpong player.

The one most commonly used and probably the most easy to master is the backspin. As the name implies, the ball spins backward after it has left the racquet. It is applied to the ball by the common chop stroke, the server hitting the ball with a downward motion of his paddle, dragging the surface of the blade across the ball from top to bottom. When expertly applied the server can be reasonably certain that the return, if good, will be low, with a long bounce, and there is a large probability that it will be driven into the net, thereby saving the server the labor of returning it for the point.

How to Apply Top Spin.

The top spin is the reverse of the back spin. It is applied by sweeping the racquet upward and forward over the top of the ball, the blade pulling the ball forward and imparting to it a counter clockwise motion. When it strikes the table the bounce will be long and low, but the tendency will be for the receiver to return it with a high bounce placing the server in position for a smashing kill shot or to overshoot the table entirely.

These two spins, the easiest to learn, are the most commonly used and can be mastered sufficiently to make a great improvement in the beginner's game with steady practice. Good players, of course, do not confine their spins to the serve, but apply them on practically every stroke during a rally.

More difficult to master are the side spins. Mr. Clark uses them so expertly that he is almost certain the ball will be returned in the general vicinity of the spot where he wants it to come, provided, of course, that his opponent returns it at all. The first of these two side spins is that applied in a forehand drive. The racquet is drawn across the body from right to left, the bottom of the blade striking the ball first and setting it spinning from right to left. The return invariably will be to the left of the server's court, if it doesn't go off the left side of the table.

These four spins are merely the fundamentals, and are virtually the same as those more generally used in tennis, but any one who masters the four of them probably won't have to worry to any great extent about the more intricate ones. He will know enough about pingpong to beat 99 per cent of the players he is likely to meet.

ST. LOUIS LOSES SOCCER TITLE TO NEW BEDFORD, 5-2

St. Louis, Mo., April 3.—(AP)—The Whalers of New Bedford, Mass., defeated the Stix eleven of St. Louis, 5 to 2, here today to win the national championship in the United States Football association title playoff.

The Stix team, after holding the Whalers to a scoreless tie in the first period, crumbled in the final period. Eighteen minutes after the second half started Gonsalves made a goal on a free kick. Two minutes later the Stix scored, but the Whalers went ahead again when Erbe of the St. Louis team accidentally pushed the ball over his own goal line after a shot by Nilsen. Gonsalves made the Whalers' third goal.

In the last 15 minutes the Whalers made two more counters, by McPherson and Florez.

Today was the teams' second contest for the national trophy, a 3-3 tie resulting from last Sunday's game that went two extra periods.

got a man to second base in the first five innings. The Travelers once succeeded in getting the bases full in that span. Only 17 men faced Hughes and 19 faced Hadley.

The only jam in the first half of the game came in the Travelers' third. Whitney led off with the lone hit off Hadley, a single to left, and was forced by Hughes. Nicolai walked, and when he was forced by French Hughes reached third. Hadley threw two strikes to Griffin, then four straight balls to fill the bases. The inning ended when Hadley whizzed three straight strikes past Shaner.

Blue Caught at Third.

The goose egg chain prevailed despite a double by Blue and a single by Selph in the seventh inning. After Campbell had fanned, Blue knocked the first long one of the day, a liner which rolled to the far distant fence in left center. It was a jogging double, but when Lu tried to stretch it to triple he was out at third by an eyelash. Selph followed with a long line single to center and stole second, but Appling was thrown out by Nicolai.

Karr gave up the first Traveler pass when he threw four wide ones to Grube to start the eighth. Frasier laid down an ideal sacrifice. Jahn went to the fence to make a fine catch of Anderson's drive, but Hayes came through with a single to left center which sent home Grube. Simons singled to right and Hayes went to third, then Campbell grounded out to Redfern.

Travelers' Second Hit.

The Travelers got credit for their second hit when Karr's low liner handcuffed Campbell to start the eighth. After that Nicolai forced Karr and French forced Nicolai. Griffin then flied to Simons.

The Sox now have won 11 games out of 12 and today's clash, obviously, was the most encouraging of the season, especially since the enemy pitching was done by two foxy veterans who did much to land the Travelers in second place in the Southern association last year. After today's game the Sox moved over to Memphis to play the Memphis Chicks tomorrow. Then they will proceed to Nashville for a one day stand against the Nashville Volunteers.

HENNEPIN AND DAMEN VICTORS IN K. OF C. GAMES

Loyola and Madonna Also Win Battles.

Loyola-Hyde Park of the south division, Damen and Hennepin-Shields of the west division, and Madonna of the central division will fight it out for the Knights of Columbus Basketball league championship, it was determined yesterday, when they won their quarter final games before 5,000 fans at the 132d regiment armory.

Loyola eliminated Perez of the south division, 19 to 8, Hennepin nosed out Lafayette of the central, 20 to 14, Madonna won from Santa Maria of the south end, 23 to 19, and Damen beat Quigley of central, 29 to 19.

Semi-finals Wednesday.

The semi-finals will be held at the 132d regiment armory Wednesday night, with Loyola-Hyde Park meeting Hennepin and Madonna opposing Damen. The two winners will clash Sunday for the league title.

Damen, the defending champion, was given a battle by Quigley and was outplayed much of the way. The west siders jumped into a 6 to 0 lead in the first few minutes, but Quigley pulled up on even terms several times during the half. The second period ended with Damen in front, 12 to 9. The last half was a close struggle until the last five minutes, when Kluchinskas and Budrik caged five baskets between them.

Madonna, central division champion, had difficulty stopping Santa Maria. Johnny Ivers and Austie Ayers scored all of Madonna's points in the second half, staving off a rally led by Kandyba and Motz.

Hennepin Leads at Half.

With Cunningham stopped by Lafayette's brilliant guarding, Husfield, Ohlenroth and Fitzgerald came to Hennepin's rescue with enough points to win the hardest battle of the afternoon. The two teams were never more than a few points apart until the last five minutes. At the half Hennepin led, 12 to 9.

Airtight guarding was evidenced in the Loyola-Perez clash. The losers were held to two baskets. Williams and Connors scored 15 of Loyola's points, most of them in the last five minutes, when the Perez defense weakened.

In addition to the two semi-final games in the championship bracket Wednesday night, the losers of yesterday's contests will pair off in the consolation round. Perez will meet Lafayette and Quigley will play Santa Maria.

Eleanor Holm Breaks Own 100 Yard Swimming Mark

New York, April 3.—(AP)—Eleanor Holm of the Women's Swimming association, New York, bettered her own world's record for the 100 yard backstroke swim in winning the Metropolitan A. A. U. senior championship today. Miss Holm was timed in 1:11 3-5, two-fifths of a second better than her listed mark of 1:12, set at Miami Beach in 1930. In another feature event, Cornelia Gilson, 16 year old diver, defeated Mrs. Helen Meany Halfe, 1928 olympic springboard champion.

Uniform Fishing Laws Planned by Lake States

BY BOB BECKER.

Fishermen may see Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota gradually work toward more uniform fishing regulations with respect to size limits of game fish, etc. This developed a few days ago in a discussion among M. J. Fox, chairman of the Michigan conservation commission; William E. McEwan, head of the Minnesota commission, and Haskell Noyes, chairman of the Wisconsin conservation commission, in Milwaukee.

These three were attending a tri-state meeting of timberland owners and representatives of wood using industries called by E. W. Tinker, district forester of the great lakes states.

As far as we know it was the first time the heads of the conservation commissions of the three great recreational central western states have gotten together for a discussion of mutual problems involving the fishermen and the hunter.

It was pointed out in the discussion that fishermen traveling from one state to another are constantly confused by fishing regulations which have little or no uniformity. What one state considers a legal length walleyed pike may be an undersized fish in a neighboring state.

One of the most interesting questions discussed was: Aren't trout fishermen willing to pay an extra dollar license if they can fish a stream that has been stocked full of trout, thus furnishing the best possible sport?

McEwen said this plan was going to be tried out on a stream in Minnesota with a hatchery at the head of the river, the plan calls for heavy plantings beyond the usual number of fish usually placed in a stream. A special license would be required to cast flies on this extra good trout waters.

WHEN GIRLS' FIVE ENDED SEASON

Hazel Kelfstrom of the Taylor Trunks girls' basketball team, which ended its season last night with a 14 to 10 defeat at the hands of the Wishbone A. C. boys' quintet. The Trunks seldom have been extended by a woman's team and have won from several men's teams. Miss Kelfstrom's playing has been a factor in the successful season just closed.

Bruin Quintet Beats Purdue Stars, 24 to 23

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Chicago Bruins professional basketball team last night defeated an all star quintet from Purdue university which presented Johnny Wooden, leading scorer of the Western conference, in its lineup. The final score, after 40 minutes of thrilling play, was, Bruins, 24; Purdue, 23. Three thousand, a capacity crowd, saw the game at the Fronton.

The Purdue stars might have won had they been able to check the Chicago pros in the first ten minutes. In that time the visitors, all of whom have played on Big Ten championship teams, either in 1930 or in the season just ended, permitted the Bruins to race to a 11 to 0 lead. Then a spirited rally by Wooden, Stretch Murphy and the supporting cast of Herman Boots, Dick Porter and Glenn Harmeson sent the Purdue All-Stars into the lead by a point, which they lost in the last minute.

Ask Return Game.

Immediately after the game Stretch Murphy challenged the Bruins to a return game next Sunday, believing that his quintet would have no difficulty winning if they start from scratch with the knowledge of professional style of game they learned last night.

The teams played under a combination of professional and amateur rules. Only a player having possession of the ball when fouled was permitted penalty throws. The ball went out of bounds to the opponents on other fouls.

The rules apparently did not handicap the Purdue players. Rather, in that disastrous first ten minutes, Wooden, who missed three consecutive free throws, and the others who could not find the hoop on their shots, and, more important, they did not guard the pros closely enough. Four of the Bruins' field goals were made under the backboard.

Bruins Lead at Half.

Purdue trailed, 15 to 13, at the half. Both teams started cautiously in the second half. More than eight minutes passed before Mike Wickhorst, who was in the Chicago lineup for the first time this season, dropped in a free throw. Harmeson scored from far out and then Red Barak duplicated the field goal for Chicago. Boots' free throw cut the margin to two points, but Ralph Miller's long shot gave the Bruins a 20 to 16 advantage. Porter's free throw and Harmeson's long shot brought Purdue within a point of a tie. Charley [Feed] Murphy scored for the Bruins, only to have his namesake, Charley [Stretch] Murphy, pop an overhand corner shot for a 22 to 21 score. Then Johnny Wooden dribbled down the side of the court to score and the All-Stars were in the lead for the first time.

Win on 2 Free Throws.

With a minute to play Chicago forced the ball into offensive territory. Harmeson fouled Feed Murphy, who scored the tying point. Seconds later Miller dashed in and was fouled by Harmeson. His free throw put Chicago in front and the Bruins stalled until the final gun.

In the preliminary game the Wishbone Athletic club, a quintet of deaf mute boys, defeated the Taylor Trunks, national championship girls' team, 14 to 10.

STUHLEY, BAIMA CLASH TONIGHT AT WHITE CITY

Young Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., will box Johnny Baima of Lawndale in a ten round bout at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, tonight. The weight has been set for 156 pounds, which will give Baima an advantage of several pounds.

Stuhley is a natural welterweight and is seeking a match was Jackie Fields, welterweight champion. He has not been defeated in eight bouts in Chicago. Among others, he has whipped Jackie Horner of St. Louis. In his most recent start, Stuhley whipped Kid Leonard of Moline, Ill.

Baima has been working at the Arcade gymnasium for the last two weeks. Bud Saltis, who meets Gorilla Jones, middleweight champion, at Green Bay, Wis., Thursday, boxed with Johnny almost every day last week. Baima has fought at 156 pounds since he turned professional after winning the Golden Gloves championship in 1930. He said he will not be weakened by making the weight and came in at 154 pounds after his last workout yesterday.

Stuhley is the favorite, but Baima always wins when he is picked to lose. Karl Ogren was picked to knock him out, but Johnny won. Other times he has been picked to lose, Baima held Ray Tramblie to an eight round draw, defeated Chuck Heffner decisively, and whipped Sid Novak.

Danny McLean, Milwaukee junior lightweight, will meet Henry Lenard of South Chicago in the eight round semi-final match. The bout will be McLean's first in Chicago. He has been fighting in California. Lenard will be making his second start of a comeback campaign. He knocked out Joey Freeman recently.

U. S. WARNS FIRM HERE TO CEASE UNFAIR TACTICS

Railway Supply Company Under Fire.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—The federal trade commission announced today that it has ordered the Mechanical Manufacturing company of Chicago to cease unfair methods of competition in the sale of railway equipment.

Members of the Swift family, who are officers and directors of Swift & Co., and three employés of the latter are the directors of the Mechanical Manufacturing company, which is owned, the commission said, by the Swift family and Swift estate.

Text of Warning.

"R. O'Hara, manager, and W. A. Mayfield, assistant manager of the transportation department of Swift & Co., Chicago, both of whom are in direct charge of traffic negotiations with railroad companies and control the routing of freight cars carrying Swift products, are ordered to cease coöperating with and assisting the Mechanical Manufacturing company in selling railway equipment, including draft gears, bumping posts or centering devices, to railway companies," said the announcement.

"They are to stop carrying on these practices through use of their official positions in Swift & Co. to induce and compel officials of railway companies to give undue preference to railway equipment manufactured and sold by Mechanical Manufacturing company or affiliated corporations selling railway equipment by means of promises of freight traffic from Swift & Co. or subsidiary corporations, and threats of withdrawal of such traffic if such railway companies fail to buy Mechanical Manufacturing or subsidiary companies' equipment.

Signed Names as Swift Officials.

"O'Hara and Mayfield interviewed railway officials and wrote them letters on Swift & Co. stationery, signing their names as Swift transportation officials. They represented that the Swift 'family' or 'interests' owned the Mechanical company and would be favorably disposed to railroads using 'Durable' draft gears or bumping posts; that the Swift interests 'expected their railroad friends' or 'carriers that they patronize liberally' to buy these products on a 'reciprocity' basis or to 'reciprocate' by buying a portion of their requirements of draft gears or bumping posts, sometimes to the extent of 25 to 33 1-3 per cent of such requirements. They said that Swift & Co. were disappointed or dissatisfied with traffic officials who failed to get their railroads to order bumping posts or draft gears in substantial numbers.

"Last Oct. 12 the commission made public its order against Waugh Equipment company, one time competitor of Mechanical Manufacturing and traffic officials of Armour & Co., packers, regarding sales of equipment to railways much in the manner of the present case against Mechanical and the Swift traffic officers. But the Swift interests as well as Armour now own stock in Waugh Equipment company.

"Because of this relation the commission's present order is also expected to prevent O'Hara and Mayfield, representing the Swift interests, from promoting business for Waugh Equipment company as well as for Mechanical Manufacturing company."

AN OLD CASE.

Henry Veeder, counsel for Swift & Co., said the federal trade commission's order against Swift & Co. officials was an old case that apparently was not made public until the respondents had an opportunity to appeal. No appeal will be taken, he said, for the Mechanical Manufacturing company is in a process of liquidation and the order will have no effect.

"The practice of the Mechanical Manufacturing company in obtaining business was a general one," he said. "The railroads were asked to purchase their equipment because it was of the same value and price as other products. Some of the company's salesmen may have been overly enthusiastic, but it was not a policy of Swift & Co. to force railroads to buy equipment from the Mechanical Manufacturing company through threats of withholding shipping business."

Bright Spots in the Day's News

Approximately 6,000 shop workers of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad have been placed back on a five day week basis, an increase of one day a week in the working schedule which has been in effect on the road for five months. The four day week was put into effect as a retrenchment move to cut operating expenses of the road, and the shops were for a time manned by skeleton crews only, just enough to maintain service on the system's rolling stock.

Carnegie Steel company and the Bethlehem Steel corporation have divided an order for 10,000 tons of steel rails placed by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

BUSINESS PERSONALS

Herbert J. Lorber, who has long been identified with the insurance business in Chicago, has been appointed state manager of Illinois by Investors Syndicate of Minneapolis, with headquarters here. Allan B. Planer, who has been in charge of the office here since last September, is returning to Philadelphia to assume charge of the company's office there.

Charles A. Stone and Bayard F. Pope have been elected chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc.

WEATHER NOW HOLDS FATE OF WHEAT PRICES

May Use Up Farm Board Surplus.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Weather conditions are to be a most important factor in all sections of North America, Europe, and Russia for the next few months.

Unless there is good growing weather in all sections a shorter harvest in wheat and possibly all grains is likely.

Moisture is needed over the entire winter wheat belt. Rain is necessary to give the northwest, which raises spring wheat, a chance to retrieve its losses from the short crop of 1931.

Southwest Needs Rain.

The picture in winter wheat is set in the southwest. There 7,500,000 acres of wheat must have rain in the near future to make a good crop. It would be no surprise to the traders to see a sufficient shortage in production of the wheat crop to be harvested inside of the next 60 days to offset the effects of the big surplus that has accumulated in the last few years.

With this surplus out of the way, and with a good advance in prices, it is believed the commodity markets will bring a decidedly better feeling in general trade conditions, helping toward a return to prosperity.

One big handicap at present is the uncertainty as to what congress will do. It proposes to increase the tax on grain trade for future delivery from 1c to 5c per $100.

With wild speculative conditions such as prevailed in the latter part of 1924 and the first part of 1925 when wheat crossed the $2.00 line, it is said traders might be able to stand such a tax, but otherwise they would likely go broke or reduce their operations to a minimum.

Winter Wheat Estimates.

A winter wheat crop of 500,000,000 bu is suggested by the average of the private statisticians who sent in their first report on winter wheat Friday. It compares with 787,000,000 bu harvested last year. A short crop is due on the law of averages and it would be no surprise to see another short yield of spring wheat in the northwest. With favorable weather, however, and plenty of moisture in all sections, a crop of around 700,000,000 to 750,000,000 bu of winter and spring wheat might be raised, although many in the trade are not inclined to accept such an estimate. The 1931 crop aggregated 892,000,000 bu.

A material advance in wheat prices might result from a crop shortage which, it is believed, would bring about prosperity within a short time, and in case of European crops falling short, and Russia failing to make good on its program, higher prices might easily result.

Conditions abroad have improved considerably with regard to supplies and demand, and firmer markets featured most of the week.

Wheat Higher in Chicago.

Wheat prices at Chicago were advanced 4½@5c from the low point of the week and closed at practically the top with net gains of 3¾@4c over the previous week. May wheat was especially active and strong on Saturday and led the advance, closing at 56⅜@56½c. July finished at 58⅞@58⅝c for old style, September, 60¾@60⅝c. Prices for the week follow:

Corn at New Low Levels.

Liquidation by holders of corn futures around midweek depressed corn prices to the lowest of the season, with May down to 34½c and July 38c. With the sharp advances in wheat, corn prices recovered part of their loss and were only off ⅝@¾c net from the previous week's finish.

May corn closed Saturday at 36@36¼c, July 39⅛@39½c, and September 41⅜c. Supplies are large, both at terminal markets and in the interior. Prices follow:

Oats Make Small Gains.

Oats were advanced on buying of futures late in the week, the orders apparently coming from the outside. Cash interests were on both sides of the market, holding the price movement within narrow limits. Oats are being seeded over a considerable area in the southwest, and are moving to market in moderate volume. Choice heavy oats are scarce and command good premiums. Closing sales were at net gains of ⅜@⅞c for the week, May being 24c, July 24½c, and September 25c. Prices follow:

Export Buying of Rye.

Germany was credited with being a large buyer of rye and purchases aggregated around 1,000,000 bu. Speculatively these reports stimulated the buying of futures in Chicago, and rye at times was relatively the strongest of the grains, with the close 2⅝@5¼c higher than the previous week. Somehow the outside public does not enthuse over the rye situation to any extent.

Bimetallism Campaign Is On in France

PARIS, April 3.—(AP)—French bimetallists are in favor of an international silver conference at the earliest date.

A campaign for bimetallism has been in progress here for some time and the initiative of the American congressional committee on silver looking toward such a reunion was well received here.

Senator Joseph Caillaux, well known financier and former minister of finance, and Raymond Patenotre, American born member of the chamber of deputies, are two of France's most passionate believers in the power of silver to rejuvenate business conditions.

Patenotre has been writing and speaking on the subject for six months. He believes the two-standard monetary system would give Asia, Mexico, Germany, and England a buying power which would start an entir series of economic factors to work for a return to prosperity.

Patenotre recalls Bryan's famous 16 to 1 presidential campaign and explains that bimetallism in one country is not workable, but that universally used it is salubrious. He would place the ratio between gold and silver at somewhere near 50 to 1, rather than choose Bryan's historic 16 to 1. He believes the ratio will remain steady inasmuch as 70 per cent of silver is mined as a by-product.

The small ratio will not make it profitable, he says, for silver to be mined for its own value. Hence, he argues, the supply of the metal will not increase abruptly.

Adoption of silver as a standard along with gold would give the western part of the United States, Central America, South America, and Asia, where large silver stocks are now valueless, a sudden purchasing power and it would enable countries like England to stabilize their money by buying silver. Patenotre believes it would also be used by Germany and other countries poor in gold.

PET MILK HEAD IS NEW PRESIDENT OF MO. STATE LIFE

St. Louis, Mo., April 3. — William T. Nardin, vice president and general manager of the Pet Milk company, St. Louis, was elected president of the Missouri State Life Insurance company by the board of directors. Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson of Louisville, Ky., elected last December, declined the post and will retain his judgeship.

The company, the largest life insurance firm west of the Mississippi river, had been without an active president since December, when Judge Dawson was elected. Upon petition of a stockholder the firm was thrown into temporary receivership this week, but the proceedings were stopped by the Missouri Supreme court, which will hear the case May 14.

TENNESSEE TAX UPON MOTORISTS WILL BUILD ROADS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 3.—The state of Tennessee has provided a gasoline tax and motor vehicle tax to care for the highway debt which are estimated to yield a substantial surplus. A New York banking group's agent will lay before the state funding board definite plans for staggering the debt and providing adequate sinking funds so payments to be made in any one year will not be unduly burdensome.

It is estimated that the 7 cent gasoline tax will yield $14,700,000 annually and the motor vehicle tax approximately $4,500,000.

Chrysler Increases Its Export Percentage Rate

The Chrysler Export corporation's report of operations for 1931, just compiled, shows that the company shipped last year a larger percentage of the automobile industry's total exports than it did in 1930. Last year the corporation exported 16.82 per cent of all automobiles shipped abroad from the United States, as against 14.28 exported in 1930.

New Ford Big Factor in Outlook for Trade

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 3.—The two most significant factors in the industrial and financial worlds last week were the working out of means to meet the budget deficit in Washington and the stimulus given the automobile business by the appearance of the new Ford and resultant competitive reductions in price by other manufacturers.

CRISIS REVIVES FRENCH MOVE TO ELECTRIFY RAILS

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 3.—An indirect effect of the economic crisis here has been to give a new impetus to the movement for the electrification of railways, a movement which had made little progress since 1920.

Not only are the French railroads obliged, because of their heavy deficits, to seek more economical forms of operating, but, in addition, a great effort is being made to cut down the country's total consumption of coal to reduce the unfavorable trade balance.

1,000 Miles Electrified.

A third reason is that hitherto untouched sources of water power for generating electricity are being tapped as part of the program for electrification of the countryside, and this naturally offers the railroads an opportunity to obtain current at low costs.

At present there are approximately 1,000 miles of electrified railroad lines in operation in France. The Midi railroad in the south and the state railroads in the Paris region are the most intensively electrified. Nearly one-fourth of the Midi system has been electrified, while the total of electric lines in operation throughout the country is only 4 per cent of the total mileage.

For the last few years little progress has been made in electrification owing to high costs of material and labor, but the railroad interests have finally decided the saving through electrical operation will more than repay them for the costs of making over their lines.

Plan 5,000 Mileage.

Consequently it is planned to bring the total mileage of electrified lines up to 5,000 as soon as possible. To make the saving even greater many of the lines plan to establish their own electric generating plants along their rights of way and sell the surplus current to municipalities and farm districts in the areas they serve.

Negotiations are under way to obtain government aid to carry out this project as part of the French plan of "national equipment" worked out by Premier Andre Tardieu.

WORLD WATCHES U. S. WITH HOPE, BRITON ASSERTS

New York, April 3.—(AP)—The world hopes that economic recovery should come first in America, Sir James Arthur Salter said in a broadcast from London today, and then spread elsewhere. Sir James, director of the economics and finance division of the league of nations for nearly 10 years, said America's great internal resources made her the logical leader in world recovery.

"We are all of us in other countries watching, not with jealousy, but with sympathy and hope," he said, "the efforts that America is now making."

He said the first necessity is successful consummation of the measures recently taken to balance the budget, liquidating bank assets, eliminate any danger of a drain of gold to France, restore confidence, and reduce hoarding, and to enable the banking system to make money more accessible.

Ask Waldorf Lien Holders to Accept Income Bonds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 3.—As part of a plan by which rentals would be postponed for two years, holders of the $11,000,000 of 7 per cent bonds of the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria corporation have been asked to accept income bonds in lieu of their present holdings. The New York Central Railroad company, which is the lessor of the mortgaged leasehold, has agreed to the rentals provided for under its contract with the hotel corporation and to "accept an amount based upon actual profits from operation of the hotel." The holders of the hotel bonds are asked, in effect, to assent to a similar arrangement. This action is being taken "because of the current period of depression," the corporation announced.

BRITAIN WILL REPAY LAST $20,000,000 ON $200,000,000 LOAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 3.—The final $20,000,000 remaining unpaid of the $200,000,000 British treasury credit obtained here last Aug. 28 from a syndicate of 110 banks headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. will mature next Tuesday. It is expected to be paid. The payment will complete in this market the extinction of the entire $325,000,000 of indebtedness incurred by the British authorities last August in their attempt to prevent the fall of the pound sterling from the gold standard.

The Federal Reserve's $125,000,000 share of the $250,000,000 credit to the Bank of England, opened on Aug. 1, was repaid on Feb. 1, having been reduced by 40 per cent on Nov. 1 last. Of the private banking credit $150,000,000 was paid off and canceled on March 4, and an additional $30,000,000 was repaid last Tuesday.

In the case of last Tuesday's repayment and that to be made next Tuesday the line of credit is being kept open, giving the British treasury the right, up to Aug. 27 next, to borrow as much as $55,000,000 on its bills. Of the $200,000,000 credit advanced by the Paris market concurrently with the opening of the private banking credit here, one-half, which was in the form of an overdraft on French commercial banks, has been paid off and the other half, representing a public subscription to one year British treasury notes, has been reduced by open market purchases.

TRADE FAILURES DECREASE, SAYS BRADSTREET'S

There were 574 business failures reported to Bradstreet's Magazine for the week ending March 24, a decrease of 1.4 per cent from the previous week, as against a normal expected gain of 3.8 per cent. This brings Bradstreet's adjusted index of weekly failures to 142.6, as compared with 149.3 in the preceding week, 140.7 two weeks ago, and 139.6 for the same week of 1931. Last week's total of failures compares with 562 defaults recorded for the corresponding week a year ago.

The retail group, Bradstreet's finds, was the only one to show a decrease in number from the previous week, declining sharply from 415 to 375. Liabilities involved in this group, however, rose markedly, due to the failure of a chain of New York stores. Liabilities as a whole decreased 34.3 per cent from the preceding week, the wholesale and manufacturing groups accounting for most of this decrease.

The New England, central, and northwestern groups reported less failures. Three geographical groups showed smaller liabilities, with the middle Atlantic group showing the greatest drop.

Businesses with a capital of $5,000 or less made up 75.3 per cent of the total failures during the week. This compares with 78.4 per cent in the preceding week and 72.2 per cent during the same week of 1931. Those with a capital of $5,000 to $20,000 accounted for 15.2 per cent, as against 12.7 per cent the week before and 17.9 per cent in the like week a year ago.

His Lines' Earnings Fall 49 Millions.

New York, April 3.—(AP)—An opportunity to "participate more equitably in the country's prosperity," is asked for the railroads by Brig. Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad corporation, in its annual report issued today.

The report shows the Pennsylvania, one of the world's largest railroad systems having assets of $2,170,000,000, had its worst year in 1931 since its emergence from federal operation after the war.

The road earned $19,545,000, a decrease of $49,625,000 compared with 1930, equivalent to $1.49 a share on the common stock of $50 par value against $5.28 a share the year before.

Face Sea of Troubles.

"The unsatisfactory conditions in the railroad industry, while accentuated by the present depression, are due to the fact that during periods of expansion, the railroads have not been permitted, because of in a dequate rates, restrictive legislation and subsidized competition, to participate adequately, as do all other industries, in the country's prosperity, all of which emphasizes the unsoundness of existing methods of governmental regulation," says Gen. Atterbury.

"Intelligent consideration of the railroad situation should result in such legislative and regulatory relief as will insure to the railroads economic equality of opportunity to engage profitably in any kind of transportation service that will meet the demands of the public.

"A fundamental need in the transportation industry is for coördination of existing necessary transportation agencies. The manifestly unfair situation in which the railroads find themselves regulated to the smallest detail of their business, while other forms of transportation, competing with them, are practically unregulated, should be corrected. The railroads are the fundamental and basic transportation agencies of the country, and all other forms of transportation should be coördinated with them to provide the maximum of service."

Encouraged by Wage Cut.

Gen. Atterbury finds some cheering signs, among them the voluntary wage cut by railroad labor, the formation of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and "another encouraging sign is the helpful attitude indicated by the interstate commerce commission in its recent annual report, wherein it recommended the coördination of rail and highway transport. It also recommended that congress place interstate bus transportation under its jurisdiction and has announced that later it will formulate recommendations with respect to motor truck traffic."

A bright spot also stands out in the review of the year's activities. "The demand for bus service continues to increase, the report sets forth, "and, as announced in previous years, such service has been substituted to a considerable extent for unprofitable passenger train service. The company owns, through one of its subsidiaries, a substantial interest in the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc., which company had a profitable year."

Army of Stockholders.

The company reports 245,509 stockholders as of Dec. 31, 1931, an increase in the year of 13,095. The company also reports that it cut its operating expenses nearly $75,000,000 in 1931, but gross revenues fell off $122,000,000, a decrease of 21.5 per cent. Dividends for the year amounted to $42,674,000. Profit and loss account on Dec. 31 stood at $202,870,000. Current assets totaled $100,650,000 of which $38,311,000 was cash, or about double current liabilities of $55,246,000.

U.S. Government Issues Again Feature of Bond Market

New York, April 3.—(AP)—United States government issues again were the feature of the bond market during the past week, most of them recording higher prices daily, while corporate mortgages displayed an unmistakable declining trend.

Although firmness was maintained by all of the federals, the Liberty 3½s, wholly tax exempt, were the leading performers. These bonds reached a new high for the year under heavy accumulation. The general popularity of the Liberties and Treasuries was attributed to the fact that, while it was conceded the national budget would be balanced, unusually high taxes were a certainty.

Hit by Tax Prospects.

At the same time the tax situation in congress, with growing confusion as to just what would bear the brunt of the new burdens, had an unsettling effect on various domestic loan categories. The result was that the rails, utilities, and industrials started to tumble on Monday and were unable to rally to any appreciable extent during the remainder of the week. Averages for 20 principal rails and 20 utilities recorded new lows for the year.

The low priced rails especially were subjected to pressure and a number of these liens sank discouragingly. This, despite assurances that April maturities would be met and that returns from several of the carriers showed mildly improved revenues for February over the same month in 1931. Missouri Pacific bonds displayed the greatest weakness, and liens of Baltimore & Ohio, Nickel Plate, Frisco, Erie, Chesapeake corporation, Chicago and Northwestern and others were not far behind.

New Lows Are Recorded.

The utilities and industrials also reflected dissatisfaction with the slump in stock prices and general conditions. Several of these registered new depth figures for 1932. Some of the specialties rallied sharply near the end of the week, however, although they didn't help the sinking averages materially.

The foreign list was fairly firm. The Argentines led the recoveries in this section when it became known that the South American government had arranged to meet its April maturities here and was preparing to float a new internal loan as the basis of its revised budgetary plan. German bonds were in demand after earlier weakness. British, Canadian, French, Italian, and Japanese loans were comparatively steady.

RAILROAD CREDIT LOANS FOR MONTH TOTAL $2,363,120

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(AP)—The Railroad Credit corporation loaned $2,363,120 to railroads during the first month of actual operation and has approved a total of $14,438,452. This organiation, formed by the carriers to gather and distribute money realized from subcharges on frieght bills which became effective Jan. 4, today made public its first monthly report to the interstate commerce commission, for march.

Under the authorization of the commission made last December, the corporation makes two-year loans to carriers with which to pay interest on their indebtedness and to meet other fixed charges.

Collections from the various roads are made approximately 30 days after the end of the month. Consequently the money turned into the corporation during March was collected by the carriers during January. This totaled $4,068,773 and, should this average continue for the year, the total would be far under the total of $130,000,000 the commission estimated would accrue from the increases.

The statement shows among its assets $1,268,214 cash on hand; $406,865 reserved for taxes; $114 still due from carriers; $952 interest receivable; deferred assets $14,538,452 and administrative expenses from Dec. 14, 1931, through March 31, $31,658.

The liabilities are listed as follows: Money collected and owed to contributing railroads, $4,068,773; deferred liabilities, $14,538,452; income from funded securities, $952 and capital stock $1,200.

PARAMOUNT-PUBLIX 1931 EARNING ALMOST ⅔ LOWER THAN 1930

New York, April 3.—(AP)—Combined net profits of $6,345,488 for the year ended Dec. 26, 1931, were reported today by Paramount-Publix corporation. The earnings of the consolidated report include those of the corporation's subsidiaries.

The net profit for 1931, the report said, equals $2.02 per share, compared with $6.15 a share for the fiscal year ended Dec. 27, 1930, when the corporation reported consolidated net income of $18,381,178.

For the three months ended Dec. 26, 1931, the corporation showed a loss of $664,796, equal to 20 cents a share on the average number outstanding for the period.

The corporation listed assets and liabilities of domestic and foreign companies separately. It reported assets of foreign companies, as of Dec. 26, 1931, at $53,564,044, as compared with aggregate assets of the corporation of $298,304,108.

Consolidated current assets on Dec. 26, 1931, totaled $37,732,545, including cash of $4,949,283 and accounts receivable of $5,404,732. Current liabilities were $23,681,680. Net working capital was $14,050,861 and the ratio of current assets to current liabilities stood at 1.59 to 1.

Foreign companies held cash of $1,755,490, written down to the existing rate of exchange in terms of dollars. The report said the cash of foreign companies had increased materially since Dec. 26, due to the appreciation in exchange.

U. S. TAX FIGHT IS REFLECTED IN EUROPE'S MARTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 3.—The mutiny of the house majority over budget balancing ended happily, but not until the incident had given a spell of uneasiness over the week-end. Both Wall street and Washington suffered a momentary fit of disturbance from Monday's movement of foreign exchange against New York.

Washington probably was more frightened than Wall street was, but that was doubtless for the best. It could not be proved that the day's rise in exchange, even outside of the rates on London and the Scandinavian markets, was not an expression of European distrust at the attitude of congress, nor could it be positively known that the market's action would not become more unpleasant still, if the house persisted in refusing to impose the necessary taxes. Inasmuch as the mutineers gave way, this will have to remain a matter of conjecture.

Decreases Europe's Distrust.

The incident had its useful side. It elicited from Europe's financial markets the opinion that there was no cause for worry over the American gold and currency situation. This indicated noteworthy change from the European attitude of six months ago, when Europe's own panicky rush to build up its own gold reserves through recourse to America was described, with a somewhat inverted view of the circumstances, as a "flight from the dollar."

It proves that the foreign markets were impressed as they should have been by the equanimity with which our federal reserve met all such requisitions. Probably it proves also that the addition of $60,000,000 to $200,000,000 actual gold since last September to the reserves of the Dutch and Swiss and Belgian central banks [largely as a result of the American gold exports] has removed uneasiness on their own account.

May Recall Previous Exports.

Possibly it also means that Europe has recalled the story of 1927 and 1928, and now understands what was meant by that period's export of $500,000,000 gold. That those shipments were conducted with approval and assistance from the federal reserve, and that the federal reserve was making "redistribution" of superfluous gold its own objective, threw some light on the present situation.

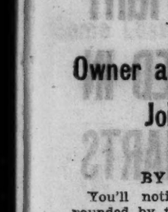
BY AL CHASE.

You'll notice the gentleman surrounded by this type is smiling and apparently at peace with the world. And in these gloomy days of worry and woe for both equity owners and bondholders of apartment buildings, when we tell you that C. A. Laystrom, the cheerful individual in question, is the owner of a flat building which at one time apparently couldn't be refinanced, we believe you'll say this is an unusual situation. Doubly so when we add that the owners of bonds on Mr. Laystrom's property, who at one time faced loss of both interest and principal, are an equally contented group.



C. A. LAYSTROM. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

This is a mortgage bond story that's a pleasure to write. It's a case of where cooperation of owner, bondholders and protective committee, coupled with honest and efficient handling of an unpleasant situation, has avoided the heavy and often unnecessary expense of foreclosure, receivership, attorneys' fees and battles with sharpshooting lawyers and crooks in general.

Mr. Laystrom, who is auditor of the Florsheim Shoe company, is the owner of the Fountain View apartments, a building containing forty-two suites, at 7732 North Ashland avenue. It had been financed with a $160,000 H. O. Stone & Co. 7% bond issue, paid down to $125,000, which was due on Aug. 20, 1931. Default occurred on that date.

Couldn't Refinance.

Mr. Laystrom then found he could not refinance, due to prevailing conditions. He agreed, however, that if the bondholders would extend the bonds for bonds for five years he'd continue paying the same interest rate and would reduce the bonds to $80,500. The bondholders' protective committee made a careful investigation of the property and reported that it found the building "to be in good condition both inside and out. It is well rented and apparently very well managed. Taxes and insurance have been paid." So it recommended the acceptance of Mr. Laystrom's offer, which the bondholders agreed to, 100 per cent.

Every bond was deposited with the Heitman Trust company and new bonds were issued to the bondholders. The first payment under the new plan was made by Mr. Laystrom on Feb. 20, 1932, amounting to $1,500. He states he'll pay $2,000 on August 20 and continue annual prepayments until the principal is reduced to $80,000.

Committee Praises Owner.

He adds that he expects before the new final maturity date of Aug. 20, 1936, is reached, to be able to make a loan and pay off the remaining bondholders.

Mr. Laystrom says all but four of the forty-two apartments are rented. The rentals this year will total about $28,000. Operating expenses, including interest payments, will amount to $21,000, leaving $7,000 annually for prepayments, etc.

"There should be no loss of either principal or interest or any expense to the bondholders due to the fair and reasonable attitude of the owner. C. A. Laystrom," reads a report on the project by the bondholders' protective committee of which William M. Richards is assistant secretary.

Court Forbids Building of Pipe Line Now in Use

Omaha, Neb., April 3.—A default decree handed down in District court here has paradoxically enjoined construction of a natural gas pipe line which has been completed and placed in operation.

Issued by District Judge Frank Dineen on application of James Chizek, chief inspector in the city public works office, the injunction, if it stands, will prevent the future use of the line, which supplies Omaha's packing houses with fuel. The injunction applied to the city, the packing houses, and the Northern Gas and Pipe Line company.

Attorneys for the Dold Packing company today filed a motion to set aside the decree, asserting the company had not been given proper notice of the application. The application was filed originally in January, sent to federal court on request of the pipe line company, and remanded to District court by Federal Judge Charles Dewey of Des Moines.

A depletion of stocks of local wholesalers and retailers, resulting from the large volume of sales during Easter week which left practically no unsold goods in certain lines, particularly in women's apparel, characterized the last week in Chicago department stores, according to the trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Accordingly, attention was centered on the new market for late spring and summer lines.

Building permits for the last week continued low. Chicago building figures for the past month of March dipped considerably below the preceding month of February in total cost, but showed a minute increase in the number of permits issued.

Orders for steel rails and cars are still few and far between, although track accessories are being bought in a fairly liberal way. Interest in steel plates showed little animation. The same condition prevailed in pig iron, with production and prices unchanged. Automobile manufacturers were reported releasing more specifications. This consumption of sheets by auto makers as well as by manufacturers of refrigerators has become an optimistic factor.

UTILITY SHARES LEAD NEW YORK CURB'S TRADING

Some Losses Exceed 12 Points for Week.

New York, April 3.—(AP)—The curb market is struggling through a period of discouragement intensified by a bearish speculative attitude toward the utilities, its most active group of stocks.

Liquidation of long holdings, necessitous selling and the unfavorable character of business news, as well as uncertainties over national taxation, provided sufficient pressure to push quotations into lower ground. With production of electricity reported as more than 10 per cent below last year, the question of power company earnings, which stood up well in 1931, received consideration and doubtless figured in the selling.

There were large offerings of Electric Bond and Share issues, but there were sharp declines elsewhere in the utility division, especially among preferred stocks, some of which lost more than a dozen points.

There were wide downward movements in a number of miscellaneous issues. Consolidated Mining and Smelting, for example, reacted about 17 points. Aluminum of America broke several points, influenced in part by the severe competition which new metal is currently receiving from scrap. Ford issues were heavy, especially Ford of Canada A, which reacted under 10. Ford, Ltd., appeared to have discounted the dividend omission when that news finally came out, for the shares had been declining some time.

A rise in Gulf featured the oils, which on the whole were helped by continued firmness in crude, of which it is a large producer. Some doubt had been expressed as to the durability of this stronger price structure, but the market appeared to believe that the new schedule had at least a fair chance of success.

$2.93 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signatures of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

NO FEES. You get full amount of the loan and up to 25 months to repay. Interest at the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.
